ST. PAUL, THURSDAY, MAY 8.

☞ SEE FOURTH PAGE.

Our dispatches are somewhat limited this morning, owing to a break in the telegraph lines—said to be caused by the sweeping away of the mast sustaining the wire across the river at Winona—which threatened at one time to prevent the reception of anything.

The news from the Peninsula is what we might expect. McClellan, after smoking the rebels out, is smiting them "hip and thigh."

The anxiety to hear from the victorious conquerers of New Orleans is gratified. Portions of the dispatch from them causes a thrill similar to what we have felt in reading the exploits of Paul Jones. But the Hollins ram Manassas—alas for the newspapers!—is no more.

HO FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA.

A party of ten intelligent and enterprising young men from Toronto, who have been stopping in the city for some days, start to-morrow morning to prospect for gold in the British possessions in the northwest. They have a fine outfit and expect to be prepared for any emergency likely to arise.

Their names are John A. Mara, James McKenzie, James Carroll, Eustace Pattison, R. S. Cormack, P. McIntyre, John Watson, Hugh Watson, James McIntosh, and W. B. Schuyler.

The party go by Burbank's stages to Georgetown, from thence to Fort Garry by Red river steamer, and will then go across the country by ox or mule train. Their original destination is the Saskatchewan valley, which they expect to thoroughly prospect for the shining dust; but if their search is unsatisfactory there they will push on into British Columbia on the other side of the Rocky Mountains.

The tide of emigration and adventure in that direction really has but just been set in motion. A London company of heavy capital is expected to arrive in this city in the course of a couple of weeks, which comes on for the purpose of establishing a complete and perfectly appointed transit line from some point in this State to the mining regions of British Columbia. The company has the ulterior object of developing the gold regions in that quarter and will probably make a large profit in the transportation of passengers and freight to that country. The principal part of the emigration thence is now by way of Panama, frequently loading down the steamers to suffocation. This emigration will be turned largely in this direction when the line is established. The Canadians predicate a "big thing" of this company's arrangements, one feature of which is an armed escort to accompany each passenger train.

The matter is of no little interest to our State, and especially so to St. Paul, the natural place for the outfit of these enterprises.

THOSE ESCAPED FORT DONELSON OFFICERS.

An article appeared in the papers, a few days ago, from the Toronto Leader, a secession organ in Canada, announcing the safe arrival at Toronto of two rebel officers who, with other Fort Donelson prisoners, were being conveyed to Camp Chase, Ohio, and who, being aided by some secession sympathizers on the Columbus railroad, made their escape at one of its stations and arrived safely in Canada. We have just had the pleasure of meeting a gentleman who lately saw and conversed with them at Toronto, in the vicinity of which they now are. The rebels alluded to are two not very remarkable young men. Lieutenants in a Mississippi regiment. They seem quite enthusiastic in the rebel cause and anxious to get back and try the thing over again. The usual means of communication between the rebels in Canada and Secessia is by way of Havana, which route they will probably try if they shall deem it safe, under present circumstances, to do so. The young hopefuls were looking for money from friends in the North to assist them back to Dixie. They at one time had quite a strong idea of going by way of St. Paul to Fort Garry, California and Texas and had they not been troubled with that inconvenient disease, the "shorts," our city might have been, ere this time, unconsciously graced with their presence. Rebels as well as angels, as we have most bitterly learned, are sometimes entertained unawares.

SONG FOR THE NEW ORLEANS REBELS.—"Picayune Butler's coming to town."

—A call for a Convention of the Union men of all parties in Indiana, to meet in Indianapolis on the 18th of June next, is published.

THE rebel Gen. Johnston's baggage was captured on the 4th, near Williamsburg, by our pursuing forces from Yorktown.

THE Rev. Nathan Bangs, D. D., one of the fathers of American Methodism, died at his residence at New York City on the 1st, inst.

—Prof. Geo. W. Eastman, principal of the Commercial College, known by his name, died Sunday at Rochester, after a brief illness.

A MUTATION IN COMMERCE.

A material change in the trade of Lake Superior has been developed within the last two seasons. The copper mines, when first wrought, produced a small tonnage, and the importation of supplies, exceeding the copper exports, caused a heavy tariff on up freights—thus in 1855 the Lake importations were 6,436 tons and the exports (of copper, 3,196; iron, 1,447) 4,643 tons. In 1856-7 and 8 a similar predominance of up freights prevailed, and the mining interest, though vigorous, suffered severely under the tariff. From 1854 and during these years, much was done and written to urge the opening of a railway from the Lake to the Mississippi valley. Active responses were made in both Wisconsin and Minnesota. But the upper valleys of the St. Croix and Mississippi, having little or no surplus, no necessity on the part of the farmers was felt, and the railroad projects died out under the financial disease of 1857. And the miners had to force their supplies from Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland, under a freight of a dollar a barrel bulk, or at best from $5 to $10 per ton. Added to this disadvantage was the want of coal to reduce the unwieldy masses for convenient shipping. In 1855, 1,400 tons of coal were brought up from Cleveland: in 1856, 4,000: 1857, 5,000, and 1858, 8,000 tons. The copper mining thus suffered severely.

The iron, however, came in as a relief. Strange as it may appear, it compensates what had been replied at as a defect of nature, in not depositing coal with the other rich mineral lodes of Lake Superior.

By the British Iron Masters reports of 1855, it was seen that it took 20,146,000 tons of coals to reduce 12,946,000 tons of ore to 3,585,906 tons of marketable iron. About this time "Harvey's patent furnace for making wrought iron direct from ore" received the commendation of New York Iron Masters. This combined furnace forge produces one ton of wrought iron, or bar iron, thus:

Coal for engine..... 1,680 lbs
Ore, New York..... 4,459 "
Making bar iron.....2,000.

The Lake Superior crude iron (we may not call it ore) yields from 85 to 90 per cent. Hence twenty tons of coals reduce British ores (twelve tons) to three and a half tons of iron. Two and two thirds tons of coal by the Harvey furnace reduce two and a quarter tons of New York ore to one ton of bar iron.

Applied to Lake Superior iron, the results would be twenty tons of coal to twelve tons ore product, nine and one half tons of iron, or with the Harvey furnace,

Coal..... 5,260 lbs
Ore, Lake Superior..... 4,459 "
Product..... 2,561 lbs bar iron.

Thus one ton of English iron requires five and two-thirds tons of coals, or one ton of Harvey furnace iron requires two and two-thirds tons of coal, and Lake Superior iron requires one and one-half tons of coal.

Here is the basis of the mutation of Lake Superior commerce. The New York, Pennsylvania and other iron masters, to raise their iron to the standard of good bar and nail rods, and even good castings for machinery, must have this Superior ore. In 1858 they obtained 30,000 tons; 1859 65,000: 1860 250,000, and works have been and are being erected at Buffalo and Chicago requiring four or five hundred thousand tons. Now the down movement is imperative, to the amount of 500,000 tons, against 25,000 tons of supplies, leaving a demand on the bar of the vessels for ballast in their up trips—a price coal importation of 475,000 tons, and reducing the other freights to a nominal sum; thus rendering Lake Superior not only a mining, but an iron-making district. Nature's deficit of coal compensated the work has commenced and bar, rolled, rail, and Munton irons of the best quality will be here produced in successful competition with any other iron district.

This is the Nation's district: it demands the fostering care of Government, sure protection against belligerent aggressions. It is a part of Minnesota, and should supply her water-falls with copper and iron to manufacture, for a surrounding population of a half million to-day, and five millions in a decade. It is a source from which to iron the Pacific railroad, which can be done for ten dollars per ton less, over no arm from the Lakes, than from any seaboard south of it. Chicago, alive to the importance if this trade, is active. The Chicago and Northwestern Railroad Company, have secured their land grants, and a committee of Congress recommends a road as a military arm, from Bay de Noc, Lake Manigan, to Lake Superior.

SUPERIOR, May 1, 1862.

—Gen. Mitchell, at the conclusion of a sermon preached to the Ninth Ohio Brigade, near Shellyville, Tenn., took a huge rock pulpit and occupied half an hour in delivering one of the finest religious discourses ever heard. He commenced by saying "that he did not come there as the General commanding, but as man to man and aiming for the same state of eternal happiness." He insisted that the highest duty of a soldier was to be a Christian; religion heightened every enjoyment, and better prepared him to discharge his duty. A chaplain who was present says: "It was a sublime scene: he left an impression on the minds of his auditors never to be forgotten." The effect of the sermon was added to by the fact that the services were held on the mountain top, amid the rugged grandeur of East Tennessee.

When the General made his swift advance in the night towards Huntsville, the cavalry scouts away in the advance ran down, seized, and sent back every person who was astir. The entire division passed through a small village seven miles from Huntsville, without disturbing the slumbers of a single inhabitant.

A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, writing from the scene of the bloody battle at Shiloh, says of the rebel fighting on that occasion: "The rebels fought with a bravery and desperation worthy of a better cause. Several of our officers, Colonel Stuart among others, tell me that the columns came on two battallions (half a regiment) deep. The bearers, heads erect, carried the colors some two or three rods ahead, and in many cases would plant them in the ground in that position when a halt was called, and again march forward with a slow and measured step when the word was given. It was a magnificent sight, and so they pressed on to within thirty or forty yards, and in some instances almost to within pistol shot, of our men. It is said that Beauregard ordered flags planted in the rear as each regiment took up its position, and any man falling behind these flags was ordered shot. In fact the bayonets of the reserves and the dragoon sabres were ready to immolate all fugitives."

A letter from an Ohio Colonel, a "strict Constructionist" Democrat, speaking of the appearance of the field after the battle says: "I saw it in all its horrors. But one thing gave me satisfaction. The Confederates were nearly all of the class that sought this war—well-made men with small feet and hands, the Southern "bloods" in short. About ten thousand of this class found their "rights" here."

THE Petersburg, Va., Express, of the 10th ult., said:

"Another requisition we understand has been made upon the slaveholders of Prince George and Surrey counties, for one half of the negroes between the ages of sixteen and sixty years, to go to Williamsburg to work on the fortifications in that vicinity."

Subsequent reports say that twenty thousand negroes were engaged on the fortifications. Yet while our brave sons and brothers are to pour out their blood in front of these death-dealing fortifications which black men have built under rebel compulsion, there are men in our own midst so blinded by the spell in which slavery has so long held them, that they shrink with horror from the idea of accepting the voluntary service of loyal blacks in overcoming the barriers which slavery has compelled its victims to set up, and thus save the lives of our own brave soldiers. It is well known that the rebels are using the blacks both for fortifying and for fighting. Are the lives of the loyal blacks so precious that we must not put up negro to fight negro if it becomes necessary? Are not the "negro haters," in effect, showing—what they charge upon their opponents—more respect for a negro than a white man?

—The Secretary of War has reconstructed the Department of Kansas, separating it from General Halleck's Division. Sturgis has been ordered to Washington to give an account of his doings, and Denver has been sent to New Mexico. The General to command the Department has not yet been selected. Kansas is proving the grave of Generals, as it did in former times of Governors.

FROM GENERAL HALLECK'S DIVISION.

CAIRO, May 4.—Intelligence from the army before Corinth has been received up to six o'clock last night. General Halleck has moved his headquarters twelve miles toward the front; our advance was within two miles of the enemy's outer works. The entire column is still pressing forward. Skirmishes between our advance and the rebels are of daily occurrence, the latter making but slight show of resistence and then falling back.

On Thursday, four hundred Germans from a Louisiana regiment, who had been sent out from the rebel camp on outpost duty, came into our lines in a body, with white flags on their guns, and gave themselves up as deserters.

Deserters say that General Lovell's advance was at Grenada, Mississippi, fortifying the place, which is naturally a strong position, and also confirming the report of Beauregard being reinforced from all parts of the Gulf States, merchants and business men having closed their stores and flocked to his standard.

ARRESTS IN ST. LOUIS—PLUNDER FROM BATTLE FIELDS.

ST. LOUIS, May 2.—The Provost Marshal continues to arrest citizens for disloyal conduct. To-day a lady was placed in the Myrtle street prison for waving her handkerchief at rebel prisoners. Mr. James McCamant, an old citizen, was also arrested for uttering treasonable language on the street.

A surprisingly large quantity of property, consisting of muskets, sabres, rifles, etc., has been gathered by civilians from the battle fields on the Mississippi. The articles belonged to the rebels who were captured, killed or driven away by our troops. Each steamer brings more or less of these goods, concealed as well as practicable by those who have appropriated them. The United States police institute a search for such property on each boat that arrives. Thus far they have turned over to the Government 469 muskets, 50 shots guns, 129 sabres, 18 Enfield rifles, 24 common rifles, about one hundred bayonets, some two dray loads of cartridge boxes, and a large quantity of Commissary stores, such as blankets, caps, pants, shirts, shoes, haversacks, bed sacks, canteens, etc.

ANOTHER BATTLE IN NEW MEXICO.

KANSAS CITY, May 3.—The Santa Fe mail has arrived. Another battle has taken place between Gen. Canby and the Texans at Ponollo, on the Rio Grande, where the Texans had fortified themselves. The enemy were defeated. The enemy's loss has not been ascertained. Gen. Canby, with a portion of his command, had made a detour and got below the enemy, while Major Paul was in their rear. The whole of the enemy's command will probably be taken, as their only alternative is to surrender or flee to the mountains, where the Indians await them.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

FORT SNELLING FERRY.—The ferry at Fort Snelling is now running.

THE SWORD and scabbard which were presented to Gen. Dana by the officers of the Minnesota First, are now on exhibition in the window of D. C. Greenleaf's jewelry store on Third street.

ARCHITECTURE.—Those who design building will undoubtedly save money by consulting A. F. Knight, Architect, as to plans and specifications. He has very materially reduced his charges. See advertisement.

ACCIDENT ON THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.—The first accident on this road occurred yesterday afternoon. In backing the construction train down the grade at the Rice switch, with the intention of switching off, two cars loaded heavily with iron broke loose and continued on down the grade, to the flat, near the river, where, coming in contact with a pile of iron they were thrown from the track, causing some damage. Nobody hurt.

I. O. G. T.—The Grand Lodge of Minnesota, Good Templars, held its annual session in this city on Tuesday last. The meeting was well attended, and the proceedings, we learn from members present, were quite interesting.

The reports of the retiring board of officers show that no "backward movement" has been made by the advocates of Total Abstinence during the past year, but that the Order has maintained its ground, notwithstanding that at least 100 of its best members are in our four regiments, absent from the State.

The next session will be held at Shakopee, on the third Tuesday of May, 1863, the constitution being for good reasons amended so as to bring the meeting two weeks later than hitherto.

The following are the Grand Officers for the ensuing year:

G. W. C. T.—George H. Spencer, Shakopee.
G. W. V. T.—Martha E. Tyler, Lakeland.
G. W. Counselor—Moses Perin, Lakeland.
G. W. Sec.—Wm. Paist, St. Paul.
G. W. Treas.—T. J. King, St. Paul
G. W. Marshal—T. S. Perry, St. Peter.
G. W. Dep. Marshall—Laura Saulsbury, Lakeland.
G. W. Chaplain—Rev. M. Heath, Belle Plaine
G. W. Guardian—Mrs. Wm. Paist, St. Paul.

VICTOR HUGO'S LES MISERABLES.—A curious interest attaches to this remarkable French Novel, which Mr. Carleton of New York has in press from advance foreign sheets. The author's only other novel, "Notre Dame de Paris," was accepted by its publisher on condition that he should bring out every succeeding work by that author. "Notre Dame" proved a brilliant success, and made the fortune of—the publisher. Victor Hugo then wrote "Les Miserables," determining to respect the condition, but to make his own terms with the unscrupulous brain trafficker. These terms were at once rejected, and the author, unreleased from old obligations, was obliged to put by his manuscript for a favorable season. Year after year he renewed proposals, increasing each year his demand, until at last the publisher died, and, after waiting nearly a quarter of a century, the well-seasoned, if not seasonable, Les Miserables is in press.

CONDITION OF MINNESOTA VOLUNTEERS—REPORT OF JUDGE C. RAMSEY.—The following interesting particulars we find in Mr. J. C. Ramsey's report of his visit to the Hospitals at St. Louis:

Col Kenton, the Adjutant Commanding in the absence of Gen. Halleck, give him every facility for passing through the several Hospitals in the city occupied by soldiers. In the Fourth street Hospital he found Sergeant Jesse Connor, from Winona, of the 1st Minnesota (Capt. Munch) Battery who was wounded in the side at the battle of Pittsburg Landing. The wound was a bad one, but the patient was in good spirits, and desirous of getting well, so he could have another brush at the enemy.

Corporal C. S. Davis, from St. Anthony, also of the 1st Battery was in the same hospital, but only survived until the next day after Mr. Ramsey's visit.

The burials of those who die in the hospitals, are all made by one undertaker, who has each grave marked by a tablet on which is recorded the name, Regiment, Company, &c., of each interment, in case there should be a disposition on the part of friends to have the body removed.

Private J. Johnson, from Olmsted county, of the First Battery, was in the Seventh Street Hospital. He received a gun shot wound near the top of the arm, from which he was recovering so fast that he was able to come up the river with Mr. Ramsey as far as Winona, where he left for his home.

J. Shipton, fifer of the Second Regiment, from Fillmore county, was in the same Hospital, sick of a fever, and when first seen was quite delirious, but by the next Tuesday he was so well that he would have returned home with Mr. Ramsey, only he desired to wait for four months' pay due him. Mr. N. Pease, a private in the Second Regiment, from St. Paul, was in the same hospital, and had so far recovered from a fever that he was about getting a furlough to come home. John W. Friend, from Martin county, and Peter Alison, from Jackson county, both of Captain West's cavalry company, were in the House of Refuge Hospital. The former had been sick, but had quite recovered, and was acting as a nurse. The latter had been sick of small pox, but had recovered so as to be around with the convalescent patients.

There were not any Minnesotians found in the House of the Good Samaritan, the Sisters' Hospital, the City Hospital, the Fifth Street Hospital, or the Port Hospital, at Benton Barracks, or the other Hospitals visited by Mr. Ramsey.

In the Convalescent Hospital he found quite a number of the members of the 4th Regiment and the 2d Battery who were not very well on landing in St. Louis, where they had gone to recuperate.

The ladies of St. Louis have established a Soldiers' Home, where board, lodging, &c. are provided for soldiers on their way home or on furlough, during their tarry in that city. The ladies are very kind, also, to the sick in all the hospitals, making them daily visits and ministering unto them all their little delicacies, attention and care that only the gentle hand of women can bestow.

Mr Ramsey states the Hospitals are all in excellent order, clean and well cared for. There is a good corps of nurses in all, and able physicians and surgeons in attendance, on the sick.

In conclusion he says, in his judgment the arrangement which has been made by the State Government with the Northern Line of Packets for the transportation of such soldiers as are unable to pay their own fare on their return home is all that is at present required.

RIVER ITEMS.—The river has fallen four inches the past twenty-four hours, and is still gradually falling.

The Northerner, Capt. Alford, of the Northern Line, arrived last evening about nine o'clock, bringing about 100 tons of freight for this city.

The Ewing is expected to arrive this afternoon.

The Itasca, Captain Hurd, is the Prairie du Chien and Dunleith packet down this morning at eight o'clock.

The Moses McClellan, Captain Martin, Clerk John Corcoran, of the La Crosse line, is expected to arrive in season to leave at eight o'clock A. M., for La Crosse.

The Clara Hine, Ariel and Antelope were in, and went out "on time."

McCLELLAN AFTER THE REBELS.

A Brilliant Engagement with the Enemy.

MORE PRISONERS TAKEN.

MORE GUNS CAPTURED.

SINKING SAILORS AT NEW ORLEANS FIGHT AS THEY GO UNDER.

WASHINGTON, May 7.

The following dispatches from General McClellan were received at the War Department to-day:

WILLIAMSBURG, May 6.

I have the pleasure to announce the occupation of this place as the result of a hard fought action yesterday.

Hancock's brigade engagement had the effect to turn the left of the enemy's line of works. The enemy abandoned their entire line during the night, leaving all his sick and wounded in our hands.

His loss yesterday was very severe.

We have some 300 men wounded, and more than 1,000 wounded and prisoners. Our victory is complete.

I have sent cavalry in pursuit.

The conduct of our men was excellent, with scarcely an exception.

The enemy's works were extensive and exceedingly strong.

Our loss in Hooker's division is heavy, but very little in other parts of the field.

Hancock's success is gained with a loss of not over twenty five killed and wounded.

We have other battles to fight before reaching Richmond.

The rebels are flying from Williamsburg towards Richmond.

McClellan telegraphs from Johnston's headquarters as follows:

"The weather is good to-day, but there is great difficulty in getting up food on account of the roads.

Very few wagons have yet come up.

Am I authorized to follow the examples of other Generals, and direct the names of Battles to be placed on the colors of regiments?

(Signed) G. B. McCLELLAN,
Major General."

WILLIAMSBURG, May 6.

The enemy evacuated this place and their works in front last night.

Their rear guard passing through about six o'clock, and at nine o'clock General McClellan and escort entered the town and took possession.

About one hundred and fifty of the enemy's wounded were left on the field, without any rations, medicines or surgeons. They also left a number of their dead unburied.

All our wounded in the engagement yesterday who fell into their hands were left behind.

Colonel Dwight, of the Excelsior Brigade, who was severely wounded and taken prisoner, was also left.

In the engagement yesterday the enemy suffered terribly.

General Ricketts was killed.

The enemy had a force here yesterday of 50,000 men, and only decided to evacuate after the brilliant bayonet charge of Gen. Hancock.

A majority of the white inhabitants remain.

The number of the enemy now in our hands will reach about 1,000, including the wounded.

WASHINGTON, May 7.

The Fort Monroe boat, which left at 8 o'clock this morning, has arrived at Cherry Stone, bringing the following:

WILLIAMSBURG, May 6th.

Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

Every hour proves our victory more complete.

Enemy's loss is great and principally in officers.

I have just heard of 5 more of their guns being captured.

Major General.

The Engagement at New Orleans

INTERESTING PARTICULARS.

NEW YORK, May 7.

The steamer Columbia has arrived, from Havan on the 3d. The gunboat Smith had arrived at Havana on the 30th, from Fort Jackson on the 26th.

The attack on the rebel boats near New Orleans commenced on the 23d.

Commodore Farragut in the Hartford and thirteen steamers passed the forts and General Butler landed 4,000 men above.

The rebels lost eleven gunboats, including the Hollins Tuft, Manassas.

Our forces took 400 prisoners. We lost about fifty men.

Our gunboat Verona was sunk.

On the 29th a flag of truce was sent to Com. Porter, asking conditions for a surrender. To which Porter replied: "No conditions." Our flag now waves over the Custom House.

The American war steamer reports captured three rebel steamers and has sent them to Key West, and chased another into Bahia Honda.

Twenty mortar and three gunboats were engaged against the forts, silencing them after six days incessant firing.

Chains across the river were removed by our gunboats.

The rebels sent fire rafts down the river, but they did little damage. One set fire to the Hartford, but she was soon extinguished.

The Verona and a rebel steamer, ironclad, Webster, had a splendid engagement, the Webster running into the Verona and sinking her, but before going under, the Verona's crew poured in a volley of eight guns so destructive that both the Webster and Verona went down together.

Arrangements for the surrender were to be made on the 27th.

The day after the dispatch left, the ram Manassas was sunk by the steam ship Mississippi.

Our forces sent a small boat to the fire rafts and towed them out of the way before they could do any harm.

Rebel loss unknown.

From Fortress Monroe.

FORT MONROE, May 6.

The flag of truce which was sent up James river yesterday morning to receive released prisoners returned to day, not having accomplished their object. This is the third time Gen. Wool has been deceived about the release of these prisoners.

The Jamestown and Yorktown passed down the river by the flag of truce at half past one this morning, bound to Norfolk.

The gunboat Teazer came along side her yesterday afternoon to ascertain the object of the flag of truce.

The Teazer is armed with one hundred pounder Parrott guns. All the officers of the Teazer, with one exception, were drunk.

A dispatch was received here this morning from Newport News that the Merrimac was in sight. The Monitor got ready, but the Merrimac has not been here yet.

BALTIMORE, May 7.

The regular news letter from Old Point is received. The mail boat Nellie Baker arrived just before the Old Point boat left, and reported that Gen. McClellan was in Williamsburg, having driven the enemy from his position there. A few captured cannon have been recaptured, and a whole division had been thrown in the rear at Williamsburg.

FROM COMMODORE FOOTE'S FLOTILLA.

CAIRO, May 5.—No movement has taken place at Fort Pillow since the last advices. Deserters say that Hollins had reinforced the rebel fleet with seven gunboats, and that on Sunday night an attack was to have been made, but for some reason the rebels failed to connect. Commodore Foote was fully prepared to give them a flattering reception.

Memphis papers of April 28th confirm the news of the capture of New Orleans, but give no particulars. In view of the supposed approach of the Federal fleet from below, a meeting had been held, at which it had been decided to lay the city in ashes before it should give shelter to a damned Yankee.

The arrival of a large number of steamers from below is referred to, and intimations made that they have gone to Fort Pillow.

It is generally believed here that the Mississippi will be open within a week.

Judge Sharpless, formerly connected with the steamer Admiral, captured at Island No. 10, and since in the employ of the Federal Government as clerk on a steamboat, was arrested to day by order of Brigadier General Strong, and placed in a cell in the military prison for expressing disloyal sentiments.

The steamer Emma, from the flotilla, arrived last night. On Tuesday night Commodore Foote received information which led him to anticipate an attack from the rebel gunboats which were below Memphis, and said to have come up to Fort Pillow. Commodore Foote has commenced the bombardment, the mortars firing at intervals of ten minutes, and the rebels replying with several long range guns, rendering it necessary for our gunboats continually to change their positions. A general attack on the fort and rebel fleet was momentarily expected when the Emma left.

MORE REBEL PRIZES BROUGHT IN.

NEW YORK, May 4.—The gunboat Santiago De Cuba, from Port Royal, April 30th, has arrived, bringing the prize rebel steamer Isabel, formerly Ella Morley, captured on her voyage from Nassau to Charleston with arms, ammunition, wines, cigars and medicines. The Santiago chased the Nashville, but the latter was too swift. The Santiago also captured a schooner from Charleston with cotton; also two other schooners with cargoes from Southern ports. Nothing new at Port Royal.

The steamer Empire City, from Port Royal, has arrived with the prize steamer Nostro Signora. The captain and crews of the prizes Dixie, Wave and Bella are prisoners aboard the Empire City.

PHILADELPHIA, May 3.—The steamer Florida, captured at St. Andrews Bay, Florida, has arrived here in charge of a prize crew. She has 200 bales of cotton on board.

FROM GENERAL POPE'S COLUMN—A FEDERAL SUCCESS—HIS OFFICIAL DISPATCH.

LOUISVILLE, May 3.—The following dispatch dated near Farmington, has been received at Headquarters:

A reconnoissance sent towards Farmington, found the enemy 4,500 strong, with four pieces of artillery and some cavalry occupying a strong position near the town. Our forces advanced at once to the assault and after a sharp skirmish, carried the position in a handsome style. The enemy left, thirty dead on the field, also tents and baggage. Our cavalry are pursuing.

The whole affair was very handsome, our regiments charging boldly on their line of infantry at double quick. The enemy fled in wild confusion. Regiments of cavalry sent through to Booneville took possession of the town, tore up the railroad track, and destroyed two bridges. We have a good many prisoners, but cannot tell how many yet. Our loss was two killed and twelve wounded. (Signed) JOHN POPE,
Major General.

"THE GOOD OLD DEMOCRATIC PARTY."

We find the following scathing reply to regrets expressed by Northern allies of Southern traitors for the return of "the good old Democratic party," in the Cincinnati Commercial. The Commercial is an independent and conservative journal, so that prejudice of party can be plead in mitigation of the severity of its strictness. We commend the article to those gentlemen of the Democratic profession hereaway, who long for the restoration of "the good old days of the Democratic party:"

"In our humble opinion, judging the future from the past, there is now no political organization in existence capable of overcoming the wicked rebellion South—crushing out fanaticism North—restoring the Union to what it was, and bringing peace and confidence among the people, except the well tried good old Democratic party."

The Wayne County Democrat, from which we clip the above, must have the only original and genuine faith that removes mountains.

"Judging the future by the past," we can see the restoration of "the good old Democratic party,"—an eulogistic phrase which we remember to have heard once on taking office—only the restoration to political influence and office of the Buchanans, the Breckinridges, the Brights, the Bigelows, the Cobbs, the Jeff Davises, the Floyds, the Wises and Wigfalls, who were bright and shining lights in "the good old Democratic party" in the days when its effulgence radiated from the White House and illuminated the Departments and Legislative Halls of the Capitol.

"Judging the future by the past," who can see high for the return of the old regime?—an imbecile Administration, a treasonable Cabinet, and a sound, conservative Democratic element in the Senate to retard the progress of legislation and hold loyal and states to their allegiance; such loyal Democratic Senators as Benjamin, Hemphill, Iverson, Johnson, of Arkansas, Clay and Wigfall to prepare dispatches in their respective States that "all is lost," and thus precipitate their secession, while they refuse to vote for the only compromise which they claim would have prevented secession, and that, as Gov. Andrew Johnson states "destroy the only compromise upon which we'll be revolution."

What delightful reminiscences throng the memory as one tries to judge the future by the past! Then slave pens alternated with palace building along the wide avenues, and the approaching choppers of the great leaders of the "good old Democratic party" was emphasized by the crack of the driver's whip, and the hammer of the auctioneer in its human shambles in the City of Washington. How refreshing it was to see the arguments of a Senator answered by a simon pure Democrat skulking up behind his seat and boring him over the head with a cane! The good old days when the bludgeon and the bowie knife were considered the only chivalrous and proper answers to reasoning, act and declaration, upon the floor of Congress!

It is for this ante quo b Hem, we suppose, that the editor of the Democrat travels in peril. He has a few industrious colaborateurs who are subsiding energetically for his resuscitement. There is the Dayton Empire, which urged "every Democrat in the Legislature to vote solidly against a dollar or man" to put down an unholy rebellion, and stigmatized a portion of the troops who responded to the first call of the President, and whose bones, whitening the plains of Manassas, or ornamenting the fingers and cockades of rebels, testify to their love of country, as "three-months' hirelings and Hessians." Nor has it a less earnest ally in the work of reinstating "the well tried, good old Democratic party," than the Chicago Times, which declared if troops were raised in the North to put down the rebellion in the South, "a fire in their rear will [would] be opened upon such troops, which will clog their march altogether or wonderfully accelerate it," and which openly asserted, and doubtless still believes, that "the people of the South are animated with the same spirit which fired the hearts of the patriots of the Revolution."

If we might consent to certain conditions, which, "judging the future by the past," the aforesaid "well-tried good old Democratic party" would subscribe to, we could no doubtedly have peace. Senator Starke, who is laboring with the Democrat to reinstate the "good old" &c., probably laid down the platform on which it is proposed to put an end to the rebellion, when he said that for the sake of peace he was willing to have the loyal absorbed into the Confederate States.

If we could indeed sue for peace upon such terms it would doubtless be granted. How grateful to the ears of these fellows who are working for peace and the reinstatement of the venerable party, which bred traitors and treason in the festering corruption of its dissolution, would be such taunts as the Nashville Patriot used only a year ago. "The Yankees," it said, "have been forced to 'eat dirt,' and bow again to the dominant Southern race. Through the press, from the workshops, from the starving masses, from the merchants ruined, from every trade and condition comes the cry, 'give up the fuss,' 'let us eat dirt,' 'let us again bow to the superior race South, let us live.' The poor politicians in the loyal States who spend their time in resurrecting the old Democratic party, and rejoice more over carrying a street corner election than a victory of the Federal arms, are as willing to eat dirt now as then; and 'judging the future by the past,' are shaping their political course so that they may be as cringing and menial in their attitude to the 'dominant Southern race,' as they were under the old regime. They have worn the collar of the political serf so long that they are uncomfortable without it.

"Judging the future by the past," the "good old Democratic party," which nursed such vipers as Jeff Davis, Howell Cobb, Floyd, Wigfall, and other representatives of a political oligarchy, is as much a thing of the past as the age that produced mastodons. Vallandigham is understood to have devised a plan, which will doubtless meet as cordial a reception as his speeches at Richmond whereby it is to be organized. The Cincinnati Enquirer, Chicago Times and New York News, which is to be revived by Ben Wood for the purpose, will undertake to make it acceptable to the people. Will they succeed? We shall have a Democratic party, but not the mean spirited instrument of Southern dictators. It will be the party of the people, and whether its name be Republican or Democrat, it will be loyal in its faith and practice.

It is not the particular organization which the Wayne County Democrat strives to re-establish. That nourished treason; the Democratic party of the future will annihilate it. It is not the party that Vallandigham is identified with; that pampered and honored traitors with office; the future Democratic party will hang them with short shriving. It is not the party which every cringing apologist of rebellion, and every sympathizer with the conspirators against the Government, in the North, longs to see reinstated in power; but it is the only party which can secure the respect, the confidence, and the co-operation of a loyal people. Our faith in the triumph of such a party is not wanting.

MCCLELLAN AND THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

The editor of the Cleveland Leader, writing on the 22d of April, from Fortress Monroe, says:

A few words as to the condition of the Army of the Potomac will not be without interest to you—and firstly, while the whole loyal country has been impatient at the long delay and inaction which has characterized the army, and while at Washington I found the whole population—speaking in general terms—expressing a want of confidence in Gen. McClellan, here there is the utmost confidence in and reliance on him as a soldier. I am glad to find this so, because if the army had not confidence in its General, we could expect nothing but defeat in the coming battle. With that confidence we shall gain the victory.

Every officer and soldier we have conversed with, pins his present faith to McClellan. Some of them—very many of them—have joined with you, and me, and nearly every other loyal civilian, in chafing at the "quiet on the Potomac" and the great Manassas humbug, but so far as the issue on the Peninsula is concerned, they believe Geo B. McClellan is just the man to lead them to victory. This is one great point which will tell for us when the time of assault comes.

Another is the determined air of business and work which pervades the entire army. We hear little or nothing of the "spoiling for a fight" which was boasted in the earlier months of the war, but there is a manifest determination which promises much more for us than such loud assertions of a valor which had not been tested. Then the troops did not know what war was, and their ideas of a battle were much like those with which they viewed a free fight in a country bar room. Now, they know that war is a serious, solemn business—a hard-learned trade which gives them steady work and not a mere dash of reckless bravery or rashness. And so what we now see in the face of the men who compose our army is not the flush of excitement, but the cool look of men who know that when they are told to advance, they will walk to the cannon's mouth with the same implicit obedience with which they would go to their daily mechanical toil at home. They are veterans, not recruits; and so, when the day of battle comes, and these veteran hosts leave these hillsides to march down yonder in what will be the valley of the shadow of death to thousands of them, there will be no Bull Run panic nor inglorious skulking. Never until I saw this army did I feel the confidence in it that I now do.

It is worth one's careful inspection to see the mode of life which these soldiers lead, and the adaptability to circumstances which distinguishes them. A regiment is halted upon a rising ground, a little out of the water, which floods half the country hereabouts. In an hour you see the ground covered with little black shelter tents, some with log sides to raise them higher than they would otherwise be, some with embankments around them to shed the rain and wind, and the rivulets which speedily follow the smallest shower, some with ante-rooms and bowers and evergreens, and in and about all these the sun-browned soldier is working, or cooking or sleeping as contendedly as if they were at their own homes. They are all cheerful and hopeful. I haven't heard a discontented growl since I've been here from the common soldier, except an occasional complaint of the long delay of the Paymaster in bringing the money that the volunteers family are anxiously looking for by every mail or express from the army. This cause of complaint will soon be removed, as a detachment of Paymasters will be here this week to pay off the whole Potomac army.

And so, from a general and bird's eye view of the situation here, we gather courage and confidence.

A PARDONED VOLUNTEER.—The case of private Scott, killed in the fight near Lee's Mills, on the 18th, near Yorktown, is thus narrated by the correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer:

Never until we stood by the grave of the Green Mountain boys did we realize how much stranger is truth than fiction. Your readers will all recollect that last summer, a private was court martialed for sleeping on his post, out near Chain Bridge, on the Upper Potomac. He was convicted; his sentence was death; the finding was approved by the General, and the day fixed for his execution. He was a youth of more than ordinary intelligence, he did not beg for pardon, but was willing to meet his fate. The time drew near; the stern necessity of war required that an example should be made of some one; his was an aggravated case. But the case reached the ears of the President; he resolved to save him; he signed a pardon and sent it out; the day came. "Suppose," thought the President, "my pardon has not reached him." The telegraph was called into requisition; an answer did not come promptly. "Bring up my carriage," he ordered. It came, and soon the important State papers were dropped, and, through the hot, broiling sun and dusty roads, he rode to the camp, about ten miles away, and saw that the soldier was saved! He has doubtless forgotten the incident, but the soldier did not. When the 3d Vermont charged upon the rifle pits, the enemy poured a volley upon them.

The first man who fell, with six bullets in his body, was William Scott of Company K. His comrades caught him up, and as his life-blood ebbed away, he raised to heaven, amid the din of war, the cries of the dying, and the shouts of the enemy, a prayer for the President, and as he died, he remarked to his comrade that he had shown he was no coward and not afraid to die.

He was interred in the presence of his regiment, in a little grove about two miles to the rear of the rebel fort, in the center of a group of holly and vines: a few cherry trees, in full bloom, are scattered around the edge. In digging his grave, a skull and bones were found, and metal buttons, showing that the identical spot had been used in the Revolutionary war for our fathers, who fell in the same cause. The Chaplain narrated the circumstances to the boys, who stood around with uncovered heads. He prayed for the President, and paid the most glowing tribute to his noble heart that we ever heard. The tears started in their eyes as the clods of earth were thrown upon him, in his narrow grave, where he lay shrouded in his coat and blanket.

The men separated; in a few minutes all were engaged in something around the camp, as though nothing unusual had happened; but the scene will live upon their memories while life lasts; the calm look of Scott's face, the seeming look of satisfaction he felt, still lingered; and could the President have seen him, he would have felt that his act of mercy had been wisely bestowed.

THE following eloquent and touching tribute to the memory of Miss Cutler, a volunteer army nurse, who died at Newbern, of disease contracted while in the performance of her duties, is from a private letter written by T. H Squires, Surgeon of the 89th New York volunteers:

"The daughter of Dr. Cutler, 21st Massachusetts, of whom I have spoken in a previous letter, died a few days ago at Newbern, of typhoid fever. Her remains were brought back to Roancke Island and buried to-day. Who shall write her epitaph in befitting verse? She was the friend of the sick and wounded soldiers; educated, accomplished, young, beautiful, affectionate, patriotic, pious, and self sacrificing. In her death in the van of the army, a woman pure and lovely has been laid as a victim upon the altar of Liberty. She died away from home; a father whom she loved stood by her, but his duties to the wounded prevented him from accompanying her remains to their temporary resting place on this beautiful Island. Sacred be the spot where her remains now lie! Ye winds that whisper in the pines, breathe her a requiem! Ye grapes and misletoe that climb upon the trees, and droop from overhanging boughs, bend down and kiss her lonely grave! Bay, myrtle, and magnolia, distil your fragrance around the tomb; in life her gentle virtues breathed a like perfume! Dear girl, I would that I had power to hand thy name down to all coming time!"

YANKEE EXPEDIENTS.

A newspaper correspondent connected with the expedition against New Orleans, gives an interesting sketch of the operations and freaks of the Yankee tars, who have since called in on their friends in that noted city, a portion of which we append:

"The neglect of the Government to provide iron-clad steamers to contend against the ram Manassas and similar gunboats which the rebels are reported to have on the river, has been partially supplied by the ingenuity and skill of the officer of the Richmond, with whom the plan to which I refer originated. In order to protect the boilers and machinery from the fire of the enemy, the sides of the ship have been covered with chain cables, hung perpendicularly, and securely bolted to the hull. An additional preventive to this mail being shot away consists of a shield of heavy hawse running fore and aft outside the chain, the whole forming an armor which, though not perhaps invulnerable, will at least break the force of shot and shell hurled against it. This excellent plan has been followed by the Hartford and Brooklyn, and I presume it will be adopted by the Pensacola and other ships. Captain Alden has hit upon a naval expedient for disguising the Richmond, or rather for rendering her a less prominent target for the rebels. By mixing oil with the gray alluvial deposit of the Mississippi a composition is produced with which the hull and smoke-stack of the Richmond have been painted. The color thus imparted to the ship renders it difficult to distinguish her from the water in the river when seen at the distance of rifle range. This disguise has been imitated by Lieutenant Commanding Guest, of the Owasco, which, being a much smaller vessel, will prove a very indifferent mark for the rebel artillerists. My artistic companion suggests that this experiment of producing phantom ships in our navy would be much more successful if they were painted an atmospheric color, and as an illustration on a small scale I might instance the smoke-stack of the Iroquois, which cannot be distinguished at a distance of a mile.

"I went on board the gunboat Owasco a few days since, and found her officers and men busily employed in protecting the boilers and engines from the shot and shell to which they will be exposed. A solid bulkhead of logs obtained at Pilot Town, has been built on each side of the machinery, through which it seems impossible for a shell to penetrate. Similar precautions are being taken by other ships in the fleet, and extra pains are being taken to protect the most vulnerable parts.

"I have been surprised to find with what pride the sailors regard the guns which they are soon to bring to bear upon the rebels. While every other part of the ship is plain and unvarnished, the greatest care is taken of the trenson crushers, which are kept scrupulously clean inside, and outwardly brilantly polished. The crew of the Owasco have christened their 11 inch pivot gun the Growler; their 20 pounder Parrott bears the appropriate name of Teazer, while the two brass howitzers are called respectively the Scorpion and Viper. The same peculiar affection, if I may so term the passion, exists among the 'bummers,' who have painted on the face of their gaping mortars such names as 'Pet,' 'Spitfire,' 'Uncle Abe's Physician,' and similar appellations."

COMPLIMENT TO THE FREE STATES.

Rev. R. J. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, in a letter to a lecture committee at Philadelphia, pays the following tribute to the "heroic loyalty" of the free North:

You, brethren, are accustomed to feel that the ardent and intrepid cooperation of loyal men in the slave States has been a mighty help to you in the work thus far accomplished; nor are you mistaken in this. But, on the other hand, you must never forget, for an instant, that it was the heroic loyalty of the free States that saved the nation. Kentucky would this day be a desolation, but for 100,000 Northern men who came to the aid of our 30,000 or 40,000 soldiers ready to perish before an overpowering host of traitors. The safety of the nation is weakened by every conception that there was any human power but the heroism of the North that could have averted the fate prepared for it by a revolt such as no nation ever before suppressed.

CASH CAPITAL.....$100,000
NETT SURPLUS..... 129,000

DIVIDENDS ON CAPITAL LIMITED BY ITS CHARTER TO 7 PER CENT PER CENT PER ANNUM —THE ENTIRE PROFITS GO TO THE POLICY HOLDERS.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the Insurance Department of the State of New York, in U. S. bonds, on which it allows but 7 per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The nett profits in two years amounts to $129,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of Life Insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the ablest business men of the country and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

The Old Established

CROCKERY HOUSE

OF

SENDS GREETING TO HIS CUSTOMERS IN MINNESOTA, IN DAKOTA TERRITORY, AND BEYOND THE BRITISH LINE.

That being one of the Oldest Business Houses in the State, (the present being the eleventh year of its existence,) R. MARVIN feels confident that he need not urge its claims on the public patronage. The extent of country over which its business has spread is the best proof that its claims are not unrecognized. The unwavering determination which he has felt since the crisis, and in the hardest times, to maintain his business and place it on a par with similar establishments in the largest cities of the West, have been so fully appreciated by the merchants of the State, that he feels bound to redouble his efforts, not only for the benefit of his business, but for the pride he feels in his adopted city.

Mr. R. would call on the citizens of St. Paul, and especially the old residents who remember "the day of small things," not to forget that he still has a

JAPANESE WHEAT.

A NEW KIND OF GRAIN KNOWN AS JAPANESE WHEAT is respectfully recommended to the PUBLIC AND FARMERS OF MINNESOTA.

By the subscribers, who have grown it on their place for two years. This remarkable Wheat is amazingly productive, yielding in some cases one hundred bushels to the acre. It matures in seventy days from the time it is sown, and weighs from sixty pounds to the bushel when dry. The heads are from seven to ten inches in length. It ripens while the leaves and stalk are green. The stalk is so strong that it never lodges during the most severe storms. It will bring hogs as well as corn, and at less than one half of the expense. It produces from three to six bushels to the acre fully equal to the best timothy or clover hay. Its nutritious qualities are such that all kinds of stock prefer it to any of the grasses used for fodder, after a very large proportion of the grain is threshed out. It will stand the most severe drought. It is excellent for feeding poultry. It yields thirty pounds of flour to the bushel.

Price—ONE DOLLAR per package, with full directions.

EF In package sown as directed, will produce enough seed to raise next year from 600 to 800 bushels of the Wheat.

Sold by the following Agents in St. Paul:

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good Flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.

THE IMPORTANCE OF OUR VICTORY AT NEW ORLEANS.

The following memoranda, from the pen of a gentleman who is familiar with New Orleans as it was in the middle of January last, has been handed to the New York Times for publication:

The glorious news of the capture of New Orleans first comes to us through rebel sources, and, of course, with all the characteristics of rebel conflagration and rebel general destruction. We learn that the city is possessed by the Union troops, but that the victory is made of less value because the rebels have destroyed the steamers, the cotton and sugar that have accumulated through the long embargo of her once magnificent commerce. We have reason to believe that these stories are the result of desires and wishes not to be gratified. We anticipate the finding, not only of loyal citizens in the Crescent City, but also are sanguine enough to expect hearty demonstrations of joy at the arrival of our forces, and the consequent appearance again of the "old flag." As to the burning of the fifteen thousand bales of cotton, which were in New Orleans on the 15th of January, it would be utterly impossible, without destroying at least one third of the entire city; for the cotton is stored in presses located in thickly settled neighborhoods scattered every where within the municipal borders.

To say that the citizens would permit this wanton destruction by Gen. Lovell, a native, we believe of Massachusetts, and once in our Street Commissioner's office, is perfect madness. Again the iron steamers are scattered more or less along the levee, from Carrollton down to the third municipality, and would, by their devouring flames, endanger the city, commanding a point of seven or eight miles of houses, the majority, from the very necessities of the climate, being of light and inflammable structure. If New Orleans was the most disloyal city in the Confederacy, the people could not, with safety to themselves, allow these reported fires to take place, and the military, if mad enough to attempt it, is not powerful enough to oppose the wishes of the resident population, as has been the case in other places in rebeldom where property has been destroyed, to keep it from falling into the hands of the National troops.

Presuming, therefore, that we are correct in these suppositions, we next naturally examine what else we have accomplished by this great victory. By it we have opened the great artery of our continent to the commerce of the outside world, and released a numerous and powerful fleet from the most difficult labor of a blockade, to transfer their services to Charleston harbor. In New Orleans, as an outlet, we find a vast sugar crop waiting for purchasers. The year 1861 produced 475,000 hogsheads and 1,200,000 barrels of molasses. Only one-third of this entire amount has been consumed in the Confederate States, and the remainder leaves over 300,000 hogsheads of sugar and 800,000 barrels of molasses, in storage in New Orleans or on the plantations, ready for shipment the moment it is safe to bring them to the city. There were, on the 15th of January last, thirty large ships in the harbor, half were stopped by the blockade, and the remainder were seized along the river below New Orleans by rebel privateers, many after they had permits to depart from the pretended rebel Government.

The specie in the Bank of New Orleans at one time was said to be $15,000 000. This money has possibly been conveyed away, though where seems rather difficult to imagine. The New Orleans banks, to some extent by coercion, but to some extent by sympathy, have been abettors of the rebellion. The mint is a very fine granite building in the lower part of the city, and was always, under the United States authorities, well managed—its machinery or coining having been very perfect. One of the first acts of the rebels was to rob the Mint of specie and bullion, amounting to $750,000, which was long ago expended. No coin has been struck under the rebel government, paper being under its benign sway, a legal tender. The Custom-house (unfinished), is one of the finest buildings of the kind in the world.

It has already been over fifteen years in construction, by which means the Southern Democrats, under Slidell and Benjamin, have had a large number of employees in their service paid from the national treasury. In this building are the offices of the United States District Attorney, the United States District Court and the Postoffice. The present collector of New Orleans, originally appointed by the influence of Slidell, is J. Hatch, a native of Saratoga county, New York, who signalized his advent into the Crescent City, by deliberately assassinating a man who was dressing his hair before a glass, preliminary to entering a ball, at which he and Hatch were guests, and at which they had some slight quarrel.

The new and splendid Marine Hospital is again ours. When the rebellion broke out it will be remembered that the authorities took possession of it, and turned the sick sailors, its inmates, into the streets. For this barbarity, Gen. Dix entered a severe protest against the rebels for not only robbing their country, but also the poor sailors whose hard earned funds had erected the building. Just below the city, four miles, is a roomy United States barracks, with officers buildings, convenient and pleasant for troops going to and from Texas.

Upon the arrival of the fleet in front of the city it is probable that all the steamers in port "fired up" and escaped up the river and most likely, pursued by Commodores Porter and Farragut at least as far as Baton Rouge, the Capital of the State, one hundred miles above the city. At Baton Rouge are situated a commodious barracks, and one of the best United States arsenals in the Southwest, famous not only for being well kept, but also for the pleasant character of the commander's residence. At the breaking out of the rebellion, this residence with the grounds and property adjoining, were taken possession of by Gen. Moore, of Louisiana who went through the form of giving Major Hawkins, the United States Commander, a receipt for the property that thus came in his possession. It is perhaps well, here to state, that between New Orleans and Memphis, there are no formidable intrenchments or batteries. The lower portion of the river was made dependent upon the works at New Madrid, and in and about Memphis. When these latter fall, the river is again open to the commerce of the great West for three thousand miles.

Merrimac Fruit Farm.
TRIOMPHE DE GAND.
We unhesitatingly place this variety at the very head of the list of strawberries. Another year's fruit has only confirmed our opinion of its superior worth. Were we confined to one variety, it should be the Triomphe de Gand. No other kind, of which we have any knowledge, possess so many excellences. Indeed, with us, it approaches so nearly perfection as to leave but little more to be desired.
The plants are thrifty, hardy and vigorous grower, bearing their fruit well up, which renders it easily to be kept clean. They are also wonderfully productive with us, and the fruit is not only nearly of large size but UNIFORMLY so, and throughout the season, which is longer with it than with most other varieties. The flavor is everything that could be desired. It is of a very beautiful crimson color, glossy and very attractive. It keeps well after being picked, retaining its beautiful color and firmness, and carries better than any other variety.

We claim that all articles sent out from our establishment are what they profess to be—true to name—and of good quality. Our prices, we think are reasonable—not "below" nor "at cost" of produce but such as to afford a fair profit, to which, we think, we are justly entitled. We are not ambitious to give to our establishme nt the reputation of a low priced nursery, but one where a genuine article of the best quality can be had, and that will give satisfaction to the purchaser.

Persons unacquainted with the Melodeon and its history, will bear in mind that we are the pioneers and leading manufacturers, not only in the United States, but in the world. We commenced the manufacture of Melodeons in the fall of the year 1847, and since that time have finished and sold TWENTY-SEVEN THOUSAND. These instruments are now in use mostly in the United States and Canada, but also in Europe, Asia, Africa, South America and the West Indies, and from all these quarters we have the most flattering testimonials of the high estimation in which they are held.
At all Industrial Exhibitions they have invariably been awarded the Highest Premium whenever Exhibited in Competition with Others.
We shall take pleasure in forwarding by mail (at our own expense) our Illustrated Catalogue, in which every instrument we manufacture is fully described, and illustrated by elegant engravings.
All Melodeons 4 four manufacture, either sold by us or dealers in any part of the United States or Canada, are warranted to be perfect in every respect, and should any repairs be necessary before the expiration of five years from date of sale, we hold ourselves ready and willing to make the same free of charge, provided the injury is not caused by accident or design.
Agents for the sale of our Melodeons may be found in all the principal towns of the United States and Canada.

ST. PAUL, FRIDAY, MAY 9.

We hear but little as yet from Commodore Foote's operations before Fort Pillow or Wright. It is supposed that he is waiting for certain movements by Gen. Halleck, with whom it is understood there is a mutual understanding regarding his present operations. We can rest assured that he knows what he is about, and will not "fail to connect" in time.

Contrabands in the Navy. — Mr. Welles, the Secretary of the Navy, has issued a very sensible order in relation to contrabands. They are to be shipped aboard our vessels to perform such duties of common sailors as would endanger the lives of white sailors in the summer months. They are to be hired and paid by the government, and thus treated as free, responsible human beings who have a large stake in the country and in the war. Sensible at last.

Gov. Letcher, of Virginia, is out in another proclamation, calling for more troops, in the course of which he uses this language:

The loyal citizens of the west and northwest counties are earnestly invoked to form guerilla companies, and strike, when least expected, once more for the State that gave them birth. With stern resolve and manly courage uphold the flag and the untarnished fame of the Old Dominion.

Mr. Joseph Brown, of St. Louis, has concluded a contrat of $400,000 with the United States Government, to build three iron clad gunboats for our Western rivers; one to draw but thirty four inches, to be built at Paducah, for the Tennessee river, and to be finished in ninety days, at a heavy forfeit for each day's delay of delivery in order after that time.

—The Richmond Examiner of the 22d ult., said: "The destiny of the Confederacy is trembling on the result of Yorktown. If successful it will give us six months for carrying out the conscription act, arming and equipping a large army, and launching a fleet of Merrimacs; but if unsuccessful, Virginia is lost." The panic at Richmond caused by the result at Yorktown, is evidence that the rebels regard the loss of that stronghold as equivalent to the loss of the State.

—Governor Yates has paid an unusual compliment to Mrs. Reynolds, wife of Lieut. Reynolds, of the 17th Illinois, and a resident of Peoria. Mrs. Reynolds has accompanied her husband through the greater part of the Campaign, sharing with him the dangers and privations of a soldier's life. She was at the battle of Pittsburg Landing, and attended to the wants of as many of the wounded and dying soldiers as she could.

Gov. Yates, hearing of her conduct, presented her with a commission as Major in the army.

Two letters written by Henry Clay, in 1851, in favor of recognizing Liberia, have lately been published in the Philadelphia Press, by Benjamin Coates, to whom they were addressed. In one of them Mr. Clay uses the following words:

I have thought for years that the independence of Liberia ought to be recognized by our Government, and I have frequently urged it upon persons connected with the Administration, and I shall continue to do so if I have suitable opportunities. The best form of accomplishing the object would be by the conclusion of a treaty of commerce with the Republic.

Vallandigham, of Ohio, honored Senator Wade, of that State, by calling him "a liar, a scoundrel and a coward," in the course of a speech in Congress the other day.

This Vallandigham has all along exhibited his sympathy for the cause of the rebels, and is no more fit to occupy a seat in Congress than Jeff. Davis himself. One of his speeches made a little over a year ago, against coercion, was printed throughout the South to aid and encourage the rebe cause. We saw it in secession papers from Kentucky and Tennessee about a year ago, accompanied by hearty editorial endorsements. It was Vallandigham who called the recent caucus to reorganize the Democratic party.—Wisconsin State Journal.

The body of Governor Harvey, of Wisconsin, reached Cairo on the 4th inst. It was found forty miles below Savannah by an old negro and some children, who had taken it ashore, and rifled the pockets of their contents, which were subsequently recovered. The body has been interred, and is much decomposed.

—A call for a People's State Convention, to be held at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, on the 17th of June, has been issued. All the supporters of the National Administration and of a vigorous war policy are invited to send representatives.

—The Dunkard Quakers, lately taken to Richmond and mulct in $22,500 hard money, were an inoffensive settlement in Rockingham county, Virginia, but they had the silver hoarded up and the rebel leaders wanted it; and that was why it happened.

Mr. Schnabel, the somewhat notorious Pennsylvania politician and lecturer at Connecticut peace meetings, has turned up, since his liberation from Fort Lafayette, at Yellsville, Arkansas, as a Colonel, at the head of 1,900 men.

Army Correspondence.

FROM THE MINNESOTA SECOND.

Messrs. Follett and Kenick, Bankers, Hastings, Minnesota:

Pittsburg Landing, Tenn, April 28, 1862.

The receipt of yours of the 11th inst., containing fifty five dollars from the citizens of Hastings, for the benefit of the Hospital Fund of the Second Regiment Minnesota Volunteers, is, in behalf of my fellow soldiers, hereby gratefully acknowledged. Be assured that this and a greatly increased amount has been and still is very much needed among our sick and worn down, noble hearted soldiers.

This we think will be realized, when you are informed that in the last four months this regiment has marched, notwithstanding the excessive rains and mud, more than 500 miles, traveled by water 550 miles, have repeatedly, as they did recently in a severe forced march to reach the late battle, bivouacked for the night in the open fields, amidst the pouring winter rains, without overcoats, blankets, tents or provisions; have been in one of the severest battles fought in this war; have in four months lost more than 50 men by death, and now have more than 200 in the hospitals at Lebanon, and Louisville, Ky.; Cincinnati, Ohio; and Nashville, Tennessee.

With sentiments of high regard,
I remain, gentlemen,
Yours, very truly,
T. R. CRESSY,
Chaplain 2d Reg. Minn. Vols.

FROM THE FOURTH REGIMENT.

The following is an extract from a letter written by a private in company H. of our Fourth Regiment Minnesota Volunteers:

Benton Barracks, May 3d, 1862.

"I have delayed writing, as we daily expected orders to leave here; these have at length arrived, and we start to-morrow morning at 5 o'clock for the town of Hamburg, on the Tennessee river, a short distance from Pittsburg Landing. The boys are in high spirits at the prospect of action, as they are quite tired out with camp life."

SWORD PRESENTATION TO LIEUT. SNYDER.

A correspondent at Benton Barracks, St. Louis, sends the following account of the presentation of a sword to Lieut. C. L. Snyder, by the members of company B, of the same Regiment:

A deputation of members from company B, Fourth Regiment, Minnesota Volunteers, called at the office of 2nd Lieut. Cyrus L. Snyder, and invited him to appear before the Company at their quarters, Benton Barracks, Mo., April 30th, 1862, for the purpose of receiving a sword in behalf of the members of said Company.

Lieut. Snyder, on appearing before the Company at the appointed time, Joseph A. Goding, for the company, stepped forward and said:

Lieutenant: The members of your Company, desiring to express their high sense of your past services to them, most respectfully request you to accept this sword as a slight testimonial of their profound respect, and high regard for your character as an officer and a man, feeling assured that it will be drawn only in the cause of honor, and that it will never remain sheathed when the voice of patriotism calls on you to use it in the service of your country.

Lieut. Snyder accepted the sword, responded in a few appropriate and patriotic remarks.

CAPTAIN RUSSELL'S MINNESOTA SHARPSHOOTERS.

Washington, D. C., May 3.

To the Editor of the St. Paul Press.

Captain Russell with his company of sharpshooters arrived here a few days since, a fine, good looking set of men as can be found. As a Minnesotian I was proud of them. Yesterday afternoon I spent some time with them. Having boarded at St. Paul taverns through the winter, they were pinched a little by being feasted upon hard bread and beef of a poor quality, cooked four or five weeks ago, to be taken with the Grand Army of Gen. McClellan when they embarked four weeks ago to day and during the week previously.

To-day they go down the river towards Yorktown. The boys are all well and anxious for their Sharpe's rifles. They all speak highly of their officers. The Captain, say they, "is one of us; we all love him; he is attentive to every want of ours; does everything he can for us." "Indeed," say they, "our officers are all gentlemen. No great swelling airs are put on by the officers, as by some who seem to think if they are higher than the men they are equal to Cæsar or Napoleon."

Be assured the boys will give a good account of themselves. The fact is Minnesota soldiers are all expected to fight. No one doubts their courage; even the rebel prisoners here say if they had not had such men as Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois furnished—Western men—to fight, they would have been foraging now in the Free States.

CHIPPEWA.

Fire in Minneapolis.—We learn that the large and elegant dwelling house of Alex. Moore, of Minneapolis, was burned to the ground on Friday night last. Mr. Moore, with his wife, was that evening attending the Ladies' Soldiers' Aid Society, and on returning at about ten o'clock, when in sight of home, he heard his mother cry "fire!" Hastening to the spot he found his own house in flames. He succeeded in saving most of his furniture, but lost all of his vegetables, pork, &c., in the cellar. We learn that the house was partially insured, but his loss will be quite heavy, and entitles him to the sympathies of the community. Cause of the fire unknown.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Fifth Regiment.—By the following general order, it will be seen that the seven companies of this regiment, now at Fort Snelling, have received orders to report forthwith at Hamburg Landing, Tennessee. We understand that they will depart, if possible, on Monday next:

Gen'l Headquarters, State of Minnesota,
Adjutant General's Office,
Saint Paul, May 8th, 1862.

(General orders no. 5.)

1st. Pursuant to orders of Major-General Halleck, commanding the Department of the Mississippi, Col. Rudolph Von Borgersrode, commanding the 5th Regiment Minnesota Volunteers, will report the seven companies of his Regiment, at present stationed at Fort Snelling, forthwith at Hamburg Landing, Tennessee.

2d. Col. Rudolph Von Borgersrode will apply for transportation to Captain Saunders, Acting Assistant Quartermaster United States Army.

By order of the Commander in Chief.
OSCAR MALMROS,
Adjutant-General.

City Printing.—Consistency is a jewel; a rare one with our Democratic City Council. After advertising for proposals for doing the city printing, and finding that their old friends of the Pioneer and Democrat happened to be the highest among several bidders, they conclude that it is best to give the printing to the Pioneer and Democrat because they guess it has largest circulation within the city limits; and fearing, no doubt, that in losing the city printing they would lose a very considerable number of their city subscribers, who take the paper only for the reason that it publishes the proceedings of the Council, officially and at length. Last year the same paper was selected because their bid, which they were allowed to put in after the time had expired, was the lowest.

Would it not have been more gracious, as well as honorable, to have authorized the committee on printing, in the first instance, to contract with the Pioneer and Democrat and pay a fair price for all work done?

It will be a little strange if tax payers do not protest against letting to the highest bidder.

The District Court to day has been engaged in the trial of the suit of Jno. Nininger vs. J. J. Knox & Co. This suit was brought on a promisory note given by —Joice to S. S. Eaton, of Nininger City. The note, before maturity, was assigned by Eaton to Nininger, and placed in the hands of J. J. Knox & Co. for collection, and sent by them to their correspondent in St Anthony, when payment was duly demanded and protested. The notice of protest was served on S. S. Eaton of St. Paul, instead of S. S. Eaton of Nininger City. The only questions in this case seem to be:

1st. Whether Nininger or his agent notified Knox & Co. of the residence of Eaton, and

2d. Whether Eaton of Nininger City was, at the time of protest, solvent.

The jury returned a sealed verdict in the case, which is to be opened this morning at the opening of Court.

Improvements.—The city authorities seem to have waked up on one subject at least. Men are busily employed all over the city, fixing up and repairing broken side walks, fencing up "jumping-off places," and generally making it safe for a body to walk along the streets, by day light, without the risk of breaking an ankle or neck. They have even gone so far as to drain the city park, though the expense of this enterprise is probably paid by the rent of said Park for a vegetable garden.

The Police, too, have improved. They are always on duty. We hear of no disturbances—no robbing clothes lines, &c. We are certainly improving in every respect.

Our city has quite a lively appearance these days. A stroll along Third street last evening among the dry goods, grocery, and shoe men satisfied us that business is much better than a year ago. We see a smile on the countenance of our merchants and their clerks, which indicates a good trade, and why not? The country is full of money, full of produce, full of industrious citizens; why should not times be good in St. Paul.

Pioneer Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1.—This company now consists of over eighty active members. One year ago it was difficult to find a quorum at the monthly meetings. At the May meeting on Wednesday evening last, over sixty members answered at roll call. This company is composed of a hardy, muscular class of citizens, and would do honor to the fire department of any city.

The weather has been warm and pleasant for two days past: the dust is becoming quite disagreeable; nature is fast putting on her emerald robes; the ice man is becoming a welcome visitor, and the strong tendency to perspiration reminds us that summer is at hand.

Police.—To-day, Professor Anderson (colored) was sent up for twenty days, as a vagrant, on bread and water, in default of paying twenty dollars and costs.

Jacob Reiger for assault on Geo. Trull, was find five dollars and costs.

Sergeant Querner, of the 18th U. S. Infantry, has got together 22 as fine looking men as can be found anywhere, as recruits for Lieut. Truman, who is here on that service, for the 18th U. S. Infantry.

Second Lieutenant Mathias, of Von Minden's Battery, arrived last evening on furlough. He reports the Company in good condition and ready to go in.

Thanks.—We are indebted to R. F. Marvin, Jr., who arrived from the East last evening, for Chicago and New York papers in advance of the mail.

River News.—The river has fallen three inches during the last twenty-four hours.

The Northerner, Itasca and Moses McClellan arrived with large freights; also the W. L. Ewing, which went up to St. Anthony to take on a cargo of flour and grain. She will leave at two o'clock to-day, with 2,000 barrels of flour and 1,000 sacks of grain.

The Aeolian arrived yesterday with 60 tons of railroad iron for the Pacific Railroad. She will go to St. Anthony to-day for a cargo of grain.

The Itasca leaves at eight o'clock for Prairie du Chien and Dunleith.

The Northern Belle arrived last night with a through mail, and leaves at eight o'clock this morning for La Crosse.

The Wilson will be here to-day to tow down three barges of grain in bulk.

The Frank Steele is on the line between Winona and La Crosse.

The McClellan, Keokuk and Northern Belle, will hereafter constitute the daily mail line between St. Paul and La Crosse.

For the Press:

Card.—The undersigned wish to acknowledge to the friends who visited their home on the 6th inst., and expressed their regard for us with substantial tokens, as well as to those who, being absent, yet sent their presents, their united and heartfelt thanks, and hope that the God of all goodness and truth will bless them, and cause his face to shine upon them in all the ways in which he may lead them.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

LA CROSSE AND ST. PAUL
PACKET COMPANY.

SUMMER ARRANGEMENT

During the season of 1862, till the close of navigation, the La Crosse and St. Paul Packet Company, having completely equipped their Line, and made large additions to their business facilities, will offer to shippers and passengers on the river greater inducements and conveniences, and QUICKER TIME, than was ever offered by any company on the river.

All the boats on the Chippewa, Minnesota, St. Croix and the upper Mississippi rivers, and the different lines of stages north of La Crosse will the coming season run to connect with the Davidson boats and the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad.

The La Crosse and St. Paul Packet Company will run a

PASSENGER AND FREIGHT LINE.

The former will number two first class boats—the nicest and fastest on the river. They will be the McCLELLAN and NORTHERN BELLE. The first will be the Lightning Line, making the run from La Crosse to St Paul in EIGHTEN HOURS, and returning will leave here in the morning, and arrive at La Crosse in twelve hours time, to connect with the evening train, by which passengers will make close connection and reach Milwaukee in time for cars or boats on the Lake in TWENTY HOURS FROM ST. PAUL, and reach Chicago next morning, by Minnesota Junction or Milwaukee, in just TWENTY-FOUR HOURS FROM LEAVING ST. PAUL, and in time for close connection East! This will be twelve hours the quickest time between these three cities ever made! Nothing but passengers, the mails express matter, and express goods will be carried on these boats, which will be furnished in the best of style. Passengers will then have daylight to view the grand beauties of the river, and good sleeping cars from La Crosse to Chicago—a great item. Arrangements have also been perfected so that all the boats of the upper rivers, and all the stage lines will run in close connection

The other line will number three regular boats; the Keokuk G. H. Wilson and Wenona, one of which will leave La Crosse daily on the arrival of the morning train from the East, connecting at all points north, and will also make close connections. The Favorite will run as a tri-weekly packet between St. Paul and Mankato, on the Minnesota river.

A daily line will also run between St. Anthony and St. Cloud on the Upper Mississippi, for passenger and freight business. All of which are to connect with the boats above named, plying between La Crosse and St. Paul, and connecting with the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad.

This Company have just completed at St. Paul, a mammoth wharf boat, which will hold seven hundred tons of freight; and to or from which goods of all kinds can be carried to any part of the city, without further handling or danger of breakage.

Shippers of freight to St. Paul by this line or over the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad in connection, will, by shipping to the care of J. C. Barbank & Co., have their goods delivered FREE in the City, or forwarded to all points North FREE of WAREHOUSE OR STAGE CHARGES. Goods going the other way have the same advantages.

To avoid all delays, and to make the closest connections and quickest time, see that your tickets are for this line and no other.

GENERAL SIGEL.

A deputation of patriotic ladies of St. Louis have presented the heroic Sigel with a beautiful silver goblet, appropriately inscribed. They called on the General at his residence, taking him completely by surprise—something which his country's enemies cannot succeed in doing. After an appropriate presentation speech, Gen. Sigel made the following impromptu response, which shows that he can talk as well as fight:

Ladies: It is a pleasure for me to greet you, and, as the representatives of the Union ladies of this city, to thank you. I am sorry that my experience compels me to say that the fair sex have not shown that sympathy for the great Union cause which we had a right to expect from sound hearts; and, therefore, I respect and esteem more highly those who form the exception to the rule, who are not influenced by pride and selfishness, and who love their country more than they love traitors.

I was not born in this country. I came here like your ancestors, the Huguenots, the Puritans, and the followers of Penn, from a foreign land; but I assure you that my heart and my soul is with this republic. I am bound to this country with my whole life, because I am bound to the principles upon which this republic is based—principles for the triumph of which I have struggled and fought from the time I was able to think. I am bound to the sacred soil of Missouri, by the memory of those who have fallen under my eyes in the defense of the State, and for the maintenance of the Union. For the stars and the stripes they offered themselves a willing sacrifice, and I will cherish them in my heart to my last days.

I have sometimes thought that the tokens of regard bestowed upon me were the result of fashion rather than the sincere wishes of the heart; but I also know that there is some truth in the manifestations of the friendship and sympathy from the people. The eye of the people is very often the eye of wisdom. It penetrates into the heart of man, and recognizes his true character. It soon finds out whether he acts honestly and for the common welfare, or whether he risks his life and plays with the blood of men to gratify his own ambition

I recognize in you the voice of the people. I really think that you are acting under the tender wishes of friends, and that your sympathies are true and noble. I therefore thank you from my very heart for your kindness and esteem.

This goblet, so excellent in its workmanship, and so dear to me as a gift from sincere friends, will accompany me to the field, if I shall be so happy as to be restored; and whenever my lips will touch this silver vessel, I will remember that "of your love I never drink too much."

YOUNG ITALY.

If the signs of the times do not deceive, the Great Powers of the Old World will soon have their hands too full of business, near home, to busy themselves much with our troubles in the United States. As if the march of events was not fast enough for him, Garibaldi has left his seclusion to "fire the Italian heart" afresh against Austria, and the "fire," it must be confessed, in view of the everywhere enthusiastic reception he is receiving in Northern Italy, falls upon material already prepared for spontaneous combustion.

The story of his sayings and doings at Cremona, is of deep siguificance. He makes no secret of the fact, that his mission is to "emancipate Venice, and set Rome free," and wherever this mission is avowed, every chord of the Italian heart would seem to beat a warm and ready response. The genius of "the Liberator," seems to have a wonderful adaptation to the circumstances around him. His soft, silvery tongue bewitches priests, as well as people, and wins over Bishops even, to opposition to the temporal power of the Pope. To the young men, he addresses himself in a strain of religious seriousness, mingled with appeals to their patriotism, which reminds one of Cromwell. Women, and children too, are enchanted with his gentleness, and his affectionate words, and go wherever he will; hence it is not surprising, he is surrounded with hosts of friends, and admirers—if not worshipers.

It is not a matter of surprise, that Austria should view with anxiety and alarm, the re-appearance of this eccentric meteor, whose confessed purpose is to detach from her one of her fairest provinces, and to erect on her frontiers a power which may one day swallow her all up. It remains to be seen now, how far the King of Sardinia is ready to follow where the "Liberator" leads. The prevailing belief is, that he is ready to "demonstrate," with his armies, and his steel clad men of war (he has six of them,) against Austria, as soon as "the People" are ready. But, in the background—behind the scenes of his extraordinary play—stands, all this while, Louis Napoleon, with an enigmatical look, which none know whether to interpret as an approval of the Garibaldi movement, or a condemnation of it. Some think he fears that in the kindling anew of the revolutionary fires in Northern Italy, some chance sparks might set France in a blaze; and others are certain that the threatened deprivation of the Pope of his temporal power, and the making of Rome the capital of United Italy, will so prejudice him with the Church, that ere long he will openly "set his foot down" against any further development of the peculiar ideas which Garibaldi is so industrious diffusing. But this is mere conjecture. The Emperor keeps his counsels. He makes no man his confidant. With an army of 600,000 men at his back, he knows he can keep "the fierce democracie" of Young Italy in check, on the one hand, and the power of Austria on the other. Our own judgment is, that he will let Young Italy flare up, and play off its pranks, as long as it has a mind to, just to awe Austria and keep her ambition within bounds; but that the moment these pyrotechnics threaten to burst into a conflagration he will step in, and see to it that "nobody is hurt."

The English journals, it is worthy of note, are for the most part suspicious of the Garibaldi movement. They reason, that Young Italy ought to be satisfied, with what it has already achieved and leave time to work out the full measure of its redemption. By seeking to grasp Rome and Venetia, just now it runs a risk of losing all, whereas, anon, in the ordinary course of events, the Eternal City, and the mistress of the Adriatic both will fall into the lap of United Italy, like a pear that is ripe.—N. Y. Express.

NEWS FROM YORKTOWN.

After the Rebel Army.

THEIR CHANCES OF ESCAPE.

Williamsburg, May 7.

The Times' editorial correspondent from Yorktown states that Gen. Franklin went up York river with his division yesterday and I hear this afternoon that Gen. Sedgwick had also embarked at Yorktown and will join Franklin this morning. They are expected to march from York river to a place called New Kent, on the road between Williamsburg and Richmond and there to cut off the rebel retreat.

We heard no firing this afternoon. It is now nine o'clock, from which we infer that the rebels withdrew during the night, or else that our troops are awaiting the arrival of Franklin and Sedgwick in their rear.

If the rebels stand where they are, they will find themselves between two formidable armies, and compelled to cut their way through one of them, or to surrender at discretion.

I am inclined to think they will cross the Chickahominy river and destroy the bridges and ferry, so as to prevent pursuit.

This seems to be the only way in which they can hope to save any portion of their army.

It is barely possible that we may have hard fighting yet, but the general opinion is that the enemy will escape in the way indicated, and that Gen. McClellan can advance upon Richmond without any very formidable opposition.

NEWS OF THE CAPTURE OF NEW ORLEANS IN THE SENATE.

Washington, May 8.

A dispatch from New York with information brought by the Columbia of the capture of New Orleans, was read in the Senate this afternoon during the debate upon the Pacific Railroad Bill. It was well received, and Senator McDougall immediately moved a resolution of thanks to Com. Farragut and Gen. Butler.

THE CONTRABANDS.

About thirty contrabands arrived here to day, mostly from Virginia, and are quartered in Duff Green's row, which was once a fashionable block of residences. People from all parts of the country resort here to hire contraband help. The free laborers and other laborers of the District are some what disturbed by this influence which can be hired for nothing. But the government having the article thrown upon its hands must dispose of it in the readiest manner.

FINANCIAL.

The New York Bank Note Reporter has the following remarks concerning Government securities:

Mr. Chase is now running his financial machinery in a way that is as sure to secure a rapid funding of the demand notes into the six per cent. stocks named on the back of the recent issue of notes as water is sure to find its own level. If, then, a twenty year six per cent. Federal stock, redeemable at the option of the Government after five years, is worth par, what are the other classes of Federal securities worth? The power to redeem the twenty year sixes at the option of the Government at any time after five years detracts from their value, as compared with a twenty year stock not liable to such contingency, at six per cent.; therefore the sixes now on the market are worth, with accrued interest going on to the purchaser, 108. The 7 3-10 notes earn to the purchaser, during the two-and-a-half years they have to run, three per cent. more interest than a six per cent. stock, and they are fundable into twenty year six per cent., which are not liable to be called in before the full expiration of the twenty years; therefore, the 7 3-10 Treasury notes are worth 109. The twelve month certificates of indebtedness are certainly three per cent. less valuable than the 7 3-10 Treasury notes, and further less valuable to an amount that the funding privilege is worth. An option or "call" to take a twenty year federal stock at par at any time during two and a half years would readily bring 5½ per cent. on the stocks. This makes a 7 3-10 per cent. Treasury note worth 5½ per cent. more than a certificate of indebtedness. These estimates are carefully made; but it should be remembered that they are on the basis of a six per cent. contingent stock, or the stock into which the legal tender notes are fundable, at par.

—Parson Brownlow is a nice man. The Louisville Journal says "he has repeatedly assured us he never swore an oath, never played a card, never attended a horse race, never told a lie, never broke the Sabbath, never voted the Democratic ticket, never wore whiskers, and never kissed any woman but his wife."

—Huntsville, Alabama, now held by Union troops, is the home of Leroy Pope Walker, late rebel Secretary of War, who predicted, on the fall of Sumter, that the rebel flag would wave over Faneuil Hall. Instead, the stars and stripes float triumphantly over his own town.

Gen. Pope, by placing a battery of artillery in an open field, near Farmingham, on the right of three rebel regiments, succeeded in luring them on to take the battery, when he took the whole of them prisoners, numbering some two thousand men.

Deserters report great dissatisfaction in the rebel army, both among the officers and men.

Beauregard had made a speech to his troops, saying that he would make a desperate stand, and force the Union army to retreat. He also appealed to them to stand by him.

Orders had been issued to the Union troops to march on Sunday night, but they were prevented by the condition of the roads, which the heavy rains had rendered impassable.

Post-Office Department,
Washington, May 6, 1862.

All letters for New Orleans should be sent to New York for transmission by Government steamers. John A. Kasson, Assistant P. M. G.

Washington, May 6.—The Associated Press agent gives some additional particulars from the advance near Williamsburg, dated Monday evening, of the fight there. Our loss was seventeen killed and about forty wounded. Eighty-five rebels were left dead on the field, and forty wounded. We took nearly 200 prisoners. Their dead were buried by us on the field. A stand of colors belonging to the cavalry, are now on their way to Washington.

McClellan and staff arrived on the field at 5 o'clock. He rode to the front and was greeted by cheers from the troops. He immediately assumed command.

Bivouac in front of Williamsburg,
May 5, 1862.

To Hon. E. M Stanton:

After arranging for moving up York river, I was urgently sent for here.

I find Gen. Jo Johnson in front of me, in strong force, probably greater than my own. Gen. Hancock has taken two redoubts, and repulsed Earley's rebel brigade by a charge of the bayonet, taking one Colonel and 150 prisoners, and killing at least two Colonels and many privates.

His conduct was brilliant in the extreme. I do don't know our exact loss, but fear that Gen. Hooker has lost considerable on our left. I learn from prisoners that the rebels intend disputing every step to Richmond. I still run the risk of at least holding them in check while I resume the original plan. My entire force is undoubtedly considerably inferior to that of the rebels, who will fight well, but I will do all I can with the force at my disposal.

(Signed) GEO. B. McCLELLAN,
Major General.

Washington, May 6.—Official dispatches received here indicate that the enemy are in large force and strongly entrenched near Williamsburg, and that they intend to dispute at that point the further passage of McClellan's army.

There has been some brisk fighting, in which General Hancock had taken two redoubts and repulsed Earley's rebel brigade by a brilliant bayonet charge.

In the engagement General Hancock's forces are said to have killed two rebel Colonels, two Lieut. Colonels, and captured one Colonel and 150 prisoners.

Gen. McClellan highly compliments Gen. Hancock's conduct.

At the time of sending the dispatches, our loss was not known, but it was supposed to be considerable, in proportion to the extent of the engagement, as the fight was very severe.

Paducah, May 6.—(Special to Journal.)—Jeff. Thompson is in western Kentucky with 1,000 cavalry. He came across a company of Curtis' Nebraska Horse yesterday, near Dresden, scattering them in every direction. No loss of life. Quite an excitement exists in the country in consequence of the raid of Jeff. Thompson.

Report is current here, and generally believed, that Corinth was evacuated last night. Our troops are now in full possession

Cairo, May 6.—[Special to Chicago Times.]—The steamer Walsh arrived here this morning from Pittsburg Landing. The army is so far advanced from the river that nothing is known of its movements. Drenching rain had been falling, which had continued twenty four hours without intermission.

Report was current that Pope's army occupied Corinth on Sunday. A few regiments were posted in front, who are said to have been taken prisoners.

Monterat, Tenn., May 6.

Rain has fallen in torrents for the past thirty hours, putting the roads in a horrible condition.

Yesterday, the Commanding General arrived from the camp near Pittsburg Landing, and encamped near here.

Our pickets can distinctly hear the drums beat and locomotives whistle at Corinth.

Baltimore, May 6.—Among the prisoners taken at Yorktown, is the chief, of engineers on Gen. Johnston's staff, who states the whole rebel army at Yorktown amounted to 85,000 men. He gives a most deplorable account of the army, and says they will be unable to make a stand anywhere this side of Richmond. Their retreat commenced at daylight on Saturday morning, and he doubts not that the advance was twenty miles distant at the time the last gun was fired from Yorktown on Saturday morning.

THE LAST YANKEE WAR NOTION.

We find the following paragraph in an exchange:

"A contract has been made by government with certain parties in Boston to build an iron gunboat of between 600 and 700 tons, to be furnished with Woodbury's submarine battery. The vessel will be 136 feet long and 30 feet beam, and will be built of iron throughout in the most substantial manner. She will carry one gun on deck, and one large gun for submarine firing at the bow. She is to be built at the Atlantic Works, and is to be ready for service in from four to five months."

The period stated for the completion of this vessel would put her in commission in September next. The term submarine battery conveys no adequate idea of this extraordinary invention, and hence we are tempted to copy from the Boston Transcript the subjoined account of the design and of a successful attempt made with it in Boston harbor:

"The idea of the inventor is to build an iron clad, bomb proof vessel of sufficient tonnage to carry a gun at the bow, one at the stern, and as many as desirable amidships. The vessel in action will lie alongside of her adversary, and discharge her guns at as near range as is possible to obtain.

"The cannon are to be of the usual shape, but longer than common, and can be cast to discharge any projectile now in use. The gun, when ready for action, has a tin cylindrical case fitted closely at the muzzle, rendering the chamber air tight, and preventing the entrance of water. When the piece is fired, the charge attains its full velocity before reaching the tin canister previously mentioned, and an effective shot may be made at a distance of two or three hundred feet.

"The cannon is fitted into a stuffing box, similar to that of the piston of a steam engine, and an automatic porthole opens and shuts as the piece is run out or withdrawn. The recoil on the gun is so strong, and the action of the port so sudden, that it is expected very little water will be shipped as the cannon is drawn in.

"A twelve-pounder was fired under water at a target made of spruce plank, crossed at right angles, and heavily bolted and braced, and placed at a distance of ten or twelve feet. The target was penetrated in such a manner as to show that the invention is one of the most important which has been made in naval warfare."

—The Memphis Argus of the 27th, contains a correspondence between the editors of that paper and Beauregard, asking the latter if he intends to evacuate Corinth and leave the city entirely at the mercy of Federal vandals. Beauregard replies by referring them to Jeff. Davis if they wish to be advised as to his movements. The editor then goes on to say that the name of Beauregard has been a tower of strength in the Southern Confederacy, but that if he failed in driving off Gen. Halleck, it would be a hissing and a by word to all coming generations.

The Argus announces that Major Rosser, of Virginia, has been appointed to the command of Memphis. This is no other than J. Travis Rosser, formerly Secretary of the Territory of Minnesota, and a delegate to the Charleston Convention from this State.

SINCE the fall of New Orleans, the Norfolk Day Book gives the following sign of progress in the ideas of the rebels:

"We confess that we, in common with wiser men, were deluded into the general belief in the supremacy of cotton. We had high authority for the belief. The "commerce of the world hangs by a thread," said Mr. Pickens, and the truth of this declaration may yet become manifest; but cotton as a political agent is done for. "None so poor as to do it reverence" as a blockade runner, but thousands to appreciate the fact that when the war does end a large cotton supply on hand will be a large fortune Hog and hominy are far more important than cotton and tobacco, and by the extent of the supply to be furnished by the cis-Mississippi region, we must measure the extent of our calamity."

FROM CENTRAL MISSOURI.

At Springfield, Colonel Marrion commands Camp Butler, and with the 12th Illinois Cavalry, is guarding about 1,700 secesh prisoners. Col. Marrion allows no one to associate or converse with the prisoners, except the officers and men who guard them. The health of the prisoners is quite good, and about one hundred are detailed each day to work on a huge fence which is being built around the camp. Thus the prisoners are made to save the Government from $50 to $100 per day during the progress of the work. The prisoners draw the same rations as our soldiers, and are clothed with Uncle Sam's condemned clothing.

At Rolla, things are very quiet. Col. Boyd, of the 14th Missouri, has command of the post. Latest accounts place Gen. Curtiss' army in the vicinity of Vera Cruz, in Douglas county, about ninety miles south of Rolla, slowly moving toward the river.

ONE of those incidents that make their way straight to the heart, is related as having occurred before the two days battle at Pittsburg Landing.

Thursday evening preceding the battle, was as lovely as spring and moonlight could make it. On that night the band of the Lead Mine Regiment were serenading General McClernand, at his headquarters, within a cannon shot of the Landing. And when the band poured out upon the still night the air, "Home, Sweet Home," the camps were hushed. In one of them a poor fellow lay in a tent, ill with fever. As the well remembered tune fell upon his ear, he turned his face with a groan to the canvas wall and died with the dying strain. And so he found "Sweet Home."

—Frederika Bremer, the celebrated Swedish novelist, has written a letter to friends in this country, in which she expresses her delight with the President's compensated emancipation message. In another letter she proposes to contribute $100 in aid of the President's plan.

CONFISCATION.

Ex-Governor Wright, the sterling Democratic Senator from Indiana, made a strong speech in the Senate, a few days ago, in favor of the confiscation measure. The extract which we append gives a fair idea of the nature of the whole speech:

I am strongly in favor of some bill of this character. Some such bill ought to have passed at the last session of Congress, but we seem to have gone on as though we had no war upon our hands. We must be alive to the exigencies of the hour. This monstrous rebellion must be destroyed, and destroyed speedily; and as a means of such an end, I have looked earnestly for the passage of some proposition for the confiscation of the property of those engaged in rebellion against the government. We have forborne until forbearance has become dishonor.

It is time lawlessness and treason should cease, whether under the pretended guise of rebellion, or under the more insiduous guise of a free speech, which gloats over every obstacle brought forward to prevent a restoration of the Union. It is time rapine and murder were called by their right names, and punished as they deserve. I can have no possible leniency for those men, educated at the expense of the Government, who turn against it in armed rebellion. We must make it understand that we do not educate men for service in rebel armies. Yet I would deal leniently with the misguided masses, and I would prefer that the President should have some power to grant a general amnesty. I have no patience, Sir, to listen to long discussions about the power of Congress to pass such an act as this. Congress has the power to declare war and to suppress rebellion, and having these, I take it they have the power to provide for the vigorous prosecution of these objects. The greater power certainly includes the lesser. Neither shall I stop to argue the constitutionality of the measure. But I may say that in time of general peril to free institutions, when disloyal citizens rise in rebellion to spurn the Constitution and defy the laws, there is a supreme and absorbing duty to which all others are subject—the duty of self-preservation, safety to the Government from disruption, and to the Constitution you talk about from annihilation. Everything opposed to its existence must be made to yield or be swept away with an iron hand, that the nation may live. All minor considerations must be neglected and all inferior interests must perish.

A GLIMPSE OF LIFE IN WASHINGTON.

The Washington correspondent of the Springfield Republican, whom we take to be Mary Clemmer Ames, thus daguerreotypes some notables at Washington:

Here we can drink our coffee as coolly and quietly as in the breakfast room at home, while, if we choose, seeing vastly more. At the round table nearest the door sits Senator Clarke, of New Hampshire, with his beautiful boys and pleasant, matronly wife. I believe in Senator Clarke. Anywhere, under any circumstances, though I knew nothing else of the man, I would believe in such a head and face as his. He is an earnest and eloquent Senator, a patriot and a Christian. A man over six feet high, of strong nervous temperament, dark hair and open face, on every line of which is stamped the truth.

Next him, more mindful of his newspaper than his breakfast, sits Senator Hale, looking exceedingly comfortable, with his very round face and his very large stomach. Mrs. Hale, whether eating her breakfast, or sitting, plainly dressed, in the Senate gallery, or in purple and ermine, ready for calls, or in the full costume of the evening, always looks handsome. A woman of queenly presence, with commanding, magnetic eyes, she can lay claim to beauty as well as her lovely daughters, and at an evening party looks like their eldest sister. Misses Lizzie and Lucy bear with them the fine, pure skin and delicate bloom which is only wrought by the airs of the New England mountains, while their large, liquid eyes alone establish their title to beauty. Here is a fine family group.

At the next table we have the Senator from Michigan, with his elegant, stylish and very stately wife. She has on one of the daintiest and prettiest of morning caps, and a scarlet shawl thrown carelessly around her graceful shoulders. Mrs. Chandler has Senatorial dignity enough to sustain a dozen Senators.

At the next table, unmindful of breakfast, both reading newspapers, sit Mr. and Mrs. Crittenden. Mrs. Crittenden, no longer young, will always be beautiful. Nothing can exceed her grace of manner. Whether with her own pet friends from Kentucky or rising from the table to greet Mrs. General Banks, or thanking a servant for some slight attention, Mrs. Crittenden is never less than a lady. She looks nearly as handsome this morning in plain costume, as she did last night in the drawing room, in black velvet and point lace. Mr Crittenden still reads on, "compromise" written on every line of his amiable face.

General and Mrs. Banks sat at the next table, a few mornings since. Mrs. Banks looked very sweet, rosy and youthful. But your old favorite Republican don't look as well in military as he did in civilian costume Some way he don't feel comfortable in a General's coat. How grandly massive is the man's face and head!

Here is another giant head, though its owner acts as if it aches. I presume it does. He played "King Lear" last night. Edwin Forrest eats his breakfast alone, eats it fitfully, as if he would rather not eat it. He passes his hand over his forehead, as if to allay his pain. He glances at his paper, he looks about, taking in everything with those black, restless, melancholy eyes. Rich and famous, he is a wretched man. A man of strong passions and affections, wifeless, childless—what are riches or fame to him! In his house in Philadelphia hangs a picture of two little children, one bathing her naked feet in a brook, the other stepping out with the sunlight falling on her head. They tell of this man how for hours he shuts himself away, gazing on this picture. No child voices ram melody through these worse than deserted halls. The man must have something childlike in his nature who can thus seek solace for its hopeless desolation.

Here sits Senator Lane of Indiana, a quiet man, who wakes up to fiery eloquence; a patriot who would sacrifice himself and all that he has for his country, and here his wife, whose ample brow and clear brown eyes bear the insignia of goodness, as well as intellect. A woman to be trusted and sought as a friend for the intrinsic qualities of her own nature. A woman who will take your hand and accept you for your own sake, if you are worth accepting, without asking for your titles or inquiring whether you ever had a relative that was hung.

IF Beauregard, the great evacuator, has left Corinth without risking a battle with Generals Halleck and Buell, where is he to go? He cannot retreat to the eastward, for in that direction he will meet Gen. Mitchell; he cannot come northward, for that would be moving against one hundred and fifty thousand bristling bayonets; and he cannot go south, for in that quarter his base line of operations has been broken by the capture of New Orleans. On Thursday of last week, it will be remembered, our advanced pickets heard the cars running from Corinth towards Memphis, and that was the very day, the 24th, on the morning of which the telegraph operator at New Orleans announced the capture of the city, and then ran away in a terrible fright. Most unquestionably the same intelligence was sent to Beauregard, and upon its receipt he may have thought it discretion to leave the eastern side of the Mississippi river and cross over into Arkansas at Memphis while the coast is clear. He must either set his fate upon a cast and "stand the hazard of a die" in one general battle, or he must retreat and carry his demoralized army to some new theatre of action. As Gen. Purdy when he left New Orleans stole the eighteen millions of bullion in the banks of that city and sent the proceeds of this wholesale theft up the river, while he took his troops by railroad in the direction of Jackson, it may be possible that Beauregard may form a junction with him, and then the united forces may cross the river at Vicksburg and pass through Louisiana into Texas, from whence an easy escape into Mexico is offered, where civil war and rebellion and anarchy and secession are things of custom and to the manor born, so that they can revel in them.

If Beauregard don't retreat he will be bagged, and if he does retreat, there are chances that he may be intercepted before he can cross the Red River or the Arkansas river. In having a chance for escape he is more lucky than many of his associates in rebellion, for Jeff. Davis and his followers are completely cut off and environed; they they must fight whether they have the stomach for it or not, there is no alternative but surrender. The hand of the outraged nation is closing upon the rebellion to crush it, and though a few of its abetors may escape between the fingers, the result is certain and assured.—Louisville Journal.

THE MORMONS.

Brigham Young has just been inaugurated as Governor of the new State of Deseret, and Mr. Ashley's bill for the punishment of polygamy has passed the House of Representatives. Here is a conflict at our doors at once. The Mormons have organized their State government with polygamy as the "corner stone" of their system, just as slavery is the corner stone of the Confederates, intending to demand immediate admission into the Union, while Congress declares their fundamental system a crime which morals and justice alike forbid.

That the Mormons are in earnest in their new State movement is abundantly proved by the recent public speeches of their leaders. Brigham Young, Heber C. Kimball, and other "apostolic" dignitaries in Utah, who mould the deluded followers of the Mormon heresy at their will, boldly avow their purpose to make a direct issue with the government. In effect, they say that they have suffered unjust persecution until forbearance is no longer a virtue, and that they now insist upon a full recognition of their rights, on an equal footing with the States. Young himself recently expressed the sentiments of the Mormon priesthood in a violent philippic, which we find reported in the Deseret News, his official organ. Here is a single passage:

We are not going to be satisfied with a mere pre-emption right on the soil in this territory. Should the Government grant to every head of a family six hundred and forty acres of land, and to each wife and child their portion, as was done in Oregon territory, that would give to me and to my sons and daughters quite a scope of country, and the whole people would swallow up all the land in this territory. But shall we be satisfied with that? No, I am going to have a larger pre emption than the territory of Utah. In a few years this territory will contain my own posterity. In twenty years from now this spacious hall will not hold them, and in twenty years more they will more than fill this territory I cannot put up with this small possession.

Brigham's wants, like his wives, are many, and, according to this speech, so are his ambitious plans.

When we have done subduing the slaveholders' rebellion, it will be well to send a few of our veteran regiments to Utah to squelch this polygamist rebellion. These "twin relics of barbarism" must be wiped out, and then will our glorious nation commence its grand march to greatness.—Pittsburgh Gazette.

CANINE AFFECTION.

Lieut. Pfieff, belonging to a Chicago company, was killed at the Pittsburg Landing battle. His remains were brought back to Chicago and interred with appropriate honors. In giving an account of the matter, a Chicago paper tells the following touching story in relation to the Lieutenant's dog:

"A beautiful and touching incident is connected with the manner in which Mrs. Pfieff was enabled to discover the place where her husband had been buried upon the battle-field. She visited the field armed with a pass from Gen. Halleck, but no one could possibly inform her of the place where he had been buried, as such a large number, of both friend and foe, had been interred upon the same ground. She remained about half a day, and was about giving up in despair, when she espied, at the distance of nearly half a mile, a large dog coming rapidly towards her, which she immediately recognized as the same which had accompanied her husband to the war. He approached her with the most intense manifestations of joy, and immediately indicated to her, as well as he was able, his desire that she should follow him. She did so, and he led the way to a distant part of the field, and stopped before a single grave. She caused it to be opened, and there found the body of her dead husband. It appears from the statement of some of the soldiers that, at the time Lieutenant Pfieff fell, this dog was by his side, and there remained, licking his wounds, until he was taken from the field and buried. He then took his station by the grave, and nothing could induce him to abandon it but for a sufficient length of time each day to satisfy his hunger, until, by some means, he was made aware of the presence of his mistress. Thus had he watched for twelve days by the grave of his slain master. This is certainly one of the most wonderful instances of canine sagacity on record. When the body was being conveyed to this city, this wonderful animal took up his position by the box containing the remains, and no persuasion could induce him to leave it until its arrival here.

—The Anoka Republican says Henry Hubbard, of that place, who belonged to the First Minnesota Regiment, and was wounded and taken prisoner at the battle of Bull Run, has arrived at home. He was exchanged last winter, and discharged by the Government soon after, on account of his wounds, since which time he has been in New York. He was wounded in the left shoulder, and will probably never regain the use of his arm.

MAY.—DYSPEPSIA.—This is a very distressing complaint, and gives the patient more suffering than almost any other disease. In fact, it is a combination of many complaints in one. The symptoms are numerous, and of the nature of almost all other complaints combined. From this fact arise the very many cases where this disease is mistaken for some other and so improperly treated. The first symptoms, indigestion, flatulency, loss of appetite, heartburn, headache etc., if neglected, almost always awaken some dormant disease, and send the poor sufferer to a premature grave. DIVIDENDS ON CAPITAL LIMITED BY ITS CHARTER TO 7 PER CENT PER CENT PER ANNUM —THE ENTIRE PROFITS GO TO THE POLICY HOLDERS.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the Insurance Department of the State of New York, in U. S. bonds, on which it allows but 7 per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The Old Established WHOLESALE AND RETAIL

CROCKERY HOUSE OF

R. MARVIN,

SENDS GREETING TO HIS CUSTOMERS IN MINNESOTA, IN DAKOTA TERRITORY, AND BEYOND THE BRITISH LINE.

That being one of the Oldest Business Houses in the State, (the present being the eleventh year of its existence,) R. MARVIN feels confident that he need not urge its claims on the public patronage. The extent of country over which its business has spread is the best proof that its claims are not unrecognized. The unwavering determination which he has felt since the crisis, and in the hardest times, to maintain his business and place it on a par with similar establishments in the largest cities of the West, have been so fully appreciated by the merchants of the State, that he feels bound to redouble his efforts, not only for the benefit of his business, but for the pride he feels in his adopted city.

Mr. R. would call on the citizens of St. Paul, and especially the old residents who remember "the day of small things," not to forget that he still has a

JAPANESE WHEAT.

A NEW KIND OF GRAIN KNOWN AS JAPANESE WHEAT IS INTRODUCED TO THE PUBLIC AND FARMERS OF MINNESOTA.

By the subscribers, who have grown it on their place last year. This remarkable Wheat is amazingly productive, producing over one hundred bushels to the acre. It matures in seventy days from the time it is sown, and weighs fifty six pounds to the bushel. The heads of the grain average ten inches in length. It ripens while the leaves and stalk are green. The stalk is so strong that it never lodges during the most severe storms. It will fatten hogs as well as corn, and at less than one half of the expense. It produces from three to six tons of fodder to the acre fully equal to the best timothy or clover hay. Its nutritious qualities are such that all kinds of stock prefer it to any of the grasses used for fodder, after a very large proportion of the grain is threshed off. It will stand the most severe drouth. It is excellent for feeding poultry. It yields thirty pounds of Flour to the bushel.

Price—ONE DOLLAR per package, with full directions.

One package sown as directed, will produce enough seed to raise next year from 600 to 800 bushels of the Wheat.

Sold by the following Agents in St. Paul:

R. Gallaway; J. C. Raguet & Co.;
Irby & Jenks; Chas. Weide & Bros.;

For sale in Minneapolis by W. H. Leonard & Co. Greely & Gray; O. M. Leraway; Kelly & Bro. St Anthony—Charles Crawford, T. F. & G. H. Andrews.

1862 SPRING TRADE. 1862
WEBER, WILLIAMS & YALE,
JOBBERS,
25 LAKE STREET, CHICAGO,
Are now receiving the LARGEST and BEST ASSORTED STOCK to be found West of New

GEN. T. W. SHERMAN.

This officer, lately confirmed, by recommendation of Gen. Halleck, as Major General, has probably suffered as much by disparaging criticism as any other officer in the service. Senator Sherman has written a letter in his defense to the Cincinnati Commercial, a portion of which we republish.

After speaking of the circumstances in which the General was placed, and specifying the charges made against him, the letter goes on to say:

As to Gen. Sherman's opinion of the force necessary in the valley of the Mississippi, time has demonstrated his entire accuracy.

Our army has not advanced one day's march beyond his position, until the force indicated by him had, after months of delay and preparation, been concentrated in Kentucky and Missouri. Such officers as Gens. Halleck and Buell and Com. Foote could see the necessity of a large force and ample preparations, while Cameron thought an officer crazy for advising it. The very line of operations advised by Gen. Sherman in October last—the valleys of the three great rivers—have become the scenes of great national victories. What would have been the result if Gen. Sherman had sent a portion of his raw unarmed volunteers across the mountains to Knoxville and the remainder into the intrenchments of the rebels at Bowling Green? The written opinions of Gen. Sherman are on the files of the War Department, and will be regarded as remarkable evidence of his foresight and sagacity.

But at the time the popular opinion was all against him. Cameron went to St. Louis, quarreled with Fremont, and returned by way of Louisville. Gen. Sherman stated to him in official confidence, in a closed room, at an interview sought by him, his view of affairs in Kentucky. He disclosed his plans, his wishes and his fears. All were published by Cameron to friend and foe. As a matter of course, nothing was left for Gen. Sherman but to ask his recall. This he did, placing his opinion on record "for the future." He was sent sent to St. Louis, and his conduct was held up to public censure and ridicule.

Soon after he was sent by Halleck to Sedalia, to look after our forces near there. He ordered a concentration and a change of camps. This was telegraphed as an evidence of insanity. But the order was approved by Gen. Halleck, and executed after a full reconnoissance by our engineer officers. General Sherman has not published a defense, nor has he complained to, or of, any one.

No doubt he will disapprove this letter, but I know too well the influences of even temporary errors to disregard them. Does it not occur to you how careful the press and newspapers should be in assailing military officers? They have no means of defence. They can neither write for the newspapers, or make speeches; and yet they are more sensible to assaults, and assaults are more injurious to them, than to any other class or persons.

NORTHERN DOUGHFACES.

An officer of one of the Ohio regiments, writing to the Cincinnati Commercial from Hamburg, Tennessee, April 27th, to correct some erroneous statements, adds:

The time is coming when a battle at home must be fought between those who would yet be free, and the miserable fragments of party politics that are now being nursed up for use when the proper hour arrives. I have never yet been more disgusted with any set of men, than on a recent trip to Ohio in company of some prisoners of war. Not with the rebel officers under my charge, for most of them were gentlemen commanding my respect, as compared with drivers and many politicians at every stopping place, who button-holed my prisoners, and conddled with them over "the unfortunate state of affairs that they had always tried to avoid;" "hoped it would soon be over and we should be brothers and friends again." "I stuck out to the last." "If it hadn't been for Abolitionism we never should have had a war," &c. To have an editor, as at Dayton, for hours closeted with one of the rebel Generals; to be asked by these rebel officers all about Vallandigham, Pugh, and Cox, and hear them boast of their excellent qualities and their patriotism—all these things were but straws; but any man who looks, cannot fail to read, that the relics of the old Breckinridge party (not Democratic) is not dead, but is even now tumbling restlessly in its coffin, and even gets up at nightfall, and walks the alleys about your cities.

Not content with having been tied body and soul, and all we loved almost lost—we come fawning around the authors of our misery, begging to pick the crumbs that may fall from the master's table.

There is nothing truer under the sun, than if a peace is made, until we have whated the devilish negro white man driving spirit out of the leaders of this rebellion, and hang all such men as Jeff Davis, Starke, Bright, Slidell and Vallandigham, our peace will only be nominal. I have more real good feeling for a man who openly comes out and fights, than for the political jugglers, who are now patching up an old political quilt for the second birth from thraldom of our country.

A DESERTER FROM THE YORKTOWN ARMY.

Correspondence of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

A deserter came over from an Alabama regiment, a few days ago. He was well clothed and a fine looking young man. His story was clear and explicit, and his face bore the expression of an honest man; when he had concluded, he was asked what papers he had with him then. Drawing from an inside pocket a greased envelope, he took out three or four letters in a female hand, and a certificate of bounty due "for fifty dollars." "These letters are from my mother; that scrip I received for enlisting; besides the clothes on my back, it is all I ever received. I refused to enlist all along until I learned that a draft was to be made and knowing I would then be called on and put in some menial position, my mother said 'Go now; take the bounty money and go with them to the front, but never fire a gun at a man who is fighting under the good old flag; when an opportunity offers change your position and come back under the old banner to your mother, who will live for you, and pray nightly for your safety.' 'Be cautious,' she said, 'and trust no one until safe in the Union army; then tell your story frankly, and it will all be right.'" The information he brought over is of great value. His name and the regiment we omit for the present, but hope he can soon return to his devoted mother, and for the balance of his life be allowed to pursue his vocation (he is a mechanic) in peace. If there is one thing we should be proud of above all others, it is that in our army of over six hundred thousand men, there is not a single conscript! Every man knows what he is fighting for, and can appreciate the blessings of a free government sufficiently to lay down his life, if need be, in saving it for his children.

CANADIAN RECIPROCITY.—Mr. Spaulding, of New York, has introduced in the House of Representatives a joint resolution to authorize the appointment of commissioners to negotiate a new treaty with the British Government for the British provinces in North America, founded upon the true principles of Reciprocity; and also authorizing the President to give the necessary notice for terminating the present treaty. The resolution authorizes the President to appoint three commissioners to confer with British commissioners to negotiate a new treaty, "based upon true principles of reciprocity, with a view of enlarging the basis of the present treaty, and for the removal of existing difficulties."

Eye & Ear.

Dr. UNDERWOOD,

Of Chicago, Ill., the eminent and skilful operator on the Eye and Ear, whose name and fame is so extensively known throughout the United States, for his science, skill and success in performing formidable operations, and in removing difficult and dangerous diseases from those delicate organs, has arrived in St. Paul and may be consulted at the AMERICAN HOUSE for a short time only.

Dr. U., who is a Regular Physician and Surgeon of the old school, has had an extensive experience in both hospital and private practice of twenty-eight years, and will be found competent to perform any operation necessary to restore lost sight or hearing, or by other mild and gentle means to remove any disease from those delicate organs within the reach of science and human skill.

CHRONIC DISEASES, of every grade and character, whether requiring medical or surgical treatment, POSITIVELY and PERMANENTLY CURED, when not clearly beyond the reach of science and human skill.

Dr. Underwood treats all diseases on regular and scientific principles, as recognized by the medical profession both in Europe and America, and hence does not use or deal in those pretended new and never failing remedies—specifics, inhaling vapors, and clairvoyant prescription—which are so ostentatiously paraded before the public by those impudent traveling quacks and money-fleecing empirics, nine-tenths of whom never were inside of a medical college. Patients afflicted or laboring under diseases of long standing, can consult Dr. U. with the most confident hope and expectation of being perfectly cured, or receiving with unerring certainty all the relief that the highest skill, the most judicious and scientific treatment can possibly bestow.

Among the diseases which the Doctor has lately treated with the most signal success, may be mentioned those of the Heart, Lungs, Liver, Stomach and Bowels—and Nervous Affections, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Salt Rheum and Chronic Female Affections. my7-3m

TRIOMPHE DE GAND.

We unhesitatingly place this variety at the very head of the list of strawberries. Another year's trial has only confirmed our opinion of its superior worth. Were we confined to one variety, it should be the Triomphe de Gand. No other kind, of which we have any knowledge, possess so many excellencies. Indeed, with us, it approaches so nearly perfection as to leave but little more to be desired.

The plants are thrifty, hardy and vigorous growers, bearing their fruit well up, which renders it easily to be kept clean. They are also wonderfully productive with us, and the fruit is not only usually of large size but UNIFORMLY so, and throughout the season, which is longer with it than with most other varieties. The flavor is everything that could be desired. It is of a very beautiful crimson color, glossy and very attractive. It keeps well after being picked, retaining its beautiful color and firmness, and carries better than any other variety.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

☞ This paper has a larger Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly circulation than any other in Minnesota, and therefore presents inducements to advertisers which they will not find elsewhere.

ST. PAUL, SATURDAY, MAY 10.

☞ SEE FOURTH PAGE.

Our dispatches this morning are meager in particulars in regard to Gen. McClellan's movements but announce the stirring fact merely of a battle and a victory over the rebels, in the vicinity of West Point, at the head of York river. He is falling upon them like a thunderbolt, and if not t o much shorn of forces by the division of his former army, seems likely to rapidly re deem his promise, to "drive them to the wall." The rebels, it would seem, are making very good time towards Richmond, but will be a crestfallen and routed, if not an annihilated army before reaching there.

The gunboats Naugatuck, Monitor, and others, it will be seen, have been trying their metal upon the rebel fortifications, and it is not at all unlikely that they may have settled the affairs of the Merrimac ere this writing.

The news from the vicinity of Halleck's army is not of special importance, further than its confirmation of previous intelligence of the rapid augmentation of the enemy's forces by indiscriminate conscription, and the destitution and desperation of the beleaguered rebels.

WHAT HAS COME AND WHAT IS COMING.

Speaking of the recent capture of Baton Rouge, the second city of Louisiana, by our fleet, without resistance, the Louisville Journal, says, the fact that this city is 129 miles this side of New Orleans shows that Commodore Farragut had no disposition to lie long upon his oars after taking the great Southern emporium. From Baton Rouge, it is 141 miles to Natchez, the chief city of Mississippi, and probably ere this the distinguished river travelers have made a visit to her. From Natchez, it is 116 miles to Vicksburg, and their compliments to the latter city will not long be delayed. Then they will come on upward at a brisk rate of locomotion, politely looking in upon Lake Providence, Napoleon, Helena, and next saying a few words to Memphis if indeed they shall find her anything but ashes. After paying a proper salutation to the living Memphis, or indulging in a kind regret for the dead one, they will keep on up to meet Commodore Foote's fleet, when the whole of the hostile river craft, transports, gunboats, rams, and all, will be crushed or captured.

This is certainly a delightful programme, and the performance, we doubt not, will be still more delightful. We have a river-anaconda now as well as a land-anaconda, and both are brisk in their motions. Our water-snake is as nimble an animal as a man need wish to look at. How many gunboats, &c., the rebels have upon the river, we are not reliably informed. We have seen, and so have our readers some startling statements upon the subject. It has been said again and again that fourteen or fifteen iron-sided and iron nosed chaps had been turned out at New Orleans, and that others were ready to get up steam at Memphis, one of the latter a big, black, terrible fellow, carrying twenty guns, and capable of annihilating the whole of Foote's flotilla by his single prowess, or prow. But the more of them there are, and the bigger they are, the better; for our snake, though so lately gorged, is hungry and mad, and ready for anything.

—The fine horse, General McClellan, formerly known as the Pease colt, was recently purchased by a citizen of Augusta, Maine, for the sum of $1,500. The animal is a Drow colt, seven years old, stands 15½ hands high, and when in good flesh will weigh 1,000 pounds.

OUR FINANCIAL CONDITION.

Not the least surprising feature in public affairs, says the Journal of Commerce of the 5th instant, is that, with pretty brisk importations, money is down four or five per cent., in fact, begging for profitable employment, and United States six per cent bonds are above par. They crossed the meridian last Saturday, amid the cheers of the Board of Brokers. What will Mrs. Grundy of the London Times say, of the fact that this occurs at a time when, according to rule in the old world, we ought to have been paying three per cent. a month for money, and been unable to get it at that?

This rise in value is, of course, mainly due to political events. All doubts as to the permanency of the Union are now removed; and the people have the utmost confidence in the ability and good faith of the general government to pay its citizens the loans it has been contracting. Everybody, indeed, is interested in preserving the national honor, since failure to fulfil its obligations would entail pecuniary losses probably equal to the entire national debt.

We are aware that such a sudden inflation may be attended with danger in leading many to rush into unwise speculations at a moment when funds appear to be so abundant. The possibility of this never should be lost sight of for an hour. Still, as our financial calamities visited us so extensively about the outbreak of the war, it is reasonable to hope that with its termination the shock will not be so severe as it was twelve or eighteen months ago.

But is it not marvellous that the money market should be in such a condition now? What other nation can produce such a record of improvement in its finance during a period of active hostilities?

When this rebellion shall be finally and effectually quelled, and our undivided country resumes its onward march in the mighty career awaiting it in the pregnant future, a chaplet as bright as worn by any of our worthy military heroes, will crown the brow of the noble Secretary of the Treasury, who has so skillfully piloted the ship of State through the financial darkness, rocks, shoals and quicksands which have environed her.

Even the malignant efforts of our enemies to injure us have contributed to the favorable position in which we as a nation now stand. The aristocrats of England made war upon our national loans, discouraging foreign capitalists from investing in our bonds, and as a consequence, we have a currency reliable and current all over the United States, saving the people a large amount in the way of exchange, and our government bonds, now considerably above par, are owned by our own people. It is quite probable that the malignant London Times and its sympathizers would not object to owning bonds worth one hundred and ten per cent.; but they can't come in now; they are too late.

—A correspondent writing from Yorktown mentions the wounding of Lieutenant Charles A. Milliken, of Company C, 43d Regiment of New York. "Charley" formerly resided at Wasioja, Dodge county, in this State—the home of Col. George—where his parents now reside. He was struck in the shoulder by a Minie ball. The wound is not, we learn, considered serious.

ARMY CORRESPONDENCE.

Compliment to the Fourth Regiment Band.

To the Editor of the St. Paul Press:

In response to a serenade given by our band to Colonel Bonneville, the following was received from the ladies of his household:

HEADQUARTERS BENTON BARRACKS,
May 3, 1862.

Col. Sanborn, 4th Minnesota, Benton Barracks:

Having enjoyed extreme pleasure from the harmony of the fine band of the Fourth Minnesota Regiment, we beg to offer it, through you, the accompanying cake, made by ourselves, and also our best wishes for your welfare and that of the whole regiment.

MARY VANDERVOOT,
MARY D. BONNEVILLE,
ADELAIDE CLARKE,
KATE VANDERVOORT.

The cake, besides being very excellent, was handsomely decorated with eighteen red, white and blue rosettes, one for each member of the band, and a miniature National flag, which the band presented to the regimental color-bearer.

Colonel Bonneville is commandant of the post and the hero of Irving's thrilling work, "Bonneville's Adventures in the Rocky Mountains."

To morrow morning we leave for Hamburg near Corinth. The regiment is in fine health and spirits, and is complimented as being the best that has been here, both in drill and physique. Excellent feeling prevails between the officers and men. Now for the South. CLINT.

Benton Barracks, May 3, 1062.

FORT SNELLING, May 8, 1862.

To the Editor of the St. Paul Press.

In the article published this morning in the Pioneer, alluding to the recent coward ly assault upon Col. Borgersrode, the impression is created that the Colonel was guilty of a breach of faith towards Mr. Theobald, in his action in the matter of selecting a Sutler for the Fifth Regiment. Of the nature of the obligations upon the part of the Colonel to Mr. Theobald, to which reference is made, I have no knowledge, but whatever they may have been, it is certain that they were discharged as fully as they could have been in the matter of the election of Sutler, for I can state from my own personal knowledge that Col. Borgersrode voted for Mr. Theobald.

L. F. HUBBARD,
Lt. Col. Fifth Regiment.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

We are indebted to Captain Kiefer and Ira Bidwell, Esq., for late Eastern papers.

The Minnesota Fourth Regiment, it is understood, has gone from Benton Barracks to Hamburg, near Pittsburg Landing.

CHURCH NOTICE.—Rev. Chas. R. Shel don, of Excelsior, will preach in the Plymouth Church to-morrow morning and evening.

HARDWARE.—See advertisement of Cherritree & Farwell They have a large stock of goods, which recommend themselves

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.—Persons leaving this city for Chicago or farther East, on Saturday mornings, should notice the advertisement of S. B Forbes, Agent.

ALLOTMENT FUND.—The allotment fund of the First Regiment Minnesota Volunteers, has been received by the State Treasurer. Parties interested, who reside in St. Paul, are requested to call at the office of the State Treasurer.

PAYMENT TO FIFTH REGIMENT.—On yesterday, Major Smith, Paymaster for Minnesota, paid off seven Companies of the Fifth Regiment, stationed at Fort Snelling. He will leave on Tuesday next to pay the other three Companies, stationed at Forts Abercombie, Ripley and Ridgley.

S. B. GILLETT, formerly of the firm of Gillett & Perkins, of this city, and who was in the employ of the Adams' Express Company, at Pensacola, at the outbreak of the rebellion, has made his escape from Dixie, by way of Fort Pickens, and is now again in the employ of the Company at Alexandria, Virginia.

J. M. CASTNER, Coroner of this county, has become infected with the gold fever, and finds his duty leading him strongly in the direction of the newly discovered auriferous region of the Northwest. He is about to start in that direction and gives notice that he has deputised Fleet F. Strother, Esq., to attend to his duties during his absence.

POLICE.—There can be no doubt in the mind of any one that the limited police force of this city are now doing full duty.

The fact that no disturbance of any kind has occurred for several days in a city the size of St. Paul, with a large floating population, is evidence that our efficient policemen are around!

IMPROVEMENTS.—We see a score or more of men and teams moving rubbish, &c., on the corner of Robert and Third Street, preparatory to the erection of a fine three story stone block, ninety feet fronting on Third street, and 83 feet on Robert street, to be divided into four store rooms. Another evidence that we are, notwithstanding the war, recovering from the effects of the crash of 1856–57, and that our city is in a prosperous condition.

PRESENTATION.—To-day, at 3 o'clock there will be presented to Major Gere of the Fifth Regiment Minnesota Volunteers, a splendid horse, saddle, bridle and holsters, by his friends in this city. Col. D. A. Robertson is to make the presention speech. We learn that the officers of the Regiment were the principal contributors. This shows the high estimation in which he is held by his own men, and speaks volumes for the gallant Major.

CHAPLAIN OF THE THIRD REGIMENT.—We learn, with pleasure, that the Rev. B. F. Crary, late Superintendent of Public Instruction, and pastor of the Jackson street M. E. Church, has received the appointment of Chaplain of the Minnesota Third Regiment, vice Chauncey Hobart, resigned. He will also, we understand, act in the capacity of agent for the State in attending to the wants of those of our brave boys who may be sick or wounded. He will depart on Monday for the Regiment, which is with Halleck's army in Tennessee.

The Rev. Mr. Eggleston will succeed him as pastor in the Church above named.

MOVEMENTS OF TROOPS.—The seven companies of the 5th Regiment, Minnesota Volunteers, stationed at Fort Snelling, will leave on Monday next for Hamburg Landing—a few miles from the famous Pittsburg Landing—to join Gen. Halleck's division. The other three companies of this Regiment are stationed at Forts Abercrombie, Ripley and Ridgely, and will not at present leave the frontier.

We have no doubt that if opportunity offers, our Fifth will prove as brave and efficient soldiers as their predecessors, and, by their noble daring, add new lustre to the already proud State from which they go. Minnesota is proud of her brave soldier boys, and well she may be.

FOR CARIBOO.—A party of nine gentlemen, from St. Peter, arrived here this morning, on the steamer Favorite, bound for the Cariboo gold mines They take the overland route by way of Fort Garry. They are supplied with four mule teams, and take supplies for one year. We doubt if a better company has been fitted out for these mines than the one above referred to, as the party is composed of some of the best citizens of St. Peter. The following persons compose the party:

Hon. E. Page Davis, Hon. M. G. Hanscome, W. L. Couplin Esq., J. R. Gardner, Capt. L. D. Fischer, Henry Camhl, —— Cambl, and Mr. Hart.

We are informed that another party of six or eight persons will also leave St. Peter for the same place in the course of the next ten days. As they take cattle, they await for grass to start.

RIVER NEWS.—The Minnesota river has fallen only two inches, the last twenty-four hours.

The Favorite, Clara Hine and Antelope arrived from the Minnesota river yesterday.

The Keokuk, R. R. Packet for LaCrosse, leaves this morning at 8 o'clock, and the Key City, for Prairie du Chien, leaves at the same hour.

The Wilson goes to La Crosse with 19,000 bushels of wheat in bulk, in barges. This is the largest load of grain that has ever been shipped from this State This shipment was principally from this city.

The Sucker State, of the Northern Line, will arrive at noon to-day.

The Clara Hine will commence, on Monday next, making tri-weekly trips to Henderson.

The Favorite, Davidson's Line, left yesterday at four o'clock for Mankato, with a heavy freight.

The Wm. L. Ewing left yesterday with 2,000 barrels of flour from St. Anthony and 1,000 sacks of grain from this port.

The Cutter, one of Davidson's new boats, leaves St. Anthony this morning for St. Cloud, and will make semi-weekly trips during the season.

We of Minnesota greeting: to all the States of the Union say, Where, in the history of new States, has any State so soon after settlement, been able to ship so much grain as Minnesota?

The fact is, we are a farming State; our farmers are of the right stripe—if need be, we will fight too, and leave the boys at home to "tend the farm."

OUR fellow citizen, J. E. Fullerton, Esq., has returned to the city for a few days. He is engaged with Dr. Foster in the Commissary Department at Indianapolis. He reports the Dr. as well, and busily engaged in attending to the "Secesh" prisoners at that place, and in his other duties. We never thought the Dr. a very great stickler for Scripture doctrine, but he carries out the injunction to feed our enemies.

Early Fall of Norfolk Certain.

BALTIMORE, May 9.

The special correspondent of the American sends the following relative to affairs in Hampton Roads and the Peninsula:

FORT MONROE 8.—This has been a most stirring and exciting day at Old Point, and all are anticipating the early fall of Norfolk.

At 11 o'clock the steamer Naugatuck was observed raising steam, and about 12 o'clock moved out by side of the Monitor, which vessel also cleared her deck for action, taking down her awning, and stood forth in full fighting trim.

11:30, the gunboat Dacotah has just moved up in line of battle, together with the sloop of war Seminole and San Jacinto.

The flag ship Minnesota was also under steam.

At 12 o'clock the Naugatuck had moved up towards Elizabeth river, followed by the Monitor and Dacotah in line of battle. The San Jacinto followed slowly.

Heavy firing can still be heard in the direction of James river, fo which you have already been informed by telegram.

The Galena and other gunboats have gone up.

In the meantime the Dacotah, Monitor and Naugatuck had reached the channel and taken a position off Sewalls Point, and the Dakotah fired a shot towards Craney Island. A s cond shot from the Dacotah struck the Beach at Sewall's Point.

12:30.—The Susquehannah moved up and takes the lead of the San Jacinto and Seminole.

No answer from either of the rebel forts, and the Dacotah and Seminole are steaming up Elizabeth river.

The Naugatuck is lying off towards the mouth of James river.

Presently the Dacotah and Monitor approach Craney Island and Sewall's Point. The Dacotah fires every few minutes alternately at Sewall's Point and Craney Island.

The enemy making no reply, although the balls reached their intended destination.

The Monitor is now taking the lead. In he meantime, the Seminole and Susquehanna opened on Sewall's Point, and two shots are fired from the Point, the latter falling short of the Monitor, which is now a mile above the other vessels.

12:40.—The rebels are firing rapidly from Sewall's Point, principally upon the Monitor, while a succession of shells are being poured upon the enemy from the Susquehanna, Dacotah, Seminole and San Jacinto, broadside after broadside. The Rip Raps also throw occasional shell into Sewall's Point.

12:50.—The Susquehanna, Dacotah, San Jacinto and Seminole are pouring shells, and the Monitor threw her first two shells full a mile and a half from the Point.

FORT MONROE, May 8.

Shortly before noon to-day, the Monitor, Naugatuck, Seminole, Susquehanna, Dacotah and San Jacinto, in order named, moved up towards Sewall's Point. Capt. Lardner of the Susquehanna, in command of the expedition. As soon as within range, fire was opened with shot and shell against Sewall's Point. Most of the shots were good ones. It was nearly half an hour before a reply was made from the Point. The Rip Raps next opened fire, and then the Naugatuck for the first time Several shots were fired from the siege gun on the extremity of the Point, when one from the Monitor struck in the vicinity, doubtless disabling the gun, as it has not been fired since.

The position of the Monitor was far in advance of the redoubt of the fleet, and she continued in motion until within a mile or two of the Point, where considerable execution must have been done by her accurate firing.

The Naugatuck kept in the back ground; the range of her Parrot guns enabling her to do so. Sewall's Point replied briskly, and the Rip Raps fired occasionally. A continuous fire was kept up from gunboats. On account of the distance, no details can be given.

Nothing occurred until two o'clock, when the firing was very feeble from the Point.

The Monitor about this time returned from her advanced position, and joined the fleet. At 2:15 a very dense black smoke arose rapidly from the Point, caused probably by the burning of the rebel barracks and other buildings.

At about half past two o'clock the Merrimac made her appearance, when the fleet returned, with the exception of the Monitor. The Merrimac is still (at five o'clock) off the Point. The Monitor is ready to attack her. The Seminole has returned to the lower Roads. There is no prospect of a fight at present.

5:30.—The Monitor has returned; the Merrimac is in the same position.

—Mr. Cobden, Member of Parliament, recently addressed a letter to the President of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce on the subject of international maritime law. In it Mr. Cobden advocates the following three points of reform:

1 The exemption of private property from capture at sea during war by armed vessels of every kind.

2. Blockades to be restricted to naval arsenals, and to towns besieged at the same time on land, with the exception of articles contraband of war.

3. The merchant ships of neutrals on the high seas to be inviolable to the visitation of alien government vessels in time of war as in time of peace.

THE Chicago Burch divorce case which excited no little attention a few months ago, has at last been concluded. After it was decided against her husband in Chicago, Mrs. Burch applied for a divorce in the Circuit Court of Wayne County, Michigan, and her suit was granted on Friday last. It is said that the decree granted is agreeable to both parties, and although the application was made by Mrs. Burch, the benefits of the decree are mutual, by common consent.

THE conclusion of Commodore Farragut's letter to the Mayor of New Orleans, dated from the flag ship Hartford, "off New Orleans, April 26th," and demanding "the unqualified surrender of the city," is significant of the condition of the city. The Commander says:

"I shall speedily and severely punish any person or persons who shall commit such outrages as were witnessed yesterday, of armed men firing upon helpless women and children for giving expression to their pleasure at witnessing the 'old flag.'"

The Mayor does not attempt to deny that there was "pleasure at witnessing the old flag," or that "armed men fired upon helpless women and children;" but with the speech bombast and brutality, he says:

"I beg you to understand that the people of New Orleans, while unable to resist your force, do not allow themselves to be insulted by the interference of such as have rendered themselves odious and contemptible by their desertion of our cause in the mighty struggle in which we are engaged, or such as might remind them too forcibly that they are the conquered and you the conquerors."

The rebel scoundrels seem to be particularly sensitive about the old flag. They have probably before this time learned that they cannot dictate manners to their conquerors. They may feel very badly to see the old flag floating in triumph over the city, but there it is; and if they have any means of helping themselves they are not perceptible.

A KENTUCKIAN ON THE NIGGER QUESTION.

THE CRY OF ABOLITIONIST.

Speech of Colonel Leonidas Metcalfe.

At a meeting of the Union men held in Carlisle, Nicholas county, Kentucky, April 11, a stirring speech was made by Colonel Leonidas Metcalfe, from which we extract as follows:

"I had started to pay my respects to the negro lover of the South. There has been no election since I can remember but the cry of nigger was raised. A constable, coroner, judge or president could not be nominated, but the same old tune was ground. Law after law was passed to tighten the tenure by which we held them. State laws, fugitive laws, territorial legislatures might legislate a white man to the devil, if they choose, if he had nary a nigger; but laws were passed to prevent them from legislating on the subject of nigger. A Republican Congress passed laws to prevent themselves from legislating on negroes in the territories, still the cry was more security, more concessions, until they require all to kneel to Gessler's cap, or else they are not the Simon pure, or at least they are not the Simon Backner pure. They swear that it is God's institution, and that in his sublime wisdom he instigated the trader to the pious calling of catching and chaining the wild African in the hold of some gloomy ship to transport him from his native hills where his soul is in danger, to the cotton fields of America, all for the glory of God and the increase of his kingdom; that their pursuits and pleasures in Africa are loathsome to God; but when they are transported to the cotton fields and learned to raise six bales to the hand, great is his reward, for he now pleaseth the Lord and shall have a seat in Heaven; while the traitors who have so long been protected in making black angels quietly pocket the proceeds of the cotton. To all this you must solemnly promise or swear or you are an Abolitionist. And some of these traitors are helping to populate Heaven with angels only half black. This is no joke; all this has been preached from the pulpit by the said scoty-winged nigger satellites. They do not stop at insulting man, but blaspheme God with their obsequious dallying and pandering to a set of corrupt, fly-blown jackasses, who cannot see any other aim or object on earth through which pleasure or happiness can be scenred but nigger; no other argument in politics but nigger; no other road to Heaven but on the nigger's back. They must have the Missouri compromise, or they will break up the Government. Then the Missouri compromise must be repealed, it ain't fair, or they will knock all the underpinnings from under Uncle Samuel.

"Kansas must be allowed to do as she pleases—no intervention. When Kansas herself attempts to settle her own business, they shift round and attempt to force her to be a slave State against her will. They have been permitted to change ground many times on that subject in the last few years. They are as unreasonable as a baby with a toy; cry if you give it to them, cry if you don't give it to them; and like the spoiled child, they must now be spanked and put to rest. I have heard it preached ever since I can remember, that all we asked was to let us manage our own State affairs as we pleased, particularly our own peculiar institution; that the North wanted to take them away from us without compensation; that if the North would only acknowledge that there is such a thing as property in man, we would be satisfied, now the President offers to us, to let us do just as we please. Buy our negroes if we wish to sell, and if we do not want to sell, why, "keep them and that is the end of it," and we will be protected with them, thereby acknowledging that they are property, and thereby offering to defeat the abolitionists, in taking them without compensation; and also spoiling the grand argument of the disunionists, that Lincoln and his Yankee hordes would take our negroes from us. They are mad at Lincoln for letting us do as we please; some of them denying the rebellion having anything to do with nigger, and therefore, Lincoln is an abolitionist for bringing in the sacred name of nigger at this time. And some Union men are very hard to be pleased with anything the Government does, and such men rarely complain at the iniquity being enacted by the rebels. If Jeff Davis had come out with the same message, they would have pronounced it the most liberal, fair, impartial, statesmanlike document that was ever offered for the consideration of people of common sense. Oh! consistency, thou art a jewel, made of gum elastic, and can be stretched to suit the conscience. The cry of Abolitionist is the whip that is continually held up to scare the ignorant into the Democratic, and now the secession ranks. If you look at this thing with common sense, you are an Abolitionist. If you are for your country, and for the majority ruling, you are an Abolitionist. It is time we put a stop to these insults. They cannot listen to reason. The only thing you can beat common sense into them with is a green sycamore club that will not bounce, or a bullet. A few wholesome truths may be bitter, but nevertheless true. The accusation is very common that the North favors amalgamation. Now, to tell the truth and shame old Nick, it is practiced to a fearful extent throughout the South and Kentucky. Go into any of our towns and see the different shades and colors—

Jet black, buff, and brown
Mongrel, puppy, whelp and hound,

But we will not speak loud on this. Somebody might be listening. You can know every traitor in the land as plainly as you can your hogs, by the ear marks. They have a password, by which you can know them as well in the night as in the day time—that word is. Abolitionist That is the sum total of all their arguments.

I will relate an anecdote that shows a Virginian's ideas on the nigger question, and it is true. I heard it. Traveling in Virginia, I stopped at night at a house where they were holding a meeting, and any one seemed to have a right to tell what he knew. A spry young man took the pulpit, and let out on the crucifixion, as follows: "My brethereu, how meek was our Savior—they crucified him; they put a crown of thorns on his head; they stuck a spear in his side, and they drove nails through his hands, and he never said a word a bit more than if he had been a nigger." Fellow citizens, you all know that nigger is the raw head and bloody bones, the scarecrow, that is continually held up to your view, never ceasing agitation. You must stand sentinel all night, you must stand sentinel all day, with your musket, over your darling black angels, while they work in the field, to keep somebody from stealing them. And you must stand watch to keep down insurrection—eternal vigilance is the price of nigger. All of this hue and cry is kept up when there is not the slightest danger.

Well, gentleman, does not all of this suggest to your mind a gleam of common sense? Does not the weary sentinel begin to ask himself, when will the relief come around? But no relief ever comes. Ah, me! when or how shall I ever find time to enjoy myself with my loved ones? Where is the happiness this sacred institution is to produce? When shall I rest? Now I see this never-ending clamor has at last beat it into my head that I had better take the the value of these gems from Afric's burning sands, and will invest in something that will not forever disturb my peace, use the musket on traitors, and take the hoe myself. Nigger and cotton has produced this rebellion, and should be made foot the bill. There is a big nigger scare still on our Congress. They shrink, afraid to take the bull by the horns; it is not just that loyal men should fight out their battles to save their country from iniquity and traitors, and then pay the damages they have caused. China had to foot the bill with England. Mexico had to come up to the clerk's office and settle, and the Swiss rebels had to pay for all the dishes they broke; and about twenty-five dollars per head on nigger and two cents on cotton, will soon pay for educating the Southern mind.

ORPHEUS C. KERR

SURGERY IN THE ARMY—THE COTTON SEMINARY.

From the New York Sunday Mercury.

EDITOR T. T.:—There is something about a sick room, my boy, that makes me think seriously of my latter end, and recogcize physicians as true heroes of the battle field. The subdued swearing of the sufferer on his bed, the muffled tread of the venerable nurse, as she comes into the room to make sure that the brandy recommended by the doctor is not too mild for the patient, the sepulchral shout of the regimental cat as she recognizes the tread of Lord Mortimer, the sergeant's bull terrier, outside; all these are things to make the spectator remember that we are but dust, and that to return to dust is our dustiny.

Early in the week, my boy, a member of the Pennsylvania Mudlarks was made sick in a strange manner. A draft of picked men from certain regiments were ordered for a perilous expedition down the river. You may be aware, my boy, that a draft is always dangerous to dangerous constitutions, and, as the Mudlark happened to burst into a profuse perspiration about the time he found himself standing in this draft, he, of course, took such a violent cold that he had to be put to bed directly. I went to see him, my boy; and whilst he was relating to me some affecting anecdotes of the time when he used to keep a bar, a member of the Medical Staff of the United States of America came in to see the patient.

This venerable surgeon first deposited a large saw, a hatchet, and two pickaxes on the table, and then, says he:

"How do you find yourself, my boy?"

The mud-lark took a small chew of tobacco with a melancholly air, and says he:

"I think I've got the guttar in my head, Mr. Sawbones, and am about to join the angel choir."

"I see how it is," says the surgeon, thoughtfully; "you think you've got the guitar, when it's only the drum of your ear that's affected. Well," says the surgeon, with sudden pleasantness, as he reached after the saw and one of the pick-axes, "I must amputate your left leg at once."

The mud-lark curled himself up in bed like a wounded anaconda, and says he:

"I don't see it in that light."

"Well," says the surgeon, in a sprightly manner, "then suppose I put a fly-blister on your stomick, and only amputate your right arm?"

The surgeon was formerly a blacksmith, my boy, and got his diploma by inventing some pills with iron in them. He proved that the blood of six healthy men contained enough iron to make six horse shoes, and then invented the pills to cure hoarseness.

The sick chap reflected on what his medical adviser said, and then says he:

"Your words convince me that my situation must be most dangerous. I must see some relative before I permit myself to be dissected."

"Whom would you wish to send for?" says the surgeon.

"My grandmother, my dear old grandmother," says the mud-lark with much feeling.

The surgeon took me cautiously aside, and says he:

"My poor patient has a cold in his head and his life depends, perhaps, on the gratification of his wishes. You have heard him ask for his grandmother," says the surgeon softly, "and as his grandmother lives too far away to be sent for, we must practice a little harmless deception. We must send for Secretary Welles, of the Navy Department, and introduce him as the grandmother. My patient will never know the difference."

I took the hint, my boy, and went after the Secretary, but the latter was so busy examining a model of Noah's Ark that he could not be seen. Happily, however, the patient recovered, while the surgeon was getting his saw filed, and was well enough last night to reconnoitre in force.

The Mackerel Brigade being still in quarters before Yorktown, I am at leisure to scroll about the Southern Confederacy, my boy; and on Thursday I paid a visit to Cotton Seminary, just beyond Alexandria, where the Southern intellect is taught to fructify and expand. This celebrated institution of learning is on one floor, with a large chimney and a heavy mortgage upon it, and a number of windows supplied with ground glass—or, rather, supplied with a certain openness as regards the ground.

Upon entering this majestic edifice, the master, Prex Peyton, descended at once from the barrel on which he was seated, and gave me a true Virginia welcome:

"Though you may be a Lincoln horde," says he, in a manorial manner, "the republic of intellect recognizes you only as a man. The Southern mind knows how to recognize a soul, apart from its outer circumstances; for what say the logicians? Deus est anima brutorem! Take a seat on yonder barrel, friend Hessian, and you shall hear the wisdom of youthful minds. First class in computation stand up!"

As I took a seat, my boy, the first class in computation came to the front; and it is my private impression, my boy—my private impression—that each child's father was the owner of a rag plantation at some period of his life.

"Boys," says the master, "how is the table of Confederate money divided?"

"Into pounds, shillings and pence."

Right. Now, Master Mason, repeat the table."

Master Mason, who was a germ of a first family, took his fingers out of his mouth, and says he:

"Twenty pounds of Confederate bonds make one shilling, twenty shillings make one penny, six pennies one drink."

"That's right, my pretty little cherubs," says the master. "Now go and take your seats, and study your bowie knife exercises. Class in geography, stand up."

The class in geography consisted of one small Southern Confederacy, my boy, with a taste for tobacco.

"Master Wise," says the master confidently, "can you tell us where Africa is?"

Master Wise snifled intelligently, and says he:

"Africa is situated at the corner of Spruce and Nassau streets, and is bounded on the north by Greeley, on the south by Slavery, on the east by Sumner, and on the west by Lovejoy."

"Very true, my bright little fellow," says the master; "now go back to your chawing."

"You see, friend Hessian," says the master, turning to me, "how much superior Southerners are, even as children, to the depraved Yankees. In my teaching experience, I have known scholars only six years old to play poker like old members of the church, and a pupil of mine euchred me once in ten minutes."

I thanked him for his courtesy, and was proceeding to the door, when I observed four boys in one corner, with their mouths so distorted that they seemed to have subsisted upon a diet of persimmons all their lives.

"Venerable pundit," says I, in astonishment, "how came the faces of those offspring so deformed?"

"Oh!" says the master complacently, "that class has been studying Carlyle's works."

I retired from Cotton Seminary, my boy, with a firm conviction of the ability of popular education, and a hope that the day might come when a Professorship of Old Sledge would be created in the New York University.

Yours, for a higher civilization,
ORPHEUS C. KERR.

THE GRAVE OF BUNYAN.—"Sleep on, thou Prince of Dreamers!" said Dr. Maginn, as he turned away from the resting-place of the author of "Pilgrim's Progress."

On a bright summer morning of last year, says the editor of the New York Magazine, we stood in Bunhill Fields, the Westminster Abbey of the old Puritans. There are a thousand monuments; and all are left undisturbed in the heart of roaring London. The chief attraction is a plain slab, on which is written:

MR. JOHN BUNYAN,
AUTHOR OF THE "PILGRIM'S PROGRESS."
Died August 31, 1688,
AGED 60.

A model epitaph. No impertinence of eulogy over such dust as lies beneath that simple tomb. For well nigh two centuries the marvelous dreamer has slept in that lowly grave, but his spirit still walks the earth with his armor on, with a roll of assurance in his hand, and his radiant face towards the celestial city.

The Register says:

"Our Glencoe readers will remember a young man by the name of Smith, who came in a year ago last June with H. C. Giltner Esq., from Wisconsin. He enlisted last summer with Sergeant A. H. Reed, of Company K, Second Regiment Minnesota Volunteers. We learn that Mr. Smith was taken with the measles in Kentucky, and died recently at Lebanon Hospital. He was one of the bravest of the brave at the battle of Mill Spring, and was one of the best and most reliable young men in the State. His venerable parents reside on the prairie west of Glencoe. He was an only boy, and his loss is severely felt by them. This is the first death that we have heard from in the army from this county.

SUGAR-MAKING is said to have proved quite profitable this spring in the "Big Woods," several parties making from ten to twenty-five hundred pounds. One company back of Champlin, is said to have made five tons.

MAY.—DYSPEPSIA.—This is a very distressing complaint, and gives the patient more suffering than almost any other disease. In fact, it is a combination of many complaints in one. The symptoms are numerous, and of the nature of almost all other complaints combined. From this fact arise the very many cases where this disease is mistaken for some other and so improperly treated. The first symptoms, indigestion, flatulency, loss of appetite, heartburn, headache etc., if neglected, almost always awaken some dormant disease, and send the poor sufferer to a premature grave. What you must first do is to cleanse the blood and regulate the bowels—do this with the "Mountain Herb Pills," and you can bid defiance to dyspepsia.

CASH CAPITAL.....$100,000
NETT SURPLUS..... 129,000

DIVIDENDS ON CAPITAL LIMITED BY ITS CHARTER TO 7 PER CENT PER CENT PER ANNUM —THE ENTIRE PROFITS GO TO THE POLICY HOLDERS.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the Insurance Department of the State of New York, in U. S. bonds, on which it allows but 7 per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The nett profits in two years amounts to $129,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of Life Insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the ablest business men of the country and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

The Old Established
CROCKERY HOUSE
OF
R. MARVIN,

SENDS GREETING TO HIS CUSTOMERS IN MINNESOTA, IN DAKOTA TERRITORY, AND BEYOND THE BRITISH LINE.

That being one of the Oldest Business Houses in the State, (the present being the eleventh year of its existence,) R. MARVIN feels confident that he need not urge its claims on the public patronage. The extent of country over which its business has spread is the best proof that its claims are not unrecognized. The unwavering determination which he has felt since the crisis, and in the hardest times, to maintain his business and place it on a par with similar establishments in the largest cities of the West, have been so fully appreciated by the merchants of the State, that he feels bound to redouble his efforts, not only for the benefit of his business, but for the pride he feels in his adopted city.

Mr. R. would call on the citizens of St. Paul, and especially the old residents who remember "the day of small things," not to forget that he still has a

JAPANESE WHEAT.

A NEW KIND OF GRAIN KNOWN AS JAPANESE WHEAT IS INTRODUCED TO THE PUBLIC AND FARMERS OF MINNESOTA.

By the subscribers, who have grown it on their place last year. This remarkable Wheat is amazingly productive, producing over one hundred bushels to the acre. It matures in seventy days from the time it is sown, and weighs fifty six pounds to the bushel The heads of the grain average ten inches in length. It ripens while the leaves and stalk are green. The stalk is so strong that it never lodges during the most severe storms. It will fatten hogs as well as corn, and at less than one half of the expense. It produces from three to six tons of fodder to the acre fully equal to the best timothy or clover hay. Its nutritious qualities are such that all kinds of stock prefer it to any of the grasses used for fodder, after a very large proportion of the grain is threshed off. It will stand the most severe drouth. It is excellent for feeding poultry. It yields thirty pounds of Flour to the bushel.

Price—ONE DOLLAR per package, with full directions.

☞ One package sown as directed, will produce enough seed to raise next year from 600 to 800 bushels of the Wheat.

Sold by the following Agents in St. Paul:
R. Galloway; J. C. Raguet & Co.;
Day & Jenks; Chas. Welde & Bros.;

SITUATED ON PHALON'S CREEK, WHERE THE STILLWATER ROAD CROSSES.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first-class Mill o this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good Flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.

NEWS FROM THE SOUTH.

SCARCITY OF PROVISIONS, CLOTHING, ETC.

Drafting for the Rebel Army.

PRICE'S ARMY AT FORT PILLOW AND CORINTH.

REBEL FORCE AT CORINTH 110,000.

PITTMAN'S FERRY, Ark., May 8.

Two gentlemen, who have been in the South since the commencement of the blockade, arrived here to-day. They left Memphis two weeks since, coming to Jacksonport on the steamer Sam Hale, which arrived there last Tuesday, but her officers, hearing our troops were marching on that town, she immediately started down the river. Our troops reached there the following evening.

Provisions, clothing and all merchandise is very scarce throughout the South.

Tennessee money is at a premium of 20 per cent and 100 per cent.

Drafting for the army is going on regardless of position and many Union men are fleeing to the mountains and swamps. Fort Pillow's only defense on the Mississippi is considered secure on the water side.

Price's army has gone to Fort Pillow and Corinth.

The force at Corinth is supposed to be 110,000.

Fifteen boats are now at Little Rock, taking on board 12,000 Arkansas troops for Corinth. The rivers have been very high, and Napoleon is now flooded.

Released.

BOSTON, May 9.

Capt. Michael Henry, formerly commander of the steamer Columbia, was released from Fort Warren yesterday.

LATEST NEWS BY MAIL.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The Senate will, without unnecessary delay proceed to consider the tax bills which have been presented, and it is thought the report of the Committee on Finance will be adopted without material change. The tax of 20c per gallon on whisky, and 20c per pound on tobacco, it is estimated, will yield $40,000,000.

CINCINNATI, May 7.—In the United States Circuit Court at the April term of 1861, the Grand Jury found an indictment of treason against James W. Chenoweth for furnishing supplies and munitions of war to the rebels. At the present term, ex Senator Pugh, counsel for the defendant, moved to quash the indictment on the ground that the first clause of section third, article third, of the Constitution, which provides that treason shall consist only in levying war, relers to rebellion, while the second clause, or adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort, relates only to a public war with a foreign enemy. Justice Swayne gave his decision yesterday, sustaining the motion by quashing the indictment. To-morrow's Inquirer contains the decision at length.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Private advices state that Gen. Banks' army was at New Market, waiting for forage and provisions.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Special Cairo to Times.—By an arrival from Fort Henry, I learn that it is probable that not less than 200 Nebraska cavalry were captured in the recent skirmish with the rebels, who were under Clay King, instead of Jeff. Thompson, as first reported. The affair occurred 12 miles west of Fort Heiman, on the opposite side of the river from Fort Henry.

A strong force has been sent in pursuit of the rebels.

The rumored evacuation of Corinth and its occupation by the federals is reported by every arrival of deserters. There is no doubt Beauregard, while holding his forces in line of battle, is gradually falling back on Grand Junction.

The opinion gains ground that there will be no general engagement between the two armies at their present position.

The United States gunboat Huron captured, on the 19th ult., off Charleston, the schooner Glide, of Charleston, while attempting to run the blockade. She was bound to Nassau, and was loaded with 1,000 bales of cotton and five tierces of rice. Her papers and log-book were thrown overboard during the chase.

MINERS' STRIKE AT POTTSVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—The strike among the miners near Pottsville, Pa., is becoming serious. The employers not complying with their demands, the miners stopped the pumps, causing great damage to the property from flooding the mines. Several of the infantry companies of home guards leave this afternoon to prevent further damage.

—The Milwaukee Sentinel speaks of a newly invented machine which it thinks is destined to supersede the plow on most of our Western farms. It is said to pulverize the earth to the depth of nine inches much better than a plow can do it, and with the same power moves just as fast, and prepares a breadth of ground equal to three furrows of the common plow.

THE Homestead bill has at last passed the Senate, with only seven dissenting votes and will without doubt soon become a law.

GOV. HARVEY.

The body of the late Gov. Harvey, of Wisconsin, was interred at Madison on Thursday, with appropriate ceremonies. The Governor was a very worthy man, and his sudden death has cast a gloom over the State thus bereft so suddenly of his services, which is shared by other States. He could scarcely have died in a more noble cause, or surrounded by circumstances more directly calculated to embalm his name in the memory and affections of posterity.

The Milwaukee Sentinel gives the following circumstances in regard to the discovery and possession of the body:

The steamer Lady Pike, with a large number of soldiers and most of the surgeons recently appointed by Governor Morton of Indiana, on her voyage to Pittsburg Landing, was hailed by a loyal Tennesseean living at a point on the right bank of the Tennessee river, about six miles below Savannah—the place where the Governor met his melancholy death—and was informed that the body had been rescued from the river and was interred about a mile below, on the same side of the river, at a place called the People's Landing. On hearing this most welcome intelligence, the Captain of the Lady Pike immediately ordered the boat to land, take Mr. Britt (our informant) on board, and proceed at once to the place of burial. On reaching the mournful spot designated, a squad of armed soldiers under the command of Lieutenants Seward, Second Kentucky Cavalry, and H. B. Mears, of the Thirty fifth Indiana Volunteers, accompanied by Hon. Daniel McCook, of Illinois, and a few other gentlemen, were detailed to go ashore and disinter the remains, and also collect his personal effects, consisting of a gold watch, money, papers, &c., all of which had been placed in loyal and honest hands, and bring them aboard. The body was found in the rude grave within three feet of the water's edge, about two feet and a half below the surface of the ground. We learned that it was first seen on Sunday, 28th inst., floating in the water, by a party of children who were straggling along the river, who induced a negro to bring it to shore where it was divested of all valuables and buried as it was found. The remains being exhumed, Capt. Fosdick, of the Twenty ninth Indiana Volunteers, carefully removed the clothing, cleansed the corpse, and it was placed on board of the boat to be delivered at headquarters at Pittsburg Landing.

—A new factory has been lately erected in Brooklyn, N. Y., for the manufacture of the new weapons, Moore's breach loading carbines and pistols. It will be directed exclusively to the manufacture of breach-loading carbines and army revolvers, for which the Government has already advertised.

The breach-loading carbine, intended for cavalry and dragoon service, says a New York paper, is pronounced the most perfect weapon of its class ever known. The revolving pistol, has been improved so that it has superior advantages over any other weapon in use; in that it has rifled chambers and is so arranged that it can not be accidentally discharged. The breech-loading rifle is also regarded as a superior weapon.

The establishment will be prepared to deliver these classes of weapon by July, at the rate of one thousand per month.

—The Goodhue Volunteer, of the 7th inst, learns that a letter has been received by Mrs. Geo. Parker, stating that the initials of Solon A. Bevans' name appear in the list of killed in an Ohio regiment, to which the S. A. Bevans formerly of Red Wing, belonged, at the battle of Pittsburg Landing. We hope there may be some mistake about it, but, coming from interested parties, the report is worthy of considerable credit. Many friends will regret his untimely death, if he is indeed among the martyrs in the cause of the Union.

The same paper says that thirteen large rafts of logs have just been towed through Lake St. Croix.

THE protest of the rebel leaders against any severe measures on the part of our Government and their deprecation of the horrors of bloodshed, remind one of a certain Frenchman, who, having murdered his parents under circumstances of great barbarity, was tried and convicted, and on being asked by the judge if he had any reason why sentence of death should not be passed on him, replied:

"May it please your honor, I think the Court ought to be merciful to a poor orphan!"

THE Government mail service, according to the National Intelligencer, has been thoroughly revised and improved this season by placing new routes in operation, increasing the frequency of trips on the old, and infusing additional vigor into every part of the system. A reform was needed.

NEW YORK MARKET.

(By Telegraph.)

NEW YORK, May 9.

Flour—Market heavy; 5c lower.
Wheat—Market heavy, and 2c lower.

The Milwaukee Sentinel, of the 8th, says:—The receipts of wheat in this city yesterday amounted to within 10,000 bushels of the receipts for the whole of last week at Chicago. The receipts of wheat for the last two weeks are unprecedented in extent for this season of the year.

Sales to the amount of 17,000 bushels were reported on 'Change at 81c for No. 2, 85@85½ for No. 1 in store, 87@88c for nice samples of club, and 93c for choice red winter. The sales of No. 1 were chiefly at 85c, but after the New York report had been received 84c was the best price offered for that quality, though 81c was still offered for No. 2 in store. No bagged wheat was sold. It will be noticed receipts are over 77,000 bushels.

The arrivals of produce at Buffalo during the 48 hours ending Sunday night are in extent without a parallel in the history of that place. The grain aggregate was 2,240,729 bushels; and reducing flour 2,257,014 bushels, the totals of leading articles being as follows:

Flour, bbls	29,365
Wheat, bus	1,693,510
Corn, bus	369,201
Oats, bus	51,099
Barley, bus	98,329
Rye, bus	28,110
Bacon, lbs	838,114
Lard, lbs	518,110

The Chicago Tribune of the same date says, there was a perfect stampede in the wheat market and we had to note a decline of 3@5c ₱ bu. The depreciation in No. 1 Spring was about 3c ₱ bushel with sales at 80@82c, but in No. 2 Spring there was quite a panic, and the market was quite irregular and unsettled—sellat a range of 65@78c, according to the warehouse in which it was stored and the date of receipts. The day's transactions did not exceed 55,000 bushels.

Eye & Ear.

DR. UNDERWOOD,

Of Chicago, Ill., the eminent and skilful operator on the Eye and Ear, whose name and fame is so extensively known throughout the United States, for his science, skill and success in performing formidable operations, and in removing difficult and dangerous diseases from those delicate organs, has arrived in St. Paul and may be consulted at the AMERICAN HOUSE for a short time only.

Dr. U., who is a regular Physician and Surgeon of the old school, has had an extensive experience in both hospital and private practice of twenty-eight years, and will be found competent to perform any operation necessary to restore lost sight or hearing, or by other mild and gentle means to remove any disease from those delicate organs within the reach of science and human skill.

CHRONIC DISEASES, of every grade and character, whether requiring medical or surgical treatment, POSITIVELY and PERMANENTLY CURED, when pot clearly beyond the reach of science and human skill.

Dr. Underwood treats all diseases on regular and scientific principles, as recognized by the medical profession both in Europe and America, and hence does not use or deal in those pretended new and never failing remedies—pecifics, inhaling vapors, and clairvoyant prescription—on which are so ostentatiously paraded before the public by those impudent traveling quacks and money-fleecing empirics, nine-tenths of whom never were inside of a medical college. Patients afflicted or laboring under diseases of long standing, can consult Dr. U. with the most confident hope and expectation of being perfectly cured, or receiving with unerring certainty all the relief that the highest skill, the most judicious and scientific treatment can possibly bestow.

Among the diseases which the Doctor has lately treated with the most signal success, may be mentioned those of the Heart, Lungs, Liver, Stomach and Bowels—and Nervous Affections, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Salt Rheum and Chronic Female Affections. my7-3m

TRIOMPHE DE GAND.

We unhesitatingly place this variety at the very head of the list of strawberries. Another year's trial has only confirmed our opinion of its superior worth. Were we confined to one variety, it should be the Triomphe de Gand. No other kind, of which we have any knowledge, possess so many excellencies. Indeed, with us, it approaches so nearly perfection as to leave but little more to be desired.

The plants are thrifty, hardy and vigorous growers, bearing their fruit well up, which renders it easily to be kept clean. They are also wonderfully productive with us, and the fruit is not only usually of large size but TEMPORARY so, and throughout the season, which is longer with it than with most other varieties. The flavor is everything that could be desired. It is of a very beautiful crimson color, glossy and very attractive. It keeps well after being picked, retaining its beautiful color and firmness, and carries better than any other variety.

We claim that all articles sent out from our establishment are what they profess to be—true to name—and of good quality. Our prices, we think, are reasonable—not "below" or "at cost" of production, but such as to afford a fair profit, to which, we think, we are justly entitled. We are not ambitious to give to our establishment the reputation of a low priced nursery, but one where a genuine article of the best quality can be had, and that will give satisfaction to the purchaser.

THE SAINT PAUL DAILY PRESS.

VOLUME II. ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA, SUNDAY, MAY 11 1862. NUMBER 113.

The Saint Paul Press.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

☞ This paper has a larger Daily, Tri-Weekly and Weekly circulation than any other in Minnesota, and therefore presents inducements to advertisers which they will not find elsewhere.

ST. PAUL, SUNDAY, MAY 11.

The dispatches this morning do not give any general or decisive achievement of our armies farther than those heretofore given, though they give much of interest from many quarters.

It seems the rebel flotilla on the Mississippi has attempted the project which it is well understood to have entertained for some time, of making a dash at our fleet for the purpose of capturing or destroying some of the troublesome customers in it. As usual, after a short engagement, they "retired."

Gen. Grant has attacked and routed a portion of the forces of the enemy near Corinth, and their forces seem about to "retire" to another place—provided Gen. Halleck will let them.

Gen. Fremont is moving with great earnestness in his department, and at the latest advices was engaged with the enemy in the vicinity of Staunton. We shall soon expect to hear of his taking possession of that place, the most important in that section of Virginia.

The late battle near Williamsburg increases in proportions as we get more full particulars. It was a brilliant engagement and quite disastrous to the enemy. The "cold steel" with which the rebels threatened us at the outstart, does not seem to be relished when tried on them.

The work goes bravely on. For more full particulars consult the various dispatches in another place.

—A telegraphic dispatch just received here, from Lieut. Leue states, that Capt. Von Minden, of this city, is a prisoner, but well. This dispatch is a day later than that from Paducah, published in the Chicago papers, which referred to him as being badly wounded.

NEWS ITEMS.

—There is living in Rocky Hill, Ct., a colored man, known as "Old Murray," who is one hundred and seventeen years old this month.

—Assistant Postmaster General Kasson has given an opinion that handbills cannot be inclosed in newspapers and sent through the mail, without subjecting them to letter postage.

—The niece of Smithson, the Englishman by whose will the Smithsonian Institute was established, has recently bequeathed to the Institute £200 000.

—The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says that the French minister stated to a United States Senator that if the news of the capture of New Orleans was true, the head of the rebellion was crushed.

—Wright Kendrick, of the 40th Tennessee regiment killed one of his fellow prisoners named J. J. Dawson, at Camp Butler, on the 3d inst. They got into a quarrel, when Kendrick struck the other with a billet of wood, breaking his skull.

—Claiborne Fox Jackson, traitor ex-Governor of Missouri, is living at Des Arc, Arkansas, with a son-in-law. He is reported to be as poor as a church mouse, and not to feel pretty well himself generally.

—It is asserted that the first information of the evacuation of Yorktown was communicated by a fugitive slave; and it is known that a contraband warned General McDowell not to cross to Fredericksburg weak handed, as there was a strong rebel force there in ambush.

—The LaCrosse Republican says the steamer Ellwood, on Fox river, Wisconsin, on the 2d inst., on her upward trip, had gone through the fourth lock, and while passing the dam at that place, struck a snag, which turned her into the current. The officers, though skilful men, could not control her, and she rapidly went over the dam sideways! As she was passing over, an Indian and German jumped overboard and were both drowned. The boat miraculously escaped all damage.

—The Toronto Globe comes to us jubilant over the result of a provincial election, in which "Her Majesty's Solicitor General has been defeated in the Sangreen country" by a large majority. It is claimed that by this election a victory has been gained for the principle of "Representation by Population," and that it demonstrates "how completely destitute the Ministers are of public confidence in Upper Canada."

It is a noticeable fact that the Globe publishes nearly as much war news as our own papers, which is a pretty sure indication that our Canadian friends feel a strong interest in the issues of the present contest.

—The Richmond Dispatch says that the conditions on which the Hon John M. Botts was released from his imprisonment in Castle Godwin by the Court of Inquiry that examined the charge of disloyalty preferred against him, are, first, that after being permitted to go to his residence in Henrico county, he shall, with all convenient speed, prepare to remove to a location further South; and when the same is indicated by him, it must be approved by the War Department of the C. S. government. It has already been intimated that, had not Mr. Botts, with his characteristic obstinacy, declared himself neutral in the present war, the Court of Inquiry would have recommended his discharge.

FROM PARSON BROWNLOW.

A statement from a secession sheet, to the effect that the family of Brownlow were favorable to the Southern Confederacy, has called out a letter from him, which is published in the Philadelphia Press of the 5th, in which he says:

"Every member of my family old enough to appreciate the horrors of this infernal rebellion, despises the so-called Confederacy and the unprincipled villains who inaugurated it. The only difference between me and them is, that I claim to be capable of despising the wicked concern, and all connected with originating it, with more intense hatred than they can. But, then, I have trained them up "in the nurture and admonition of the Lord," which implies obedience to law and order, and an undying hatred of Secession and its guilty authors."

The Parson goes on to speak of the rebel atrocities witnessed in his home in East Tennessee:

"The work of murder, arrests, and imprisonments, goes bravely on in East Tennessee, as my family inform me, who left Knoxville the latter part of last week. They were shooting Union men down in the streets, arresting hundreds, and shooting down fifty or sixty, in one instance, after they had surrendered and were under an arrest. They marched between three and four hundred through the streets, with some of them bare-footed, and their feet bleeding, taking them to the depot and shipping them to Atlanta, Georgia, to work upon their fortifications. These men, denied water, would lift out of mud puddles in the streets, with their hands, after a rain, what they could to quench their thirst.

"In God's name, I call upon President Lincoln, and upon his Cabinet and army officers, to say how long they will suffer a loyal people, true to the Union and to the Government of their fathers, to suffer in this way? The Union men of East Tennessee are largely in the majority, say three to one, but they have no arms; they are in the jails of the country; they are working on rebel fortifications, like slaves under the lash, and no Federal force has ever yet been marched into that oppressed and downtrodden country."

CARPERS.

It is curious how some men pride themselves on their general disbelief and "independence of mind," as they are pleased to term it. These gentlemen who are so chary of accepting well authenticated facts and authorities and pride themselves on their ingullibility by others are generally the very ones who are most egregiously gulled—self-gulled. In rejecting established truths they adopt in their stead crude and improbable theories, to prepare the mind for which it would seem that steady training in a Munchausen school would be necessary. They reject Bible truths, and in their stead they dandle on the knees of their faith the incoherent imaginations and lucubrations of their own brains; they scout generally received theological theories which "do not commend themselves to their better judgment" and adopt an "inspiration of truth," which from its character one might be led to suspect was plagiarized from "Mother Goose"

We have kindred examples of this spirit in the wholesale, "independent" and slashing criticisms upon our military matters. The military plans of our Generals are just as they shouldn't be; the government is very short-sighted and badly posted in the conduct of national affairs; if this General had done this, or the Government had possessed the foresight to have done that, how much better it would have been. Yet most of these very carpers, who have no faith in our Generals, who condemn their plans and the policy of the Government, exercise great faith in the military plans and criticisms of a bilious, over worked editor, corked up in his office a thousand miles away, and seem to think that most any captious individual understands the exigencies of the position of our national affairs better than the officers of the Government.

We have long since learned that fault-finding and nobility are not synonyms of wisdom

A PHILADELPHIA paper in giving a sketch of Captain Ericsson and his famous battery, says the very name of the Monitor is a grave reproach to England. In a letter addressed to the Secretary of the Navy at Washington, Captain Ericsson said that the "iron-clad intruder he had constructed—she was launched on the 101st working day from the time she was commenced—would be a true Monitor to the rebel leaders," and added: "But there are other leaders who will also be startled and admonished by the booming of the guns from the impregnable iron turret. Downing street will hardly view with indifference this last Yankee notion—this Monitor. To the Lords of the Admiralty the new craft will be a 'Monitor,' suggesting doubts as to the propriety of completing those four steel-clad ships at three millions and a half a piece"

The London Illustrated Times gives a key to the better apprehension of the above. It says, "Ericsson, the contriver of the Monitor, is a Swede; he was in England some years ago, and was in communication with the Admiralty, but was considered a mere scientific dreamer—a projector of impossibilities—and was politely bowed 'out.' Well, Time at last does set all things even, and brings about its own revenges. The British Admiralty sneered at Ericsson's impracticability, and lo! he invents a marine steam-battery which reduces the "Wooden Walls of Old England" into nonentity.

—The New York Tribune, in referring to the detracting criticisms upon Secretary Stanton for not sending McDowell's corps to reinforce Gen. McClellan, says he did send half of it, and the reason he did not send the rest, is perfectly overwhelming, but cannot now be made public with safety to the public service. The Secretary and his adviser, Gen. Halleck, it is quite probable, have as correct an idea of matters as certain hypercritical journalists. At all events, it is not best to "jump before we get to the fence."

—The amount wanted to lay down and put in operation a new submarine Atlantic cable, is $3,500,000.

THE Executive Committee of the Minnesota Bible Society will meet at the Depository to-morrow morning (Monday) at eleven o'clock. J. G. RIHELDAFFER, Sec'y.

POLICE.—Henry Dike was committed in default of bail for assault and battery. John Milton, of the Fifth Regiment, was arrested and commited for disorderly conduct.

PROPOSALS.—We direct attention to the advertisement of Captain T. M. Saunders, acting Commissary of Subsistence, for proposals for furnishing rations at Fort Snelling for prisoners.

DISTRICT COURT.—The jury was discharged on Friday until Monday morning.

The business of yesterday was hearing motions &c., of very little importance to our readers.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.—From and after Monday next, the rooms of this Association will be open only from 4 o'clock P. M. on Saturday of each week. M. J. Matthews, the gentlemanly librarian, will be on hand to attend to new and old members as they call.

ADORN YOUR GROUNDS.—A very desirable collection of choice shrubs, roses, evergreen, fruit trees, &c., can be found at G. W. Babcock's Sewing Machine Depot, French's Block, Third street. He has also just received a large lot of Triomphe de Gand strawberry plants. Call and see him.

CHARITY.—An invalid widow lady, residing near Trout brook, who is dependant on the earnings of small children for support, is now in distitute circumstances. Articles of clothing or provisions for the family will reach their destination if left at Stees' Furniture store. The object is worthy, and relief should not be delayed.

ST. PAUL, May 10, 1862.

Persons having friends in the Second, Third or Fourth Regiments of Infantry, the First, Second or Third Companies of Cavalry, or the First and Second Companies of Artillery, can send letters or small packages direct to them by leaving them with Mr. Terry at the Post Office.

They should be left by Monday noon.

B. F. CRARY.

INSTRUMENTS FOR THE FIFTH REGIMENT BAND.—On yesterday, Professor Munger received a full set of Instruments for the Band of the 5th Regiment, which is to leave for Halleck's division on Monday next. This is no doubt, the finest set of Instruments ever brought to the State. At the same time friend Munger received a large selection of new music, consisting of songs, ballads, quartettes, &c., &c. Call and see him at his store in Concert Hall.

PRESENTATION AT FORT SNELLING.—At the conclusion of the "dress parade" of the Fifth last evening, at the Fort, Col. Robertson, in behalf of the numerous friends of Major Gere, presented him a splendid horse, with full military equipments. The Colonel's address abounded with true Union sentiment, and the Major's brief reply was full of feeling and appreciation of the high compliment paid him. Owing to the late hour we cannot publish the address in full, but will endeavor to do so in our next.

RETURNED SOLDIERS.—Captain Keifler, of the 2d Minnesota volunteers, has returned on a furlough of fifteen days. He looks hale and hearty. Several privates of the several regiments of this State have come home, being discharged. They all look as though they had "been to the war." We, who are staying at home, have little idea of the hardships which our brave Minnesota boys are enduring in the Secesh country for the preservation of the Union. Posterity will remember it, however, and when the next Fourth of July will see the war ended and peace reigning in our now divided country, the brave, the noble hearted Minnesota soldiers can say with pride, "I helped to put down the rebellion"

"WATER CHICKENS."—Frogs are becoming quite a brisk article in the St. Paul market. The high water has had the effect to make these musical animals rather latitudinous in fixing the proper boundaries of their dominions and to seduce them into localities where they do not understand the "lay of the land," and as a consequence, the boys take "snap judgment" on them and confiscate their posteriors to the use of their pockets. This dish we believe is of French origin, and some boarders are yet a little dubious in regard to it. We heard a couple speculating on the proper cognomen for it at table—("pass the bull frog," would not be very euphonious)—when Biddy happening along, the delicate question was referred to her, by one asking very innocently what that dish was. Her answer came as promptly as an echo, "water chickens."

ST. PAUL GRAIN MARKET.—Wheat is selling at 52@55c, a decline from former rates, owing to the immense amount of grain in store at Milwaukee, which is waiting shipment. If Minnesota goes into raising wheat in good earnest, which she no doubt will do, our Milwaukee friends had better build a few more boats to carry it away. We hope, however, soon to have a railroad to Lake Superior, when we will be able to send our grain to the eastern markets sooner and cheaper than by the present route.

Our friend Thos. Clark, former State Senator, has written several very interesting letters on the resources of Lake Superior, which have been published in the PRESS, showing the distances East, and the advantage, if we had a railroad, of shipping grain East by that route, and also giving a summary of the immense mineral wealth of that region.

RIVER NEWS.—The river has fallen two inches during the past twenty-four hours.

Yesterday the Moses McClellan arrived from La Crosse with a through mail, and the Key City from Prairie du Chien.

The Northern Belle leaves to-day for La Crosse, and the War Eagle for Prairie du Chien.

The McClellan and Northern Belle will be this morning's boat down.

The Sucker State will arrive to-day.

The Northerner will leave to day at 2 o'clock for St. Louis.

The Albany from Mankato arrived yesterday with 1,000 sacks of grain. The Ariel arrived with 1,000 sacks of grain.

THE following Resolutions were reported by the Committee appointed at a Special Communication of Ancient Landmark Lodge No. 5, F. A. & M. on the death of Brother Wm. H. Acker.

At a stated communication of Ancient Landmark Lodge F. & A. M., held at Masonic Hall on the 8th of May, A. D. 1862, A. L. 5862, the committee appointed at the Special Communication aforesaid, to prepare and report to this Lodge resolutions expressive of the feelings of its members in the loss which they have suddenly sustained by the death of Brother William H. Acker, reported the following:

WHEREAS, In the events of Providence, the Grand Master of the Universe hath suddenly called our Brother Wm. Henry Acker from the labors of earth to those refreshments which are only found in that "Temple made without hands, high in the Heavens;"

AND WHEREAS, Our noble young brother has left behind a record of devoted patriotism, yielding up his life with all its bright and alluring prospects, upon the bloody battle field of Shiloh, whilst gallantly leading his company into the thickest of the strife;

AND WHEREAS, It is most meet that we here in this earthly Lodge, of which our departed brother was a consistent member, assemble, and as brothers express our sentiments of his Masonic virtues; therefore be Ancient Landmark Lodge No. 5 of F. & A. M. be it

Resolved, 1st That inexorable Death spares not even the most worthy, nor awaits the maturity of age. His coming is like the dread wing of the Tempest—it was scarcely heard before he departed, bearing hence in his invisible yet terrible embrace, amid the storm-clouds of battle, one of us to the pale Kingdom of the Dead, leaving vacant the seat of a Master Workman.

Second, That in our departed brother we have realized the highest Masonic virtues. Although not a professed, he was a practical Christian, when measured by the Scriptural rule, "by their fruits, ye shall know them." As a man he was honest; as a friend, kind and constant; as a soldier "true and tried;" as a citizen, respected and honored; as a Mason, he was a worthy example. Endeared to us all by his manly character, we will cherish his memory and strive to emulate his virtues.

Third, That to his relatives, we but express our fraternal feelings, when we say that we, too, have met with an irreparable loss, and mourn the death of a departed brother: and to them we would extend our sincere condolence in their sudden and affecting bereavement.

Fourth, As a tribute of respect to our brother we will wear the usual badge of mourning, while in Lodge, for thirty days, and that the Lodge room be clothed in mourning.

Fifth, That a copy of this record be properly engrossed and transmitted, under the seal of the Lodge, to the parents of our deceased brother.

Sixth, That a copy of these resolutions be published in the daily papers of this city.

R. F. HOUSEWORTH,
A. T. C. PIERSON,
GEO. W. MOORE,

BY TELEGRAPH TO ST. PAUL.

WINSLOW'S LINE.

Operations at Sewall's Point.

U. S. FLAG SHIP MINNESOTA, Hampton Roads, May 9.

To His Excellency the President of the U. S.

Agreeable to a communication just received from the Hon. E. M. Stanton, I have the honor to report the instructions I gave yesterday to the officers commanding the several vessels detailed to open fire upon Sewall's Point.

The object of the movement was to ascertain the practicability of landing a body of troops thereabouts, and to reduce the works if it could be done; that the wooden vessels should attack the principal works on enfilade, and that the Monitor, to be accompanied by the Stevens, should go up as far as the works and there operate in front.

On the appearance of the Merrimac outside of the works, the Monitor had orders to fall back into fair channel way and only to engage her seriously in such a position that she, together with the merchant vessels intended for the purpose, could run her down if an opportunity presented itself. The other vessels were not to hesitate to run her down and the Baltimorian an unarmed steamer of light draught, high speed and with a curved bow, was kept in the direction of the Monitor expressly to throw herself either before or aft of her plated house; but the Merrimac did not engage the Monitor, nor did she place herself where she could have been assailed by our ram vessels to any advantage, or where there was any prospect whatever of getting at her.

My instructions were necessarily verbal, and in giving them I supposed that I was carrying out your wishes in substance, if not to the letter. The demonstration resulted in establishing the fact that the number of guns of that principal work on Sewall's Point has been essentially reduced, and is not greater now than about 17, and that the number of men now stationed there is comparatively quite limited.

The quarters connected with this work, were set on fire by our shells and no doubt seriously injured.

I am very respectfully your Obedient servant,
L. M. GOLDSBORO,
Flag Officer, Commanding Naval Blockade Squadron.

Further from the Peninsula—Fremont and Corinth.

MILWAUKEE, May 10.

Quite an exciting naval manœuvre took place at Fort Monroe on the 8th, without any apparent effect, except to draw out the Merrimac and cause her to return again; but when our fleet retired she was seen standing out again.

The Monitor and Merrimac were at one time within a mile and a half of each other, neither willing to advance, when the Merrimac turned round and went under the guns of Craney Island. The President viewed the scene.

Generals Franklin and Sedgewick have had a hard battle with Lee's forces, but defeated them. There were 300 killed and wounded on our side.

Gen. Burnside is advancing on Norfolk.

Gen. Grant attacked the rebels a few miles from Corinth. Their line is constantly falling back. It is thought they will evacuate Corinth and retire to Columbus ninety-five miles south of Corinth.

A fight is progressing in Gen. Fremont's column. Particulars not yet received.

Further from New Orleans.

BUFFALO, May 10.

The official report of Com. Farragut was received last night, but though long and interesting, contains no facts in addition to those already sent by telegraph.

The report of Capt. Boggs of the Verona, in relation to the rebel steamer Morgan, says, I have learned that over 50 of her crew were killed and wounded, and she was set on fire by her commander, who burned his wounded with his vessel.

FORT JACKSON, May 3.

MY DEAR FOX,—Everything goes on gloriously.

The official report will tell you all.

Commodore Boggs is going home. He fought his ship splendidly, and is not in fault for her loss. He is a man of determination. Give him a good ship. He deserves it. My respects to Mr. Blair.

(Signed) Yours truly,
BENJ. F. BUTLER.

Engagement Between Com. Foote and Rebel Fleet.

CHICAGO, May 9.

The Journal's special Cairo correspondent says:

The steamer Brown arrived from the flotilla this A. M

At daybreak yesterday four rebel gunboats were seen rounding the point, making way in the direction of our gunboats, evidently intending capturing them.

Our gunboats formed in line of battle, with decks cleared for action. Some fifty shots were fired, when the rebel boats retired.

The distance was so great it is impossible to say whether any shots took effect.

The firing from mortars, which had been suspended for two days, was renewed when the Brown left with great vigor.

To guard against any surprise the mortar boats are towed up the river every night and remain behind the fleet.

Rebel Supplies at Nassau.

NEW YORK, May 10.

Nassau papers of the 30th ult., contain news from Charleston, obtained from rebel schooners which had run blockade.

H. Adderly appears to be general agent for all secessiondom at Nassau.

The Charlestonians were expecting to be attacked soon, and considerable excitement prevailed there.

Business was almost entirely suspended there.

Forts Sumter and Moultre were being furnished with heavy guns, and there was a general uneasiness as to the result of the success of Gen. McClellan at Yorktown.

Five schooners had arrived at Nassau from Charleston with cotton and turpentine.

A steamer with arms, &c., arrived on the 28th ult., from Liverpool, and the steamship Skelton arrived on the 29th with an assorted cargo of both to Adderly & Co.

The steamer Kate had also arrived from Charleston with cotton, consigned to Adderly & Co.

Her advices state that the people of Charleston were in suspense about New Orleans, as the telegraphic communication had suddenly ceased.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 10.

As our Government was prompt in making restitution for the illegal capture of the British ship Perthshire by our blockading squadron, is is presumed that the British Government will not hesitate to restore the ship Emilie St. Pierre, in accordance with the demand of Minister Adams.

The army medical board will assemble in Washington on the 1st of June, for the examination of applicants for admission into the medical corps of the army. Applicants must be between 21 and 28 years of age.

The Nashville Does it Again.

NEW YORK, May 9.

The steamer Oriental from Port Royal, of the 6th, has arrived, but brings no news, except confirmation of the report that the Nashville got into Wilmington.

The sailing sloop of war Jamestown was the only blockading ship there. The Ocean Queen has arrived from Yorktown, with 1,000 sick and wounded. No list received.

Great Fire at Auburn.

AUBURN, (N. Y.,) May 10.

A fire broke out in the cooper shop of the Auburn State Prison at 6 o'clock last evening, destroying that building and a large amount of stock and tools belonging to the cooper contractors. The prison is but little damaged. The loss to the State in the destruction of the shop will amount to $40,000. The loss to contractors is about $10,000. The citizens of Auburn and the convicts in the prison worked manfully to prevent the fire from spreading. There was no insurance on any of the property.

Escape of Major Sharpe.

CHICAGO, May 10.

Major Sharpe, from Columbus, carried away by the rebels at the time of the evacuation of that place, escaped, and tells pitiful stories of the state of affairs at Memphis.

He pointed out the place where the rebels buried thirty pieces of cannon at Columbus, all of which are now exhumed.

Detention of Old Point Boat.

A GREAT FLANK MOVEMENT

BALTIMORE, MAY 8.—The following, dated Yorktown, May 7th, at 2 o'clock, is taken from the correspondence of the American of this city:

As I close my letter, the latest intelligence received from the field of battle is that Gen McClellan has come up with the enemy about eight miles beyond Williamsburg, and after a pretty severe skirmish with his rear, has again put him to flight across the Chickahominy. A large additional number of prisoners have been taken including many deserters, who report that they have had nothing to eat but a few hard biscuit for nearly forty-eight hours, and when brought in, fell down in a state of exhaustion.

Heavy cannonading could be heard by the boats coming down the river at an early hour this morning. Nothing as to the result is yet ascertained.

There is no doubt but that the whole army of Lee, Johnson and Magruder are in a state of utter disorganization, and, under the rapid pursuit of McClellan, are fleeing with speed, without the intention of making a stand anywhere, and unless they reach Richmond in boats, by way of James river, they will certainly be intercepted and captured by the forces landing at West Point. Not less than fifty steamers are engaged in transporting the balance of the army to West Point.

A large number of prisoners are arriving there, and others are constantly being brought in.

On Monday the enemy took about eighty of our men prisoners, and captured one of the Pennsylvania batteries, having first killed all the horses. They having but a small support of infantry, were overwhelmed by a superior force, and were compelled to abandon their guns, but before the close of the day this battery, with one of the enemy's, was recaptured by Gen. McClellan, and the prisoners they had taken were found next day in Williamsburg engaged in attending on the wounded of the enemy they had left behind. The retreat of the enemy was accompanied with too much confusion and haste to be troubled with prisoners.

I have just learned that the enemy have destroyed all the bridges across the Chickahominy, and that Gen. McClellan is resting his army on this side. It will be remembered that the Chickahominy runs parallel with James river, into which it enters. It is the general impression that McClellan has now got the enemy just where he wants them.

NEW YORK, May 8.—A special to the New York Times this afternoon, dated Fortress Monroe, May 7th, says the rebels burned their gunboats in York river yesterday morning. We have taken many prisoners in small parties, but cannot learn that any large bodies have been captured

Two companies of the 8th Illinois cavalry are reported to be captured by the enemy.

Gen. McClellan was struck by a piece of shell, but was not injured.

The opinion prevails that if Franklin's Division receives reinforcements in time, a great part of the rebel army will be captured.

The roads are in a very bad condition. Our advance is greatly impeded.

The battle raged with great vigor from early in the morning until three in the afternoon, when McClellan arrived with fresh troops, and relieved Hooker's division, who were nearly prostrate with fatigue and exposure, whilst the 3d Excelsior regiment of Sickles' brigade had its ranks terribly thinned by the batteries of the enemy. They are represented as having fought with such bravery that 200 of them are killed and wounded After the arrival of Gen. McClellan, the enemy were fiercely charged by Hancock's brigade, and were driven within their works before night, with heavy loss. Nearly seven hundred of their dead were left on the field, with many wounded, though most of the latter were carried into Williamsburg.

Our loss is less than three hundred killed and seven hundred wounded.

Night having come, we occupied the battle-field, the enemy having been driven within their works. Our forces laid on their arms prepared to storm the works in the morning.

On Tuesday morning Gen. McClellan sent out scouts whilst preparing to move on the enemy's works, who soon reported that he had again taken flight during the night. The works of the enemy and the city of Williamsburg were then taken.

Fort Magruder was a most extensive work, capable of prolonged defense, but the enemy had abandoned it early in the night, retreating in the greatest alarm and confusion as described by a few negro women who were found in the town. A large number of wagons, munitions and a considerable store of provisions were found in the town, and the road was strewn for many miles with arms and accoutrements. A number of deserters also made their escape and came within our lines, who stated they had received intelligence that large numbers of Federal troops were landing on York river, above Williamsburg, to flank them.

NEW YORK, May 9.—General Marcey telegraphs the following:—Williamsburg, May 8.—Gen. McClellan on the 6th inst., won a most decisive victory. Only about 30,000 of our troops were engaged against 50,000 of the best rebel troops. Our men fought most valiantly, and used the bayonet freely, which the rebels could not stand. They fought well until they felt the cold steel, when they took to their heels and ran like hounds, leaving their dead, wounded and pick upon our hands. Gen. Jo. Johnston led them in person. They have lost several of their best officers.

COMPLIMENT TO MINNESOTA AND TO THE MINNESOTA FIRST.

Donation of Steel Rifled Cannon for the use of the Regiment and to the State.

The following correspondence tells its own story. Minnesotians will highly appreciate the marked and graceful compliment paid by General Sanford our Minister at Brussels, to Minnesota and the Minnesota First in the splendid and patriotic donation which is the subject of these letters. The suggestion of Judge Goodrich, who represents Minnesota as well as the Nation, as Secretary of Legation at Brussels, that General Sanford be elected an honorary member of the Old Settlers Association in commemoration of the visit which partly suggested this compliment to Minnesota, will of course be attended to.

General Sanford is regarded as one of the most accomplished diplomats in the service of the Nation. We believe he was Secretary of Legation at Paris during the administration of Mr. Pierce. His energy and prudence in thwarting the schemes of secession emissaries abroad has been frequently noticed by the press.

It is fortunate for the country that she is represented by men of so much ability and patriotism abroad in a period which has been so big with danger to our foreign relations:

ASTOR HOUSE, NEW YORK, April 19th, 1862.

His Excellency, Alexander Ramsey, Governor of Minnesota, &c., &c., &c.:

DEAR SIR:—General Sanford, our Minister resident at the Court of Brussels, has devolved upon me the pleasing duty of laying before you the accompanying patriotic letters. They speak nobly for themselves, our State, its brave sons, and the generous and patriotic writer.

These letters are not only for the present, but future generations. They are calculated to inspire lofty deeds and high moral daring, now and at all times, so potent in the vindication of our national honor. In after time the historian will speak of them, and the patriotism which called them forth. The kind manner in which the writer has been pleased to mention my name restrains me from further comment.

Upon the breech of these guns you see in Roman capitals:

"TO THE FIRST MINNESOTA REGIMENT VOLUNTEERS. TRIBUTE TO PATRIOTISM AND VALOR. BRUSSELS, 1861."

At the time this Battery was ordered, no Regiment from Minnesota, save the First, had been placed under the fire of the enemy, hence none other could have been mentioned in the above presentation.

General Sanford was a pioneer tourist in Minnesota. I need not say let him be made an honorary member of the "Old Settlers' Association," at its Annual Meeting in June next; yourself, Governor Sibley, Col. Oakes, J. E. McKusick, Soc. Nelson, or some other member will see that it be done.

The freight and charges upon this Battery and its appurtenances, to this city, have been paid by the donor, who, in common with ourselves, regrets the delay in its arrival at this port.

Inasmuch as I am not certain as to the direction you desire these Guns to take, and as they cannot be removed until you shall claim or "assume" them for "the State of Minnesota," I shall, in the absence of other instructions, request your friend, Simon Stevens, Esq., No. 56 Broadway, to whom they were consigned, to hold them, subject to your order. I herewith send you a copy of the letter of the Secretary of the Treasury, to the Collector of this Port, directing him to deliver to you these Guns, &c., free of duty.

I leave this city for Belgium, on board the "Asia," bound for Liverpool on the 23d inst.

I am, Sir,
Very Respectfully,
AARON GOODRICH.

BRUSSELS, 22d February, 1862.

SIR:—I have directed a small Battery consisting of three Steel Rifled Cannon, of six pound calibre, with suitable ammunition, to be shipped to New York by this week's steamer from England, and to be held there subject to your order.

I beg to present them, through you, to the State of which you are the honored head, for the First Minnesota Regiment of Volunteers.

The efficiency and discipline of that Regiment, as detailed in the public prints, and the conspicuous valor displayed by it in the field at Bull Run and Ball's Bluff won my admiration, and my pride was heightened here, in a foreign land, by encomiums which its conduct elicited from strangers.

Desirous to contribute further to the cause of the Union, I have thought that I could not do so more usefully than in having these guns made for its defense, and that they could not be entrusted to better hands than those of the gallant First Minnesota.

In our country, where we have no titles or decorations to bestow as in Monarchies, merit looks for its reward to an appreciating people; and this tribute to patriotism and valor from a fellow citizen, may serve to those brave men as an evidence of appreciation, as an encouragement in this great struggle in which they are engaged, and as a lasting testimonial in after time, of the admiration which I doubt not, is shared by a large majority of their countrymen.

I pray your Excellency to be my medium of commication in offering these guns to the First Minnesota Regiment, and to accept for yourself the assurance of the high consideration with which I have the honor to be, Your obedient servant,

H. S. SANFORD.

His Excellency, ALEXANDER RAMSEY, Governor of Minnesota, &c., &c., &c.

BRUSSELS, 23d February, 1862.

DEAR SIR:—In addition to my official letter of to-day, I will address you a few lines of a more personal character.

I have watched the development of your State with more than ordinary interest. Near twenty years ago, I made on the steamboat "Otter," a trip from Dubuque to that then little known region; and in 1846 I crossed over from La Pointe to revisit those lovely scenes which had deeply impressed me. I stopped on the present site of St. Paul, at the only tenement then visible—a log cabin where a man named Jackson kept what was called a "free tavern." I also spent a couple days at Fort Snelling with Major Clark, and proceeded thence, with the aid of Mr. Sibley, to Pet-it Rochero, where I found my old friend La Framboise, and whence I started on a buffalo hunt across the plains to the Upper Missouri. These events have left a profound impression on my mind, and naturally lead me to follow with special attention and interest the wonderful progress of your beautiful State.

The energy and patriotism you displayed at the outset of this war could not, therefore, pass unobserved or unappreciated by me, any more than the noble and gallant conduct of the Minnesota Volunteers; and on consultation with my friend, Judge Goodrich, the Secretary of this Legation, whose pride and interest in the State of his adoption is second only to his devotion to the Union, I concluded to make to Minnesota, as I had already done to my native State, Connecticut, an offering of Steel Cannon as a best means of contributing to the cause of the Union, and of testifying my interest in and appreciation of your gallant volunteers.

These guns were ordered in England before the departure of Judge Goodrich—they were finished the very day of the Queen's proclamation forbidding the exportation of arms; and afterwards, on the indication of the Judge from Washington, I directed the carriages to be made before being sent, which has delayed shipment till now—not too long, I hope, to prevent their useful employment in the service of the country.

You will thus appreciate, I am sure, the interest I feel in your State and its sons—an interest akin to that I feel for the State of my birth—and will not, I hope, consider this offering from a comparative stranger as officious or intrusive.

With my best wishes for a continued career of honor and success, in directing the destinies of your beautiful State, I remain, dear sir, with great respect,

Your Excellency's obedient servant,
H. S. SANFORD.

His Excellency, ALEXANDER RAMSEY.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, EXECUTIVE OFFICE, St. Paul, April 28, 1862.

Major-General H. S. Sanford, United States Minister, Resident at the Court of Brussels:

DEAR SIR:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of February 22d, advising me of the shipment to New York, subject to my order, of a battery of steel rifled cannon, presented by you to the State of Minnesota, for the First Minnesota Regiment of volunteers.

This munificent contribution to the cause of the Union is awarded by you to that Regiment as a testimonial of your admiration for its efficiency and discipline, and the conspicuous valor displayed by it at Bull Run and Ball's Bluff.

In the name of the State and people of Minnesota, I thank you for this noble and generous tribute, from across the seas, to the valor and patriotism of her sons, and I am proud to be the medium of conveying to the gallant Regiment which has won the honor of this distinguished notice at your hands, so flattering a proof that the pride and admiration with which they are regarded at home, is shared by their fellow patriots in other States and in other lands.

I have requested that your communication upon the subject of this donation, in which you have expressed so gratifying an appreciation of the Minnesota First, be read at the head of the Regiment, now near Yorktown, and directed that the battery be held subject to the immediate requisition of the Colonel commanding.

The high distinction implied in their selection from all the magnificent array of the army of the Potomac, as the worthy recipients of this patriotic donation to the national defence, will inspire our brave soldiers with a new ambition to deserve the applause of their country, and to ratify by future victories the verdict of praise awarded to their conduct in defeat.

The inscription, "A tribute to valor and patriotism," inscribed by your direction on the breech of these guns, will be their motto of their living and the epitaph of their dead, and when they shall return to their homes, as we hope they soon will, crowned with the laurels of the final victory over treason, the Sanford battery will remain among the cherished memorials of their triumph, to commemorate to after times, the conspicuous part which the men of Minnesota shall have played in the suppression of the great rebellion, an enduring memorial at once to the world-wide renown of the soldiers who fought under the ensign of Minnesota for the national integrity at home, and the generous patriotism of the Statesman who maintained its honor abroad in that dark crisis of our history.

Assuring you of my very high respect and cordial esteem,

I have the honor to be,
Your obedient servant,
ALEXANDER RAMSEY.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, EXECUTIVE OFFICE, SAINT PAUL, April 28, 1862.

DEAR SIR:—It will not detract from the value which Minnesotians will place upon the compliment to their State and to their soldiery, in your superb and patriotic donation for the Minnesota First, that its bestowal on one of our regiments, was suggested by a long standing interest in our State.

If anything could enhance the grateful remembrance in which our people and soldiers will ever hold the distinguished donor, it would be the fact that the favorable impression produced by a visit, near twenty years ago to the beautiful land of the Dakotas as detailed in your second unofficial letter of February 22d, should have established a claim upon your solicitude for the young State, which has since sprung up from the wilderness, second only to your native Connecticut.

Minnesota now sends to the defense of the Union, a force greater than her entire population in 1850. The single log cabin which marked the site of Saint Paul in 1846, has expanded to a city of 12,000 inhabitants. Could there be a more convincing proof of the blessings of that Union which traitors are seeking to destroy.

We are bound by a still more intimate tie to your legation, in being represented there by one of our most esteemed and oldest citizens, and feel we are doubtly honored at the Court of Brussels, in having one of our pioneer tourists in the Minister, and a pioneer settler in the Secretary.

The kindly interest you have expressed for Minnesota, justifies us in claiming a reciprocal interest in your future history, and to follow you in whatever position of usefulness and honor you may occupy, with our best wishes and prayers.

I remain, my dear sir,
Very respectfully yours,
ALEX. RAMSEY.

Major General H. S. SANFORD, U. S. Minister, &c., Brussels, Belgium.

THE House of Representotives, on the 7th inst., passed a bill creating Port Royal, S. C., a port of entry, and providing for the appointment of a collector at a salary of $1,500 a year.

COMMODORE FARRAGUT.

From the Missouri Democrat.

Flag Officer David Glasgow Farragut, now in command of our fleet at New Orleans, is a native of that city, and about sixty years of ago. In childhood he was adopted by the late Commodore David Porter, receiving his baptismal name, and is thus the brother adoptive of Captain J. D. Porter, of the Essex, in our flotilla, and of Lieut. Porter, in command of the mortar fleet at the mouth of the Mississippi.

Though only twelve years of age, he was on the Essex at Valparaiso in 1814, in that most gallant naval fight, and was specially commended to the Department for his brave deportment.

An anecdote told of him, though trifling, indicates character. After the surrender a pig which he claimed was carried off by the midshipman of the British frigate Phœbe. Young Farragut appealed to the British Captain for restitution, and received for reply that he could do nothing about it, but he might go and whip the middy. "Is that all?" said the lad, and acting on the leave given, instantly whipped the aggressor and carried off the pig.

He has been almost constantly in active service. During the years 1831-2 3 4, he was employed in cruising after pirates in the Caribbean seas, and distinguished himself by most efficient service and gallantry. He was for some time in command of the Brooklyn at the Vera Cruz station, at the time of the mission of Mr. McLane to Mexico.

He has been twice married in Norfolk, Va., and is the owner of a large property in that rebel city. But before the outbreak, and to avoid entanglements, he removed his family from Norfolk to a cottage on the Hudson, whence he was called to active duty in putting down the rebellion.

He is a most accomplished officer, versed in every point of his profession, and most energetic in all naval duties. He speaks with fluency five or six modern languages, and sailor as he is, is a gentleman of fine scholarly taste and acquirements.

SCRAPS FROM PRENTICE.

We guess the New Orleans Picayune feels now as if it were hardly worth its name.

The rebel leaders have evidently been badly raised. They may have to be raised over again—or rather hoisted.

Before this war is ended the rebels will see more stars than those on their flag, and look out from between more substantial bars.

The Mobile Register says that the rebel Confederacy "has brooded deeply over its wrongs." Well, but it has had a bad brood.

The rebel Confederacy has enacted free trade. It is like a spider in a corked and sealed bottle, generously declaring unrestricted intercourse with the whole world.

The Charleston Mercury thinks that the cotton States have a right to cry aloud when all their slave property is at stake. No doubt it is a case of great cry and a good deal of wool.

The Richmond Enquirer says that this is "a guilty war on the part of the United States." We admit that it richly deserves to be prosecuted.

The editor of the Mobile Register says that he trusts he can count his fingers. Ay, but who can count the slanders they have written?

The Richmond Whig calls Jeff. Davis "a clod." A clod should be something above Jeff.

Beauregard promised his army a thousand dollars apiece bounty money if they would win the battle of Corinth. Beauregard proclaimed afterwards that they had won it but didn't hold out to them the slightest hope of the bounty money. That won't do Beauregard.

The Charleston Courier says that the Federals have "no just hope to repose on." The rebel leaders will soon have neither hope nor anything else to stand on.

The Baton Rouge Gazette thanks God that we shall have no market for our bagging and bale rope. Now we would suggest to the rebels that they had better take our bagging than the chances of being bagged, and had better get our coils of bale rope than our coils of gallows rope, or the coils of our anaconda. When we catch them they may ask piteously for "bale," and not be able to get it.

THE SURRENDER OF NEW ORLEANS.—The Southern papers seem a little suspicious about the surrender of New Orleans, and intimate that it was the result of treachery. The Norfolk Day Book characterizes the story of the surrender:

"As the most deplorable tale ever heard in America, or, we believe, in the whole world. Two contemptible little steamers have come up to the great city of New Orleans—inhabited by a population of two hundred thousand souls, defended by miles upon miles of columbiads and rifled cannon, possessing six floating batteries of immense power, and containing within her bosom not less than thirty thousand disciplined troops—and have commanded the authorities to haul down the Confederate flag!

Sailing through miles of the heaviest artillery, it does not appear that so much as a single shot was fired at these two little steamers. On the contrary, everything seems to have been prepared beforehand for their quiet reception. The troops were immediately withdrawn lest they might feel disposed to murmur, all the defenses on the lake were dismantled, the guns were thrown down without being injured, the steamboats, that could have gotten up steam in an hour and been off, were burned, and the defenders were drawn off to a distant point.

Never since the world began was there such a transaction—so dark, so mysterious, so altogether unaccountable.

The telegraph, thus far, gives a very confused account of this most mysterious and most deplorable affair. Terrible suspicions are afloat, but we hold it best not to give voice to them until something more definite shall have reached us.

GRAND WORDS.—The following ringing sentences form the conclusion of a late sermon of Henry Ward Beecher:

"I am not a prophet. I am not sanguine, though hopeful. I think victory awaits us at every step, but if God thinks liberty too dear to be purchased so cheaply, we can give more. We can give more sons, more treasure—we will give every thing—but this country shall be one, and our undivided. The Atlantic and Pacific shall say it—deep answering to deep.

"Hear it, England, one people, one Constitution, one Government.

"One God, one country, one flag, one destiny—cost what it may, we will have it. Let God name the price, and it shall be paid."

—A Lodge of Good Templars was organized in Prescott a few weeks ago, which now numbers, according to the Transcript, some sixty members.

MAY.—DYSPEPSIA.—This is a very distressing complaint, and gives the patient more suffering than almost any other disease. In fact, it is a combination of many complaints in one. The symptoms are numerous, and of the nature of almost all other complaints combined. From this fact arise the very many cases where this disease is mistaken for some other and so improperly treated. The first symptoms, indigestion, flatulency, loss of appetite, heartburn, headache etc., if neglected, almost always awaken some dormant disease, and send the poor sufferer to a premature grave. What you must first do is to cleanse the blood and regulate the bowels—do this with the "Mountain Herb Pil's," and you can bid defiance to dyspepsia.

CASH CAPITAL.....$100,000
NETT SURPLUS..... 129,000

DIVIDENDS ON CAPITAL LIMITED BY ITS CHARTER TO 7 PER CENT PER CENT PER ANNUM —THE ENTIRE PROFITS GO TO THE POLICY HOLDERS.

This Society was organized in the year 1859, with a cash capital of $100,000 deposited irrevocably with the Insurance Department of the State of New York, in U. S. bonds, on which it allows but 7 per cent. per annum to the stockholders, and the entire profits of the business is shared by the policy holders. The nett profits in two years amounts to $129,000, which shows an unparalleled success in the history of Life Insurance. Its operations are managed by a Board of Directors composed of the ablest business men of the country and its business is conducted entirely on the cash plan. Dividends to the policy holders will be made every five years, and no Company in the country offers equal advantages to its dealers.

The Old Established

OF

R. MARVIN,

SENDS GREETING TO HIS CUSTOMERS IN MINNESOTA, IN DAKOTA TERRITORY, AND BEYOND THE BRITISH LINE.

That being one of the Oldest Business Houses in the State, (the present being the eleventh year of its existence,) R. MARVIN feels confident that he need not urge its claims on the public patronage. The extent of country over which its business has spread is the best proof that its claims are not unrecognized. The unwavering determination which he has felt since the crisis, and in the hardest times, to maintain his business and place it on a par with similar establishments in the largest cities of the West, have been so fully appreciated by the merchants of the State, that he feels bound to redouble his efforts, not only for the benefit of his business, but for the pride he feels in his adopted city.

Mr. R. would call on the citizens of St. Paul, and especially the old residents who remember "the day of small things," not to forget that he still has a

JAPANESE WHEAT.

A NEW KIND OF GRAIN KNOWN AS JAPANESE WHEAT IS INTRODUCED TO THE PUBLIC AND FARMERS OF MINNESOTA,

By the subscribers, who have grown it on their place last year. This remarkable Wheat is amazingly productive, producing over one hundred bushels to the acre. It matures in seventy days from the time it is sown, and weighs fifty six pounds to the bushel. The heads of the grain average ten inches in length. It ripens while the leaves and stalk are green. The stalk is so strong that it never lodges during the most severe storms. It will fatten hogs as well as corn, and at less than one half of the expense. It produces from three to six tons of fodder to the acre fully equal to the best timothy or clover hay. Its nutritious qualities are such that all kinds of stock prefer it to any of the grasses used for fodder, after a very large proportion of the grain is threshed off. It will stand the most severe drouth. It is excellent for feeding poultry. It yields thirty pounds of Flour to the bushel.

Price—ONE DOLLAR per package, with full directions.

☞ One package sown as directed, will produce enough seed to raise next year from 600 to 800 bushels of the Wheat.

Sold by the following Agents in St. Paul:

R. Galloway; J. C. Raguet & Co.;
Day & Jenks; Chas. Weide & Bros.,

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good Flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.

HIS MOVEMENT TO CUT THE VIRGINIA AND TENNESSEE RAILROAD.

HEADQUARTERS MOUNTAIN DEP'T, }
Near Parisburg, Va., May 8, 1862. }

A dispatch has been received from Fayetteville, announcing that the advance of Gen. Cox, composed of a part of 33d Ohio, under Major Cowley, occupied Giles Court House and barracks on New river, yesterday. The rebels ran and did not burn the place, as intended. Abundant commissary stores, a Lieutenant Colonel, a Major, and twenty privates were captured. The citizens remained and seemed loyal.

The defeat of the rebels at Camp Creek was more important than at first supposed. Gen. Milroy is now fighting, and General Schenck advancing. Particulars of these movements are forbidden.

HEADQUARTERS MOUNTAIN DEP'T, }

Hon. S. M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

Gen. Cox telegraphs that his advance, consisting of a part of the 33d Ohio, occupied Giles Court House, and the narrows of New river, yesterday, driving the rebels, who were taken by surprise. Considerable quantities of commissary stores and twenty privates were captured. Our surprise prevented the burning of the place as the rebels intended. Most of the citizens seem loyally disposed. J. C. FREMONT.

COM. FARRAGUT'S DISPATCH.

REBEL REPORTS CONFIRMED.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Dispatches giving the details of the operations of the fleet at New Orleans have been received, but they contain no new points.

FORT MONROE, May 8, 1862.

To Gideon Welles, Secretary of Navy:—

I have the honor to announce that in the providence of God, who smiles on a just cause, the squadron under Flag Officer Farragut has been vouchsafed a glorious victory and triumph in the capture of the city of New Orleans, forts Jackson, St. Phillip, Livingston and Pike, the batteries below and above New Orleans, as well as the total destruction of the enemy's gunboats, steam rams, floating batteries, five rafts and obstructing bombs and chains. The enemy with their own hands destroyed from eight to ten millions worth of cotton and shipping. Our loss is 36 killed and 123 wounded. The enemy lost from 1,000 to 1,500, besides several hundred prisoners. I am bearer of dispatches.

[Signed,] THEODORUS BAILLEY,
Capt. and 24 Commander attacking force.

REBEL FIRES LIGHTED—GRAND DESTRUCTION OF COTTON GOING ON.

LOUISVILLE, May 8.—Two thoroughly reliable Kentuckians, just arrived from New Orleans, report that all along the Mississippi, from Memphis to New Orleans, there is one general bonfire of property, particularly of cotton, of which 11,700 bales were burned at New Orleans. At Memphis, sugar and molasses in large quantities are on the bluff, ready to be rolled into the river, and all the stock of cotton is to be fired on the approach of the Federal fleet.

The people of the river towns are retreating inward and destroying property along all the Southern tributaries of the Mississippi, planters in many cases applying the torch to their own cotton.

The rebel Government has also boats running up the rivers destroying cotton.

EXPEDITION UP JAMES RIVER

SEWALL'S POINT EVACUATED.

FORTRESS MONROE, May 8.—The iron sloop of war Galena, and the gunboats Arostook and Port Royal, started up James river this morning. They have passed Day's Point battery, and heavy firing has been heard up the river since their departure. They will cut off the river communication with the rebels south of the Chickahominy instantly.

After the gunboats started, the rebel tug J. B. White came out in front of Newport News, having left Norfolk this morning with a crew of two citizens on board, on a mission to Tomery Point. By previous consent they ran over to Newport News and surrendered to Gen. Wool.

ARRIVAL OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN AT FORTRESS MONROE.

FORTRESS MONROE, MAY 7.—President Lincoln arrived here this morning, and spent the day with Gen. Wool. This afternoon he visited Newport News to see Gen. Mansfield, and to have a clear view of the Merrimac, which has been lying off Craney Island all the afternoon, for the purpose, no doubt, of preventing our gunboats from going up the James river. She made no attempt to come out.

SENTENCE OF AN EX-STATE TREASURER OF MICHIGAN.

DETROIT, May 8.—John McKinney, late State Treasurer, was yesterday sentenced to seven years imprisonment in the penitentiary, for the embezzlement of State moneys.

BADGERED INTO IT.

We read the following paragraph in the Nashville Union:—

"Several influential gentlemen of this city, who have hitherto been active Rebels, have told us and others in private conversation that they had been opposed to the rebellion from the beginning, but had been badgered into it, believing that everything was gone, and that our sole hope was to fix upon some sort of a government. They now acknowledge that the Government is too firmly fixed in the hearts of the people to be destroyed, and say that they are henceforth Union men. The change progresses steadily, and irresistibly."

And the change will continue to "progress steadily" and rapidly, because that is the character of the "progress" of the Union army. The logic of events is overwhelmingly potent, because it is the logic of gunboats and bayonets. What neither old associations nor old obligations could effect, the Parrott guns and mortars accomplish. The men who were "badgered" into rebellion—and they probably constitute full one-half the people of the South—have no conception of loyalty as a duty. They are loyal men or traitors as convenience or safety suggest!

When our army first entered Nashville, there were not out-spoken loyal men and women enough in the city to fill an omnibus. Silent neutrality was the rule; and the mass of those who seemed most willing to tolerate the return of the old Flag, would have been quite content if the Union forces had retired as promptly as they came.

With the assurance, however, of permanent occupation, the impulse which made them traitors transformed them into loyal men; and now that they are persuaded that their late friends lack the power to destroy the Republic, they are "henceforth for the Union!" Under different circumstances, they would have been "henceforth" for the Confederacy.

Although this principle of action is rather disreputable, it is, nevertheless, our chief hope of a speedy recognition of the authority of the General Government. It is being rapidly proven that the Government cannot be overthrown. The force of the rebellion is broken. Hope of rebel success is rapidly fading away, and multitudes who have been quite willing to have had the Confederacy established, are bitterly cursing their leaders, and preparing to succumb whenever and wherever the power of the Government is demonstrated to be irresistable. The reaction will be as rapid as the advance of our armies; but not a whit more rapid. The people of Nashville, and Memphis, and New Orleans, like those of Alexandria and Elizabeth City, and Fredericksburg, will become loyal when they can look into the muzzles of our muskets and mortars; and they will remain loyal so long as they are persuaded that resistance is dangerous.

In a rebellion like this, power is the only conclusive argument. And that is conclusive. Hence the necessity of literally crushing out the rebellion. Compromises and palliatives would be criminal. Even mercy itself, if exercised so as to be tortured into an exhibition of weakness or fear, would be a crime. The traitors must be thoroughly whipped—so thoroughly as to make them beg for pardon—before hostilities cease. Then we may hope for permanent results—for such a restoration as will carry the Union forward through ages of harmony prosperity and peace.—Albany Evening Journal.

PRENTICE'S LAST.

—Let no one say that New Orleans has fallen. It has risen from its fall.

—The Yankees can no longer be charged with meanness. See how liberally they "shelled out" at Fort Jackson.

—It is a pity for Floyd that he can't show a clean pair of hands when he so often shows a clean pair of heels.

—A rebel paper says that John C Breckinridge's name can never perish. But he might well wish it could.

—The rebels can well afford to give up all their church bells, cow-bells, and dinner-bells to Beauregard, for they never go to church now, their cows have all been taken by foraging parties, and they have no dinners to be summoned.

—All the editors in the Cotton States are demanding angrily and fiercely why New Orleans surrendered. Bless you simple souls, gentlemen, Commodore Farragut expressly requested her to do so. We have no doubt she can get his certificate to that effect.

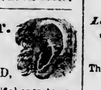
Eye & Ear.



DR. UNDERWOOD,

Of Chicago, Ill., the eminent and skilful operator on the Eye and Ear, whose name and fame is so extensively known throughout the United States, for his science, skill and success in performing formidable operations, and in removing difficult and dangerous diseases from those delicate organs, has arrived in St. Paul and may be consulted at the AMERICAN HOUSE for a short time only.

Dr. U., who is a regular Physician and Surgeon of the old school, has had an extensive experience in both hospital and private practice of twenty-eight years, and will be found competent to perform any operation necessary to restore lost sight or hearing, or by other mild and gentle means to remove any disease from those delicate organs within the reach of science and human skill.

CHRONIC DISEASES, of every grade and character, whether requiring medical or surgical treatment, POSITIVELY and PERMANENTLY CURED, when not clearly beyond the reach of science and human skill.

Dr. Underwood treats all diseases on regular and scientific principles, as recognized by the medical profession both in Europe and America, and hence does not use or deal in those pretended new and never failing remedies—pretices, inhaling vapors, and clairvoyant prescription—which are so ostentatiously paraded before the public by those impudent travelling quacks and mere boasting empirics, nine-tenths of whom never were inside of a medical college. Patients afflicted or laboring under diseases of long standing, can consult Dr. U. with the most confident hope and expectation of being perfectly cured, or receiving with unerring certainty all the relief that the highest skill, the most judicious and scientific treatment can possibly bestow.

Among the diseases which the Doctor has lately treated with the most signal success, may be mentioned those of the Heart, Lungs, Liver, Stomach and Bowels—and Nervous Affections, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Salt Rheum and Chronic Female Affections. my7-3m

TRIOMPHE DE GAND.

We unhesitatingly place this variety at the very head of the list of strawberries. Another year's trial has only confirmed our opinion of its superior worth. Were we confined to one variety, it should be the Triomphe de Gand. No other kind, of which we have any knowledge, possess so many excellencies. Indeed, with us, it approaches so nearly perfection as to leave but little more to be desired.

The plants are thrifty, hardy and vigorous growers, bearing their fruit well up, which renders it easily to be kept clean. They are also wonderfully productive with us, and the fruit is not only usually of large size but UNIFORMLY so, and throughout the season, which is longer with it than with most other varieties. The flavor is everything that could be desired. It is of a very beautiful crimson color, glossy and very attractive. It keeps well after being picked, retaining its beautiful color and firmness, and carries better than any other variety.

LA CROSSE AND ST. PAUL
PACKET COMPANY.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT

During the season of 1862, till the close of navigation, the La Crosse and St. Paul Packet Company, having completely equipped their Line, and made large additions to their business facilities, will offer to shippers and passengers on the river greater inducements and conveniences, and QUICKER TIME, than was ever offered by any company on the river.

All the boats on the Chippewa, Minnesota, St. Croix and the upper Mississippi rivers, and the different lines of stages north of La Crosse will the coming season run to connect with the Davidson boats and the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad.

The La Crosse and St. Paul Packet Company will run a

PASSENGER AND FREIGHT LINE.

The former will number two first class boats—the finest and fastest on the river. They will be the McCLELLAN and NORTHERN BELLE. The first will be the Lightning Line, making the run from La Crosse to St. Paul in eighteen hours, and returning will leave here in the morning, and arrive at La Crosse in twelve hours time, to connect with the evening train, by which passengers will make close connection and reach Milwaukee in time for cars or boats on the Lake in TWENTY HOURS FROM ST. PAUL, and reach Chicago next morning, by Minnesota Junction or Milwaukee, in just TWENTY-FOUR HOURS FROM LEAVING ST. PAUL, and in time for close connection East! This will be twelve hours the quickest time between these the cities ever made! Nothing but passengers, the mails express matter, and express goods will be carried on these boats, which will be furnished in the best of style. Passengers will then have daylight to view the grand beauties of the river, and good sleeping cars from La Crosse to Chicago—a great item. Arrangements have also been perfected so that all the boats of the upper rivers, and all the stage lines will run to close connection.

The other line will number three regular boats; the Keokuk G. H Wilson and Wenona, one of which will leave La Crosse daily on the arrival of the morning train from the East, connecting at all points north, and will also make close connections. The Favorite will run as a bi-weekly packet between St. Paul and Mankato, on the Minnesota river.

A daily line will also run between St. Anthony and St. Cloud on the Upper Mississippi, for passenger and freight business. All of which are to connect with the boats above named, plying between La Crosse and St. Paul, and connecting with the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad.

This Company have just completed at St. Paul, a mammoth wharf boat, which will hold seven hundred tons of freight; and to or from which goods of all kinds can be carried to any part of the city, without further handling or danger of breakage.

Shippers of freight to St. Paul by this line or over the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad in connection, will, by shipping to the care of J. C. Burbank & Co., have their goods delivered FREE in the City, or forwarded to all points North FREE OF WAREHOUSE OR STAGE CHARGES. Goods going the other way have the same advantages.

To avoid all delays, and to make the closest connections and quickest time, see that your tickets are for this line and no other.

ST. PAUL, TUESDAY, MAY 13.

☞ SEE FOURTH PAGE.

The intelligence we give in our dispatches this morning is most cheering. The rebel army in Virginia is in a most interesting situation, and as far as we can see, it seems to be "getting no better very fast." Environed on every hand by a wall of fire, all its strongholds in our possession, it will be mere chance if the Secession scorpion is not forced to writhe and sting itself to death where it is now encircled, or make an unconditional surrender—the only kind of surrender now in fashion.

Norfolk, and Portsmouth, formerly our most important naval stations, are again graced with the flaunting folds of our flag—the latter, with its magnificent dry dock, by rebel vandalism, a heap of ruins

The terrible Merrimac, which has given the denizens of our seaboard cities the nightmare for so many weeks, has gone to her final account.

We have not space to pursue the interesting summary farther. Read the dispatches and rejoice in the prospect of the utter overthrow of the most despicable conspiracy that will ever darken the pages of history.

THE CLOVEN FOOT.

All our sources of information confirm us each day in our convictions that an extended movement is on foot by traitors and rebel sympathizers in the Northern and Border States intended to cripple our Government in prosecuting vigorously and successfully the bloody war which the mad schemes of the slavery propaganda have forced upon us—a movement which, under the name of "Democracy" or some other device, will be propagated to just such an extent during the prosecution of the war as the lurking traitors inaugurating it may deem safe to push it, and which is intended at the conclusion of the war to step in and shield the guilty rebels from the just punishment of their crimes and restore them again to the control of the Government they are now madly attempting to destroy. The leaders of the movement are, almost without exception, former political associates, admirers and boon companions of the rebel leaders. They have sat, for years, with Davis, Floyd, Toombs and other rebel ingrates in secret political caucuses, have been governed by them in their partisan action and yet retain the baneful influences which that contamination was sure to engender; and they still, from habit, draw inspiration to their political action from the same dangerous sources. They named our counties and their babies for these associates who are now in arms against our Government. At the outset of this rebellion this class held out immunity to treason by encouraging the South to believe that the Government could not and should not be allowed to interpose its arm to frustrate its unholy schemes. They said in plain words that they would take up arms against the Government should it attempt to do so and were thus really particeps criminis in the schemes of rebellion. We are glad to say that many who were connected thus in days gone by are now free from taint and are with pure patriotism using their noblest endeavors to uphold and strengthen our Government in this great contest. We honor them and cannot be forced at this time into any issue with them; are glad to have the privilege of voting for them and intend to stand in our country's ranks, shoulder to shoulder with them until rebellion is swept from the land. If when that day comes we find any irreconcilable differences in regard to policy between us, we will then arbitrate the matter amicably at the ballot box.

But there is a class with whom we have no sympathy. Many of them profess Unionism only because it is fashionable. Some of its stupid and bigoted members follow only the mere sound of the name Democracy: believe that the "Democracy" fixed the laws of gravitation, established the north pole for the government of the compass: that no good thing can come out of Nazareth and whatsoever is not labeled "Democracy" is of the Devil. But the animus, the moving spirits of the antagonistic element we allude to, are really in spirit with the traitors; they are with them because of them. They have together with them cursed the nigger: cursed the "Black Republicans;" they have together held carnival over plunderings from the Government, shared and appropriated its spoils for carrying doubtful election districts. They sigh for the day when they may again "cuddle under the same dirty bed-clothes" with Jeff. Davis and his associates, their former bed-fellows. Their highest idea of Union culminates in that felicitous consummation. They are willing that force should be gently applied, just enough to bring the rebels back "into the party" without hurting their feelings or injuring their standing—provided, always, that the darling system of slavery receives no detriment. If that is to receive injury in the struggle for the Union, they must be counted out. The highest aim of our Government, with them, is to hold niggers, and without that our Union has no charm for them.

The public were notified, a short time since, of a reckless scheme headed by Vallandigham and others of this breed of politicians in Congress, looking to the withdrawal of a sufficient number of the members of the House to prevent a quorum, for the purpose of making it impossible to pass any bill that will reach the property of the armed rebels, and deprive them of the services of their slaves. We were loth to believe that any such a re-enactment of "secession" scenes could be seriously entertained—that any such defiance of the will of the majority—any such revolutionary proceeding could find a lodgment in the brains or hearts of any considerable number outside the beatific realm of Jeff Davis; but already we see organs calling themselves "Democratic" encouraging such an outrage. We do not believe that it will be done, though the desperate pro-slavery spirit of its authors would lead them to it if they dared do so. The time is past, we trust forever, for the commencement of another such a secession movement, but the broaching of the scheme and the favor it has met in certain quarters shows us that the rebels are far from being confined to the dominions of Jeff Davis, and that certain ones nearer home may need the particular attentions of the government.

From such a sickening display of the degradation to which the fell spirit of slavery has reduced its devotees, we turn with complacency to the sentiments and spirit which actuated the patriots of Virginia, ere that power cast its dark pall over that State and, to a great extent over the whole country. At the close of the war of the revolution, the Virginia House of Delegates resolved: "That confiscation laws, being founded on legal principles, were strongly dictated by that principle of common justice which demands that if virtuous citizens, in defense of their natural rights, risk their life, liberty and property on their success, vicious citizens who side with tyranny and oppression, or cloak themselves under the mask of neutrality, should at least hazard their property, and not enjoy the labors and dangers of those whose destruction they wished."

Patriots not blinded by slavery can appreciate those sentiments, and we believe there is yet virtue enough in the Republic to judiciously act upon them.

—In alluding to the attacks of some of the newspapers upon Secretary Stanton, in our last issue, in our allusion to General Hitchcock as an adviser of Mr. Stanton, a whim of the printer caused him to "amend" copy, so as to make it read Halleck instead of Hitchcock. We do not approve of attacks, at this time upon Secretary Stanton any more than upon Gen. McClellan. The Secretary is performing his official duties just as earnestly as is Gen. McClellan; he is not the official inferior of that General, and if he should differ with him in some matters it is no crime. We have not the proper data now, neither is this the time to judge of the merits of these points of difference, if they exist. Neither has all military knowledge passed out of Washington now that Gen. McClellan is in the field. Gen. Hitchcock, the adviser of the War Department, is in studies, age and experience a compeer of any of our Generals. The matter in which the Secretary is so adversely criticised is no more liable to injurious criticism than certain moves understood to have been made under the direction of Gen. McClellan and the sequel may show all the critics to be at fault.

— If the rebels are to be believed, the capture of the two forts below New Orleans by our fleet was one of the most wonderful achievements in the history of war. Less than three weeks ago we read an article in one of the leading papers of New Orleans, purporting to be a statement of the city's defenses. The writer said that each fort had a hundred guns of the greatest known calibre; that several huge chain cables were stretched across the river between them which no human exertion could get through in less than three hours, within which time the forts could sink the whole navy of the United States; that besides, innumerable torpedoes were planted there ready to be let off at any moment, and capable of annihilating anything that floats; and that even if it were possible for a fleet to pass all these terrible obstacles, it would still find its perils but just begun, the whole river above being lined on both banks with most formidable batteries, and New Orleans itself being rendered impregnable by the vast fortress just without its verge.

—Gen. Smith, who was accused of drunkenness by Congressman Morrill, a few days ago, has written a letter to that gentleman, closing with the following paragraph:—"It is now my time to speak, and here, face to face with a brave foe, I turn back to you, an assassin, and tell you you must prove your charge against me, or make your retraction as public as the libel, and I am certain that through the length and breadth of this great land every manly heart will say I have demanded no more than I have a right to compel."

Re-Arrest of Mrs. Hartung.

ALBANY, May 11.

Mary Hartung, convicted some years since of the murder of her husband, and released from prison last December by order of Judge Wright, has been re-arrested on a warrant issued on the application of the District Attorney. The Supreme Court at its general term on Saturday, decided that Judge Wright's discharge was erroneous, and ordered Mrs. Hartung to be kept in prison for a new trial.

PRESENTATION CEREMONIES AT FORT SNELLING.

On Saturday evening last, at the conclusion of the dress parade, in the presence of the Fifth Regiment and a large concourse of spectators, Col. D. A. Robertson, on behalf of the friends of Major Wm. B. Gere, presented to that gentleman a splendid blooded horse, with military saddle, bridle, holsters, &c., complete. In performing this pleasant duty Col. Robertson made the following remarks, which, for the happy and appropriate terms in which they were couched, and the eloquence and spirit-stirring patriotism portrayed is not often equalled upon occasions such as called them forth:

MAJOR GERE—Your companions in arms, and civic friends have deputed to me the flattering and agreeable duty of communicating a convincing testimonial of their esteem for you as a citizen and soldier.

For years past have we been observant of your public and private life, and I can assure you, Major, that on your approaching departure from this State for the field of battle, to hazard your life in defence of our National unity, we feel convinced no enemies remain at home to rob you of merited honors, which all anticipate, your conduct in the camp, on the march, and in the field, will deserve.

Should it become, as we expect, your good fortune to test your virtue in the severe ordeal of deadly conflict with the traitorous enemies of the Republic, we do not fear that our present good opinion of your manly qualities will suffer the least disparagement.

You, Major, and your companions in arms, enjoy among your fellow citizens—and justly so—a most flattering and enviable distinction. You are the favored among us.

For, what can be a greater favor, what a greater honor, what a greater distinction, than the opportunity, the privilege, the will, to hazard life, the highest offering a true man can make, for the defence of the old flag, with all its stripes and stars symbolizing our National growth and unity!

Since the world began, never was citizen or soldier invited to support a nobler or better cause; and yet, never to perform a duty more mournful, more painful. Never before was a true man subjected to a test of virtue and patriotism more severe.

Uninfluenced by sordid motives—not for plunder, not to humble a foreign enemy, not to gratify sentimental hate, not as a propagandist of opinion, theological, speculative or moral, not for ambition, or party, not for personal, political or ulterior designs, but to save and perpetuate our great Republic, do the true citizen soldiers go forth to meet their own erring, deceived, maddened kindred of the passionate South in death-dealing conflict. No! no! it is not hatred. They are impelled by a nobler and more magnanimous impulse, heartfelt and controlling, guided by comprehensive deliberation. It is to save the Republic, the Union and the Constitution, that they strike and slay their brothers of the South, as bravely, as fiercely as they would the less dangerous foreign foe.

Again I say, was there ever, since the world began, a severer test of virtue, a nobler sacrifice to patriotism? It is this benevolent and patriotic conception of our terrible, and unparalleled internecine war, which elevates the whole national mind high above the small proportions of mere party issues and platforms; expanding the American heart to the full magnitude of national unity, the preservation of which, whatever the cost, whatever the sacrifice, whatever the essential means, must ever be recognized by all Americans of enlightened loyalty, as the absolute condition of prosperity and power in this great Republic.

Opposed by innumerable obstacles, which only patriotism could overcome, guided by the highest virtue, counselling the most beneficent and paternal conciliation, was the American Union founded. Not until our day and generation has been imposed upon the American people, the perilous duty of rescuing this sublimest creation of human wisdom and virtue, from impending dissolution.

Soldiers in the field and citizens at home, have in this crisis, great duties to perform: to maintain the Union against every foe, foreign and domestic, be they in the South or North, in the East or the West, in the Senate House or on the battle-field, in all its original integrity, upon the broad, deep, composite foundation of the Constitution of the United States, which, in peace or in war, is the only guarantee, the only promise of free institutions to the American people and to the world.

That our people know and recognize this declaration as a national faith, is grandly demonstrated by the presence of 600,000 brave citizens-soldiers in the field, engaged in the most gigantic campaign of modern times—the greatest in the annals of our race.

If there ever was a time for doubt or forboding, it has passed. The rebels may, in dispair, do their worst; the small politicians in high places may continue to degrade the position they have not the capacity to fill with honor and dignity; they may, as non-combatants, persist in their mean assaults upon our best Generals; yet, there is no longer a doubt that our grand army and gallant navy, will soon conquor the rebel hosts, and raise our estranged kindred of the South to a true comprehension of their interests, their duty and loyalty.

When this glorious achievement shall have been fully assured, and our grand army of citizen warriors, returning home to resume their peaceful avocations, shall lay down their victorious weapons in the presence of grateful millions, may you, Major, and you comrades of the Fifth Minnesota Volunteers, be prominent among the victors invited to accept the congratulatory honors of grateful and rejoicing fellow citizens.

Of this we feel proudly assured: that of all the returning volunteers who may survive this sanguinary war, none will be welcomed home with louder acclaim, or with more heartfelt joy, that none will then be more distinguished for renown and glory won upon the field of battle, than the volunteers of Minnesota.

Your regiment, Major Gere, is probably the last that will be needed in this war to go forth from this State in defence of our nationality; and to maintain in the camp, on the march, and on the battle field, the honor and renown already won by the citizen soldiers of Minnesota.

Although we know that the Fifth has not enjoyed the same advantages for drill and discipline as the other regiments from this State, having indeed just been organized; and although you have been suddenly ordered to join the grand army of the West to engage in decisive battles, to encounter the duties and dangers of veterans, yet for you, Major, for you and your brother officers, and the whole rank and file of the Fifth Minnesota, we have neither fear or misgiving.

And now, Major Gere, allow me, on behalf of your many personal friends, military and civic, to discharge the pleasant duty of presenting to you, as a sincere testimonial of their confidence and esteem, this fine blooded horse, in full caparison. Whatever the duty or the danger, we know you will worthily bestride this splendid animal. May this noble war steed bear you through the most sanguinary conflicts of the battle field; and may you return safely home, crowned with the victors' laurels to enjoy the enthusiastic greetings of friends and fellow citizens.

Major Gere responded as follows:

COLONEL ROBERTSON, FELLOW CITIZENS AND SOLDIERS:—So unexpected is this occasion to me, that it is not possible to express the gratitude which thrills my breast upon receiving so high a testimonial of the esteem of my friends; and especially grateful to me is this gift, coming as a "good-bye-token" upon the eve of my departure to join the grand army of the West and aid in maintaining the integrity of our beloved country. To my fellow citizens and brother officers, who have thus indicated their confidence in me, I here solemnly promise that by no act of mine, either in camp or on the battle field, shall that confidence deserve to be diminished. I fully realize the fact that a great responsibility rests upon us—both officers and soldiers. Our regiment is yet in its infancy, having been but barely organized before being called upon. We enter active service, and though thus laboring under much greater disadvantage than our fellow regiments which have preceded us, we are yet determined, should opportunity offer, to justly earn a like enviable reputation for bravery with the noble First and Second, and for chivalric bearing as borne by the well disciplined Third. To those friends we leave at home I would say that we go to fight for the preservation of the Union and the Constitution, and not because we desire to shed the blood of those who once were and we hope will soon again become loyal citizens, united under one flag and one government. We have no ulterior motives; no further purpose than that of preserving to the present and future generations the glorious form of government bequeathed us by our Fathers; that which has made us a great and mighty nation, and which until the advent of this desolating rebellion, was the envy of the aristocracy, and the admiration of the old world. No object than the restoration and preservation of the great boon could make our calling as soldiers upright and honorable.

In conclusion, I accept the magnificent present as evidence of the respect and confidence of friends, and of the deep interest they feel in the success of the cause in which we are embarked; as evidence of their earnest desire to witness in the bravery of the officers and men, and in the good character and discipline of the Fifth Minnesota, the merit not only of laurels for the regiment, but also of fresh honors for the State we represent.

GEN. WOOL ENTERS THE CITY.

FULL PARTICULARS.

BALTIMORE, May 12.

The Old Point boat has arrived, and brings the following:

NORFOLK, Va., May 10.—Gen. Wool has just entered the city, in company with Mayor W. W. Lamb, and a committee of the city Government. The last of the rebel troops left this A. M., and the city was left in the care of the Mayor.

As the representative of the civil power, on the approach of our troops, the Mayor went with a flag of truce to the city limits, and an arrangement was soon made between the Mayor and Gen. Wool, that the city should be given up, on the promise of Gen. Wool, that property should be respected.

During the march on Norfolk, three regimental cavalry camps were found deserted, apparently a day or two since.

Gen. Webber's regiment, the 20th New York, was advanced on landing to reconnoitre the beach, at the Hall Way House—so called—and found a place which had been prepared for a battle field. Trees and bushes had been felled and rifle pits built, and early in the morning as was ascertained, several guns were placed in position. At this point some recruits of the 41st Virginia regiment, were captured. They reported Sewall's Point evacuated on the previous night by companies which had garrisoned the place for some weeks past.

A negro was also captured, who stated it was the intention of the enemy to destroy the bridge over Lanner Creek and then evacuate Norfolk.

Part of Max Weber's regiment was pushed forward on the roads, spiking the guns. There were extensive works and finely constructed.

They arrived at Norfolk, after a lonesome march, at five o'clock, without firing a gun, and found the whole rebel force gone, the last leaving this morning.

Mayor Lamb, with a company of the city government authorities for the purpose, met Gen. Wool with a flag of truce at the city limits, and after a brief consultation, the city was surrendered to the United States forces.

Gen. Wool then proceeded to the City Hall with the Mayor, followed by a large crowd, and there issued the following proclamation:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF VIRGINIA, Norfolk, May 10, 1862.

The city of Norfolk having been surrendered to the Government of the United States, military possession of the same is taken in behalf of the national government. Major General John E. Wool, Brigadier General, is appointed Military Governor for the time being. He will see that all citizens are carefully protected in all their rights and civil privileges, taking the utmost care to preserve order and to see that no soldiers be permitted to enter the city, except by the written permission of the commanding officer of his brigade or regiment, and he will punish summarily any American soldiers who shall infringe upon the rights of any of the inhabitants.

JOHN E. WOOL, Maj. Gen.

BALTIMORE, May 11.

The boat from Old Point states that our troops crossed to the Virginia shore on Friday night, while the Rip Raps shelled Sewall's Point. The landing was made at Willoughby's Point, at a point selected by President Lincoln on the previous day. He was among the first who stepped ashore. The rebels fled at the advance of our troops. At the last advices Gen. Weber was within three miles of Norfolk.

The Merrimac remained all day off Craney Island.

The Navy Department received the following this morning:

FORTRESS MONROE, May 10, 12 o'clock. —Norfolk is ours, also Portsmouth and the Navy Yard. Gen. Wool completed landing the troops this morning, and commenced to march on Norfolk with 5,000 men. Secretary Chase accompanied the expedition. Five miles from the landing the rebel battery was stationed, on the opposite side of the bridge over Tanner's Creek. After a few dozen charges the rebels burned the bridge, which compelled us to march round five miles further. At 5 P. M. our forces were within a short distance of Norfolk and were met by a delegation of citizens, and the city formally surrendered. Our troops marched in and now have possession. Gen. Viele commands as Military Governor. The city and navy yard were burnt. Gen. Huger withdrew his forces without fight.

Commodore Rogers' expedition, heard from this afternoon, was descending James river.

Reports from McClellan are favorable.

THE MERRIMAC BLOWN UP.

FORTRESS MONROE, May 11.

To J. H. Watson, Ass't Sec. of War:

The Merrimac was blown up by the rebels about five o'clock this morning. The Monitor, Naugatuck and gunboats have gone towards Norfolk.

No others injured.

Successful Pursuit of Rebels by our Cavalry.

REBELS RETREATING.

Union Troops Twenty-three Miles from Richmond.

TWO AND A HALF MILES FROM KENT C. H., Cumberland, Va., Sunday, May 11.

A company of the 6th cavalry passed on last night to White House, five miles from here, on the Roanoke river, better known as the Curtis' estate, owned by a son of Gen Robert E. Lee. The company secured 7,000 bushels of wheat and 4,000 bushels of corn. The rebels had burned their bridge and town, and moved up the road for some distance towards Richmond. The distance from White House to Richmond is twenty-three miles.

The gunboats arrived here this A. M. and are now on their way to White House.

The rebels had blockaded the river two miles below here, by sinking vessels, but they were blown up without much trouble. The rear guard of the enemy is at Liners' depot, five miles from White House.

A contraband who left Richmond Friday, reports the city full of sick soldiers, and that the people are flocking in from the surrounding country.

NEW KENT C. H., 10 P. M.

The pursuit of the rebels by Gen. Stoneman has been in every respect successful. His headquarters are now here, twenty seven miles from Richmond, while the advance, composed of the Eighth Illinois Cavalry is five miles ahead of the enemy, who are in sight, but gradually falling back.

From Fredericksburg.

THE REBELS IN A BAD POSITION.

FREDERICKSBURG, May 10.

Three rebel deserters came in to day. They confirm the statement you have already received relative to the rebel force. They state the rebels intend giving us battle when we cross the river, but it is not probable they know the general plans. The rebel force between here and Richmond seems to have placed itself in rather an unpleasant position. McClellan in their rear, Banks pushing up from the Valley of the Shenandoah and our column threatening an advance, there seems nothing left but a surrender or an ignominous death in the last ditch. A Union sentiment is growing in this neighborhood, but so faintly as to require careful nursing. The mails of Fredericksburg are running.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONGRESSIONAL CAUCUS COMMITTEE.

ORGANIZATION AGAINST CONFISCATION AND EMANCIPATION.

WASHINGTON, May 11.

The committee appointed by the Congressional caucus of yesterday held a meeting last night, and talked over their programme, and Mr. Crittenden, the chairman, was requested to draw up some resolutions for an adjourned meeting of the committee to morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Crittenden's committee gives renewed assurances that their action is limited to the scope of their duties as members of Congress; that they have no thought of organizing or attempting to organize a political party. The object is merely to unite conservatism and strength in Congress against mischievous abolitionists and secession bills now pending. The resolutions presented by the committee on Monday night will be substantially these:

First—That the constitution, the Union and laws of the United States must be enforced and the rebellion against them put down; and that it is their duty to vote for every measure necessary and proper to that end.

Second—That it is the dictate of policy as well as of humanity, that no more war violence or injury should be inflicted than is absolutely necessary to suppress the rebellion; that while no blow should be spared to rebellion as long as it is in arms against the government, we should remember that those engaged in it have been our fellow citizens, and they and their descendants must again make and partake in a common destiny, and that the States are compound and essential parts of the Union, bound together by the constitution; that the rebels cannot divest States of their rights and powers as supports of the Union; and though they may obstruct for a time the enjoyment of those rights and powers upon the removal of the obstructions by the suppression of the rebellion, the States must revert to their original rights and relations, and so remain as long as the constitution of the United States, which binds them into one government shall endure.

4th. That while condign punishment should be visited on leading rebels to mark and stigmatize their detestable crime, the masses of the people of the seceded States are not equal offenders, and deserve immediate amnesty on abandoning their opposition to the government.

5th. That on these principles the general confiscation and emancipation bills pending before Congress are impolitic, unconstitutional, and highly dangerous to the future peace of the country, and should not become laws.

6th. That the members of Congress uniting in the expression of those sentiments, while not wholly endorsing every thing the President has done, nevertheless have confidence in his honesty, patriotism, and desire to preserve the constitutional rights of the States.

The resolutions may vary a little from these, but not materially. Vallandigham did not attend the meeting at all.

GEN. WOOL TO BE MADE FULL MAJOR GENERAL.

[Tribune's special]—It is believed Gen. Wool will be immediately made a full Major General.

The Norfolk navy yard will be officered immediately.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

Gen. Butler has forwarded to the War Department, among other trophies, the rebel report of the force at Jackson. From this it appears the aggregate number in the fort during the fight was 737. A sort of a diary was kept under the head of remarks. The great precision of the fire from the mortar boats is complimented. On the 27th of April, five federal gunboats are reported lying near Quarantine, with a flag of truce. At 12 o'clock at night, the majority of the garrison deserted. The date of the 28th is recorded, but no entry made.

COMMODORE FARRAGUT AND COMMAND COMPLIMENTED.

GEN. BRAGG ATTACKS GEN. PAINE.

Rebels Repulsed with Great Slaughter.

CAIRO, May 11.

The desperation of the rebel cause in Mississippi culminated in an attack on our flotilla.

Early on Saturday morning their gunboats came around the Point about the fort, and boldly advanced towards the Cincinnati, which was stationed at the Point. When the rebels came up on Friday she did not attract their attention until the fleet had passed above her, when, as soon as she was discovered, she was attacked by the whole fleet.

Their gunboats made but little effect upon her, as their guns were poorly aimed. The Cincinnati in the meantime had hauled into the stream, where an iron clad ram, supposed to be the Mallory, advanced in the face of continued broadsides from the former, until within forty yards. Being a faster sailor she succeeded in moving between the Cincinnati and the right hand, where men appeared upon her decks prepared to board, with grapples thrown out, and which design was frustrated by throwing hot water from the steam batteries of the Cincinnati.

In the meantime the rest of our gunboats arrived at the scene of action, and engaged the rebel fleet.

The Mallory, undaunted by failure, attempted to board, crowded on a full head of steam, came towards the Cincinnati accidentally, intending to run her down.

Capt. Sternbel, in command of the other boat, waited until the monster was within thirty yards, when he sent a broadside into her, from his parrott gun, which did fearful execution. The two boats were so close together by this time, that it was impossible for the gunners of the Cincinnati to swob out guns.

Capt. Sternbel shot her pilot with his revolver and was himself wounded by a pistol shot fired by the pilot or mate of the Mallory, while the engagement between the Mallory and Cincinnati was in progress. Our shots had exploded the boilers of one of the rebel gunboats and set fire to another, burning her to the water's edge. The air was very heavy, and under cover of a dense smoke, which hung over the river, the rebel fleet retired and were pursued until they gained shelter under the guns of Fort Wright. None of our boats were injured except the Cincinnati, which was so slightly damaged that she can be repaired in twenty four hours. Four men on her were wounded, including the Master's mate. No other casualties mentioned.

When the smoke cleared away, a broadside from the flag ship Benton was sent after the Mallory. Shortly after she was seen to careen, and she went down with all on board.

The steamers Courier and City of Alton arrived this P. M. from Pittsburg Landing, with news to noon of Saturday, up to which time no general engagement had taken place.

Rebel Gen Bragg's division attacked Gen. Paine in his position, two miles beyond Farmington. A sharp engagement followed, our men fighting bravely, making several bayonet charges on the enemy, who were repulsed with great slaughter. Large rebel reinforcements having arrived, our troops retired to Farmington. We lost nearly 200 killed, wounded and prisoners. No particulars received yet.

FLAG PRESENTATION TO THE FIFTH REGIMENT.

Eloquent Speeches of Gov. Ramsey and Col. Borgersrode.

This Regiment being under orders to march to the theatre of war on yesterday afternoon, the interesting ceremony of the presentation of a flag by the State to the Regiment, was had at Fort Snelling, at the dress parade on the afternoon of the 11th. The day was most beautiful, and as the Regiment was drawn up in order, and the glorious sun shone down on the glistening bayonets and noble ranks of stalwart men, all hearts beat high with patriotic love and pride for our young and vigorous State, which has already acquired such a military renown by the valor of her sons—a pride, the crowning glory of which is, that she is an honored star in the galaxy of the mighty Republic of America. Not a star of that galaxy shall ruthless treason wrest from the starry folds of our National Ensign, while Minnesota has an arm left to shield it from the murderous thrusts of treason.

At the close of the parade the Regiment was placed in line: at about half-past five, the Governor and Adjutant-General took position in front of the line, and the color Guards advanced with the Sergeant for the reception of the flag, when the Governor spoke as follows:

GOVERNOR RAMSEY'S ADDRESS.

FELLOW CITIZENS—SOLDIERS:—You are about to march to the field of battle, two thousand miles away, to take an active part in the brilliant campaign of the West, and to share in the glory of the crowning victories of the Union.

You go to complete the noble phalanx which Minnesota sends to the defense of the National cause.

No State has so much reason as our own to be proud of the reputation which her troops have won and of the glorious part which they have borne in the battles of the Union, and the whole Nation, from loyal Maine to traitorous Texas, has learned to expect that wherever the banner of Minnesota is borne into the fight it will carry away the honors of the contest from all competitors.

East or west of the Alleghanies, wherever our soldiers have gone, they are regarded as the flower and pick of the army—in muscle, nerve, courage, discipline, and esprit.

Our First is the pride of the Potomac—conspicuous in all the army of McClellan for its superior drill and efficiency—and it is but an example of the general admiration with which it is regarded, that it has recently received from a distinguished American Minister at a European Court a superb battery of Steel Cannon, as a tribute of admiration for its intrepid conduct at Bull Run and Ball,s Bluff.

To our Second belongs the historic renown of having turned the tide of victory on the side of the Union by its splendid exploits at Mill Springs.

It there won almost unaided, the first real and the most decisive triumph of the Federal arms, for there it broke the line of the enemy's defenses in the South, and opened the way for the series of brilliant successes which are soon to culminate on the plains of Northern Mississippi, and where it is to share in the triumphant close of the campaign which it inaugurated at Somerset.

Our Third has been pronounced by such high authorities as General Buell and Governor Johnson of Tennessee, as the finest and best drilled regiment in the volunteer service; and no one doubts that it will support in the field—in the field of battle, the high reputation which in has so far acquired.

Our Fourth, which so recently parted from you, has gone forth, officers and men, determined if possible to surpass its predecessors; and animated with this spirit, I am confident Minnesota will suffer no discredit at its hands.

In the recent terrible battle at Pittsburg Landing we were represented by but a single battery, yet that battery was the first to open fire upon the foe, and while around it battery after battery was taken by the enemy, Minnesota did not lose or once desert a single gun, but was one of the conspicuous few which maintained the fight without flinching, to the last.

Close by was the battery whose artillerists fled in a panic at the first shot which struck it, and our brave boys not only worked their own guns, almost unsupported by infantry, in face of the heaviest fire of the enemy, but also manned the deserted guns, and amid all the disgraceful exhibitions of that bloody Sabbath presented a spectacle of unwavering Minnesota pluck to the last.

Our cavalry, too, has been doing good service, and our gallant sharpshooters are picking off Johnson's gunners in Virginia, and doing commendable execution.

And now, soldiers of the Fifth, Minnesota sends you as her last contribution to the victorious cause of the Union—she places in your hands all the bright fame which her other regiments have won, and asks you to maintain the honorable place they have gained for her in the history of this war, and to lift her still to a higher place by new deeds of your own. I know that you will do it. When I look along the line into the eyes of the brave men before me, I read in every face an invincible determination to do or die. Whatever cheeks may blanch, or whatever hearts may fail, when the trumpet calls to battle, I know that there is no soldier of the Fifth who will flinch in the fiery trial.

I know that the honor of Minnesota and of the nation is safe in your hands, but personal bravery is not enough for this. It is discipline that makes all the difference between a regiment of soldiers and a disorderly mob. Your efficiency in service, your behavior in the crisis of battle, the honor of the regiment, the good name of officers and men, of the cause you fight for, depend upon your thorough discipline and cheerful obedience to orders.

You have improved greatly in this respect, but many of you have recently enlisted and you have much yet to learn.

But cheerful and strict subordination on the part of men, and assiduous attention on the part of officers, will very soon work wonders in preparing you for active service, and active service will soon complete the work of the drill officer.

Go forth, then, remembering how much you have to accomplish, and how much depends upon your exertions, and prosper in the patriotic work before you.

Colonel Von Borgersrode, and officers of the Fifth, Minnesota commits to your charge and keeping the honor of these brave men—her sons—her priceless contribution to the cause of the country. She expects you to watch over them as over your brothers—in sickness and in health, and in all the toils of the campaign on which you are entering.

I feel confident that you will give a good account of them, when history calls the roll of the heroes of Minnesota.

Your honor and theirs are indissolubly linked together. You can win no glory except through them. I know that you feel the responsibilities of your position, and will discharge then as becomes you.

Officers and men of the Fifth, in the name of the State and its patriotic people—it is my duty, as it is my pleasure to present you this flag.

Take it, it is the old flag of your country—the symbol of the cause for which you fight, defend it,—as brave men, defend all they hold most dear—and bring it back with no stain to dim the luster of the bright North star.

Take it and go forth to victory and to glory, and let it be the proud duty of the historian to record that while other States did their part nobly in this great crisis—Minnesota surpassed them all in the spotless and fearless gallantry of her soldiery, and that whatever occasional misconduct may tarnish the record of other States, Minnesota never sent a coward to the field, because she had none to send.

Go, then, remembering that Minnesota and the great Union of which she forms a part—expect every man to do his duty, and the God of battles be your protection.

After the truly eloquent and appropriate address of his Excellency was concluded, Col. Borgersrode, with some emotion and a little hesitancy in his command of our language, received the colors, and made the following fitting response:

COL. BORGERSRODE'S RESPONSE.

In behalf of the Fifth Regiment, I receive from your Excellency's hands, this beautiful flag, the emblem of the glorious cause of Liberty and our Country; and I am sorry to confess that my limited command of the English language prevents me from expressing the feelings to which I would otherwise give vent, and which would be but a poor expression of the emotions which every soldier around me feels, because of the confidence which our young, vigorous, and aspiring commonwealth bestows upon us.

Enough, sir! We thank you from the bottom of our hearts. Upon this solemn occasion we would not deal in idle phrases, but pledge you and through you, the people of the State, that this flag shall suffer no dishonor in our hands. We, sir, represent different nationalities, but, as the residents of a common country, our aspirations are alone to preserve the ancient glory of the American name, and to perpetuate to future generations the blessings of free institutions.—[The Colonel then addressing the color Sergeant, said:]

Sir: I now deliver into your hands this sacred charge, the symbol of our country's liberty and honor, whose spotless purity to preserve, no sacrifice can be too great. Take it! take it! I am confident, that you will rather surrender your life, than this glorious flag, and that as long as your hands are able to hold it, you will never suffer it to be disgraced.

RITNER'S IMPROVED GUNNERY.

Michael Ritner, Esq., of Vincennes, Indiana, has recently made some experiments, at Indianapolis, which are likely to lead to important results. Mr. Ritner is a civil engineer of high attainments. He is a son of Governor Ritner of Pennsylvania, the possessor of a mathematical mind, well improved by study and practice. He bases his new gunnery upon the idea that penetration is due to momentum, and thus that a leaden shot will pierce iron or steel armor, when iron shot will not. After being refused attention at the Ordnance Office at Washington, Governor Morton furnished Mr. Ritner the means for experiments. The result was that a ten pound conical leaden ball, at long range, with a light charge of powder, passed through a target plated with two iron slabs, each one inch in thickness.

We have had only a verbal statement of the experiment, and may not have the exact thickness of the wooden part of the target, but think it has twenty inches. The ball passed through the wooden part also, and into the ground beyond. A rotary motion is given to the shot by a contrivance which is so simple as to do away at once with the James and Hotchkiss mode. An India rubber patch is put down upon the charge, that by expansion fills the grooves of the gun, and communicates a spiral motion, as in the James projectile. By this contrivance the inertia or dead shock is diminished; by the compression of the patch, force is gained and the recoil diminished. It was found at Fort Donelson and at Island No. 10 that our two and a half (2½) inch plates could not resist one hundred and twenty-eight (128) pounder rifled guns at short range. Suppose instead of an iron bullet a leaden one is used in heavy pieces, is there anything yet constructed on the water that can resist them? —Cincinnati Gazette.

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD BILL.

SYNOPSIS OF THE MEASURE AS PASSED BY THE HOUSE ON TUESDAY.

The following is a synopsis of the Pacific Railroad and Telegraph bill, passed by the House on Tuesday:

Seventy-five persons from different sections of the country, (named in the bill,) with five commissioners, to be appointed by the Secretary of the Interior, and all persons who shall or may be associated with them, and their successors, are created into a body corporate and politic, by the name, style, and title of the Union Pacific Railroad Company. They are empowered to lay and locate, construct, furnish, and maintain a continuous railroad, with the appurtenances, from such points on the one hundred and second meridian of longitude west from Greenwich to the western boundary of Nevada Territory. The capital stock is to consist of 100,000 shares of $1,000 each. The right of way is granted for the construction of the railroad and telegraph line to the extent of 200 feet in width on each side of the road. The rails, and all other irons used, shall be of American manufacture, etc, etc.

Whenever forty consecutive miles of the road shall be constructed, patents shall issue for the lands, as well as bonds of $1,000 each, payable in thirty years after date, bearing six per centum per annum interest, payable semi-annually, to the amount of sixteen of said bonds per mile for each section of forty miles, to secure the payment of which the company is to give a lien upon the road. The Government at all times is to have the preference for the transportation of the mails, troops, munitions of war, supplies, and public stores, at fair and reasonable rates of compensation, not to exceed the amount paid by private parties for the same kind of service, and all compensation for services rendered for the Government shall be applied to the payment of bonds and interest until the whole amount is fully paid. The company may also pay the United States, wholly or in part, in the same or other bonds, treasury notes, or other evidences of debt against the United States; to be allowed at par, and after the road is completed, until the bonds and interest are paid, at least five per cent. of the net earnings of said road may be annually applied to the payment thereof. The company is to locate, within two years after the passage of this act, the general route. In fixing the points of connection of the main trunk with eastern connections, it shall be fixed at the most practicable point for the construction of the Iowa and Missouri branches. The line of railroad and telegraph shall commence at the 102d meridian of longitude west from Greenwich, at the termination of the Leavenworth, Pawnee and Western railroad and telegraph line, to connect therewith, as the act provides; thence running westerly upon the most direct, central and practicable route through the territory of the United States to the western boundary of Nevada, there to meet and connect with the line of the Central Pacific Railroad Company of California. The bill also extends aid to other companies on certain conditions.

There was no debate, and the bill was passed—79 to 49, as follows:

WHY MR. RUSSELL DID NOT ACCOMPANY GEN. McCLELLAN'S ARMY.

From the New York World, 8th.

William Howard Russell, the late correspondent of the London Times, contributes to that paper a detailed statement of the causes of his failure to accompany General McClellan's army. He had obtained Gen. McClellan's permission, and also Secretary Stanton's, to accompany the army and take several friends with him. Having made the necessary preparations, the party proceeded on board the steamer Commodore, lying in the navy yard, when General Van Vliet informed Mr. Russell that Mr. Stanton had given him (Gen. Van Vliet) the most positive orders not to permit him to stay on board the transport. The written order of the Secretary of War was produced, and of course Mr. Russell had to withdraw from the transport. He, thereupon, wrote to the President, laying the facts of the case before him. In reply he was decisively told that the President did not feel warranted to overrule the Secretary of War's decision. To Mr. Stanton he also wrote, but received no reply whatever. Commenting on the action of Mr. Stanton, Mr. Russell indulges in the following speculations upon his motives:

"I am led to believe that Mr. Stanton was actuated by a desire to show his power in a manner that might at once gain him the approbation of certain journals in the North, and at the same time make General McClellan feel his subordinate position; and, if the same authorities do not err, he is influenced by the jealousy which has been openly attributed to him of that officer on political and personal grounds."

In conclusion Mr. Russell relates the following anecdotes:

"The correspondent of the Illustrated London News, who had obtained the permission of a friend of his in command of a brigade to accompany him, was informed that he must procure the sanction of the Minister of War before he could make his promise good. He accordingly wrote a letter to the minister, and waited upon him for an answer. The waiting took place on the steps of the door of the War office. It was long, perhaps two hours or so, and at last a servant—I beg his pardon, 'a help,' but still one of an order which, in regard to pay and emoluments, must have been of the lowest strata of republican animal life—came out and gave the following message: 'Mr. Stanton says he has nothing to say to Mr. Vizetelly.' As an illustration of the sincerity of the desire to exclude all correspondents, it may be worth while to state that the manager of an American paper told me he had five gentlemen with the army. 'They take their horses with them,' said he, 'by passing them off as chargers for the field officers, and draw rations without any difficulty.'"

MAY.—DYSPEPSIA.—This is a very distressing complaint, and gives the patient more suffering than almost any other disease. In fact, it is a combination of many complaints in one. The symptoms are numerous, and of the nature of almost all other complaints combined. From this fact arise the very many cases where this disease is mistaken for some other and so improperly treated. The first symptoms, indigestion, flatulency, loss of appetite, heartburn, headache etc., if neglected, almost always awaken some dormant disease, and send the poor sufferer to a premature grave. What you must first do is to cleanse the blood and regulate the bowels—do this with the "Mountain Herb Pills," and you can bid defiance to dyspepsia.

JAPANESE WHEAT.

A NEW KIND OF GRAIN KNOWN AS JAPANESE WHEAT IS INTRODUCED TO THE PUBLIC AND FARMERS OF MINNESOTA.

By the subscribers, who have grown it on their place last year. This remarkable Wheat is amazingly productive, producing over one hundred bushels to the acre. It matures in seventy days from the time it is sown, and weighs fifty six pounds to the bushel. The heads of the grain average ten inches in length. It ripens while the leaves and stalk are green. The stalk is so strong that it never lodges during the most severe storms. It will fatten hogs as well as corn, and at less than one half of the expense. It produces from three to six tons of fodder to the acre fully equal to the best timothy or clover hay. Its nutritious qualities are such that all kinds of stock prefer it to any of the grasses used for fodder, after a very large proportion of the grain is threshed off. It will stand the most severe drouth. It is excellent for feeding poultry. It yields thirty pounds of Flour to the bushel.

Price—ONE DOLLAR per package, with full directions.

☞ One package sown as directed, will produce enough seed to raise next year from 600 to 800 bushels of the Wheat.

Sold by the following Agents in St. Paul:

R. Gallaway; J. C. Ragnet & Co.;
Day & Jenks; Chas. Weide & Bros.,
B. Presley; E. W. Eddy;
Beaumont & Gordon.

For sale in Minneapolis by W. H. Leonard & Co. Gresly & Gray; O. M. Laraway; Kelly & Bro. St Anthony—Charles Crawford, T. F. & G. H. Andrews.

☞ Persons living at a distance can be supplied with a package per mail, by sending a dollar and four postage stamps enclosed in an envelope, addressed to R. GALLAWAY, St. Paul, or W. H. LEONARD, Minneapolis.

MILLS,
SITUATED ON PHALON'S CREEK, WHERE THE STILLWATER ROAD CROSSES.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill of this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good Flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.

Also a new Mill for grinding corn in the ear.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The case of Patrick Nash vs. City of St. Paul occupied the Court all day yesterday, and is to continue to-day.

RIVER BUSINESS.—As an evidence of the business done at this time on the river and its connection with the city we will mention the fact that we counted a dozen boats lying at our landing early last evening.

DEPARTURE OF THE FIFTH.—This regiment did not leave yesterday, as anticipated, but will probably leave to-day. Quite a lively and interesting time has been enjoyed by it, in the way of presentation speeches and other luxuries, as will be seen elsewhere in our columns. Many of the soldiers got leave of absence to visit the city until Saturday evening, where they were enjoying themselves so finely, they concluded they "would not go home till morning," and extended their furloughs so as to lengthen their enjoyment of St. Paul society longer than was anticipated by their officers. As a consequence recruiting was going on very briskly in our streets all day Sunday. Every man with a blue coat on was a special object of interest to certain officers from the fort, and had to "keep shady." One keen scented fellow was about to put in limbo one of our venerable uncle's paymasters, who happened to have on a blue coat. Some forty in all were finally persuaded into the lockup, and we presume are now snugly ensconced in their barracks, dreaming of glory on the tented field and the "sights" and sweets of St. Paul.

PROSPECTING.—Public attention is being largely turned in the direction of the Caribou gold region, in Her Majesty's dominions in the Northwest. We had the pleasure yesterday of a chat with the gentlemanly editor of the Toronto Globe, Mr. Wallace, who is stopping for a few days in town. He comes out as an agent of a company which has in contemplation the establishment of a complete passenger and transportation route to the Caribou country, and is engaged in gathering such information as will determine the practicability of of such a route, and give the company proproposing it the data needed in instituting it. We learn there are two companies looking to the formation of different routes to that country, the other company turning its attention to an examination of the Lake Superior route Mr. W. will convey his impressions, as a natural consequence, to his paper, which we may feel inclined to use the scissors upon He is delighted with the appearance of our country and its glowing prospects, which indicates that he is a man of sense. He will leave in a few days for Fort Garry.

CHAPLAIN B. F. CRARY.—The Rev. B. F. Crary, D. D., formerly President of Humline University in this State, closed his connection as Pastor of the Jackson street M. E. Church, in this city, in a sermon on Sunday evening, and leaves to day to take his place as Chaplain of the Third Regiment, vice, Chauncey Hobart, resigned. The Rev. gentleman selected as his text the strikingly appropriate portion of scripture used by Commodore Foote in his extemporized sermon a short time ago, found at the commencement of the 14th chapter of John:

"Believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you."

The Doctor's absence from the State will be much felt and regretted, not only by his little flock here but by the denomination to which he is attached, throughout the State. But the cause of our country will have nothing to regret in securing the services of such a man among those who are upholding our banner on the tented field. He is a live, practical, terribly-in-earnest man. He believes in manifesting faith by works. His religion is an aggressive one. If the devil has to be met with bayonets, that the righteous cause may prevail, he does not scruple to meet the alternative, and meet it effectually.

The patriotic prayers and benedictions of the good people of the State will accompany him to the field of strife.

The Quarterly Conference of the Jackson Street M. E. Church, in this city, has unanimously adopted the following preamble and resolution, and requested their publication in the city papers:

WHEREAS, our esteemed paster, Rev. B. F. Crary, has been tendered the appointment of Chaplain to the Third Regiment Minnesota Volunteers, and agent for the State to care for our sick and wounded, therefore

Resolved, That while we deeply regret the loss of his ministerial services, we cordially approve his acceptance of said appointment, and cheerfully acquiesce in his absence from the charge, so long as it may be rendered necessary by the wants of our gallant soldiers.

RIVER NEWS.—The river at this point since Saturday night, at six o'clock, has receded just six inches. The weather yesterday was warm, with an occasional shower of rain.

The levee presented a very business like appearance. The arrivals, including Sunday up to nine o'clock last night, were the Northern Belle, Northern Light, Sucker State, Keokuk, Itasca, Milwaukee, Pomeroy, Fred Lorenz, G. H. Wilson, Favorite, Jeannette Roberts, Clara Hine, and Antelope.

The Pomroy brought sixty tons of iron for the Minnesota and Pacific Railroad.

All the boats arriving from the Minnesota river brought large cargoes of grain. The Favorite brought down 1,400 sacks and 4,000 bushels of wheat in bulk.

The boats leaving this morning are the Itasca for Prairie du Chien and Dunleith, at 8 o'clock, and the Keokuk, Capt. Hatcher, for La Crosse, at the same hour.

The Jeannette Roberts, Capt. Roberts, leaves for Mankato at 10 o'clock, A. M.

Pomeroy, Painter, Master, goes into the Minnesota river trade, to day. She leaves for Mankato at two o'clock, P. M.

The Keokuk and Itasca both arrived from St. Anthony, with large cargoes of grain and flour last night, and will leave this morning at eight A. M.

MOVEMENTS AT PITTSBURG LANDING.

Special to the Chicago Times—Arrivals to-day furnish two days' later intelligence from the vicinity of Pittsburg, and brings us news of the highest importance, among which is the rumor of our occupation of Corinth, and that Beauregard has been compelled to withdraw from his naturally almost impregnable position by the superior strategy of Gen. Halleck, and that too before any considerable engagement had been fought.

The reported evacuation of Corinth, and its occupation by our forces under Gen. Pope was telegraphed several days since. It then appeared to be the design of the Rebel Chief to fall back upon Grand Junction, but his movements were anticipated by Gen. Halleck, and probably influenced him in the movement of troops in the direction of Purdy, thus keeping a strong force on the rebel's left flank, threatening at any moment to turn any position they might secure on the line of the Memphis and Charleston road. The accomplishment of this and other strategetical movements, that I am not at liberty to divulge at present, has had the intended effect of frustrating the plans of the enemy and throwing them upon a new expedient.

They were attacked by Gen. Grant in force on Wednesday, a few miles west of Corinth, their line constantly retreating, though in perfect order.

The result of this engagement appears in a rapid movement of the rebels by their right flank to the south or east, surrendering their line of the Memphis and Charleston road, and taking up of a position in force on the Mobile and Ohio road, south of Corinth. This movement together with the reports of deserters indicates that the whole rebel army will withdraw as rapidly as possible to Columbus, Mississippi, a point fifteen miles east of the main line of the Mobile and Ohio road, with which it is connected by a branch. It is 233 miles north of Mobile, and 95 miles south of Corinth. At this point the Confederacy have extensive works for the manufacture of arms, and ordnance stores, though otherwise the place is one of the utmost unimportance, and apparently an out of the way position for a military stand point.

IMPRESSED IRISHMEN NOT GOOD REBELS—A REBEL VERSION.

A gentleman who left New Orleans on the 1st inst., says that the Federals, after their war vessels had passed the forts, went to work with Irishwomen, at Inarantin, many of whom had husbands in the forts, and gave them money and urged them to advise their connections to give up the contest. The women did as requested, and the result was that three hundred and eighty men spiked their guns and delivered themselves up to the enemy.

JEFF. PROCLAIMS AGAIN.

To the people of the Confederate States of America:

An enemy waging war in a manner violative of the usages of civilized nations, has invaded our country with presumptions founded on superior numbers. He has declared his purpose to reduce us to submission. We struggle to preserve our birthright of constitutional freedom. Our trust is in the justice of our cause and the protection of God. Recent disasters have spread gloom over our land, and sorrow sits on the hearthstone of our countrymen. But people conscious of rectitude, and faithfully relying on their Father in Heaven may be cast down but cannot be dismayed. They mourn the loss of many whose lives have been sacrificed in their defense; but they receive this dispensation of a Divine Providence with humble submission and reverent faith; and now that our hosts are again going forth to battle, and loving hearts and homes are filled with anxious solicitude for their safety, it is meet that the whole people should look to their Almighty Father and beseech His all-powerful protection. Now, therefore, I, Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederate States of America, do issue this, my proclamation, inviting all the people to unite at their several places of worship on Friday, the 16th day of the present month of May, in humble supplication to Almighty God that He will vouchsafe His blessings on our beloved country; that He will strengthen and protect our armies; that He will watch over and preserve our people from the evil machinations of our enemies, and that He will, in His own good time, restore us the blessings of peace and security under His sheltering care.

Given under my hand and seal of the Confederate States, at Richmond, this 3d day of May, A. D. 1862.

[Signed] JEFF. DAVIS.

To the War Department:

I heard a few mornings ago that the Galena was aground off Hogg Island. I judge not badly, for the reason that Captain Rodgers does not throw over board his coal. I have sent him all the assistance he asks.

My troops are in motion and in magnificent spirits. They have all the air and feelings of veterans. It will do your heart good to see them. I have expected to make a junction with Gen. Franklin.

Instructions have been given so that the Navy will receive prompt support wherever and whenever required.

Major General Commanding.

Eye & Ear.

Dr. UNDERWOOD,
Of Chicago, Ill., the eminent and skilful operator on the Eye and Ear, whose name and fame is so extensively known throughout the United States, for his science, skill and success in performing formidable operations, and in removing difficult and dangerous diseases from those delicate organs, has arrived in St. Paul and may be consulted at the AMERICAN HOUSE for a short time only.
Dr. U., who is a regular Physician and Surgeon of the old school, has had an extensive experience in both hospital and private practice of twenty-eight years, and will be found competent to perform any operation necessary to restore lost sight or hearing, or by other mild and gentle means to remove any disease from those delicate organs within the reach of science and human skill.
CHRONIC DISEASES, of every grade and character, whether requiring medical or surgical treatment, POSITIVELY and PERMANENTLY CURED, when not clearly beyond the reach of science and humanskill.
Dr. Underwood treats all diseases on regular and scientific principles, as recognized by the medical profession both in Europe and America, and hence does not use or deal in those pretended new and never failing remedies—pecifics, inhaling vapors, and clairvoyant prescription—which are so ostentatiously paraded before the public by those impudent traveling quacks and money-fleecing empirics, nine-tenths of whom never were inside of a medical college. Patients afflicted or laboring under diseases of long standing, can consult Dr. U. with the most confident hope and expectation of being perfectly cured, or receiving with unerring certainty all the relief that the highest skill, the most judicious and scientific treatment can possibly bestow.
Among the diseases which the Doctor has lately treated with the most signal success, may be mentioned those of the Heart, Lungs, Liver, Stomach and Bowels—and Nervous Affections, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Salt Rheum and Chronic Female Affections. my7-3m

Merrimac Fruit Farm.
TRIOMPHE DE GAND.
We unhesitatingly place this variety at the very head of the list of strawberries. Another year's trial has only confirmed our opinion of its superior worth. Were we confined to one variety, it should be the Triomphe de Gand. No other kind, of which we have any knowledge, possesses so many excellencies. Indeed, with us, it approaches so nearly perfection as to leave but little more to be desired.
The plants are thrifty, hardy and vigorous growers, bearing their fruit well up, which renders it easily to be kept clean. They are also wonderfully productive with us, and the fruit is not only usually of large size but UNIFORMLY so, and throughout the season, which is longer with it than with most other varieties The flavor is everything that could be desired. It is of a very beautiful crimson color, glossy and very attractive. It keeps well after being picked, retaining its beautiful color and firmness, and carries better than any other variety.

We claim that all articles sent out from our establishment are what they profess to be—true to name—and of good quality. Our prices, we think, are reasonable—not "below" or "at cost" of production, but such as to afford a fair profit, to which, we think, we are justly entitled. We are not ambitious to give to our establishment the reputation of a low priced nursery, but one where a genuine article of the best quality can be had, and that will give satisfaction to the purchaser.

LA CROSSE AND ST. PAUL
PACKET COMPANY.
SUMMER ARRANGEMENT
During the season of 1862, till the close of navigation, the La Crosse and St. Paul Packet Company, having completely equipped their Line, and made large additions to their business facilities, will offer to shippers and passengers on the river greater inducements and conveniences, and QUICKER TIME, than was ever offered by any company on the river.
All the boats on the Chippewa, Minnesota, St. Croix and the upper Mississippi rivers, and the different lines of stages north of La Crosse will the coming season run to connect with the Davidson boats and the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad.
The La Crosse and St. Paul Packet Company will run a
PASSENGER AND FREIGHT LINE.
The former will number two first class boats—the nicest and fastest on the river. They will be the McCLELLAN and NORTHERN BELLE. The first will be the lightning line, making the run from La Crosse to St Paul in EIGHTEEN hours, and returning will leave here in the morning, and arrive at La Crosse in twelve hours time, to connect with the evening train, by which passengers will make close connection and reach Milwaukee in time for cars, or boats on the Lake in TWENTY HOURS FROM ST. PAUL, and reach Chicago next morning, by Minnesota Junction or Milwaukee, in just TWENTY-FOUR HOURS FROM LEAVING ST. PAUL, and in time for close connection East! This will be twelve hours the quickest time between these three cities ever made! Nothing but passengers, the mails express matter, and express goods will be carried on these boats, which will be furnished in the best of style. Passengers will then have daylight to view the grand beauties of the river, and good sleeping cars from La Crosse to Chicago—a great item. Arrangements have also been perfected so that all the boats of the upper rivers, and all the stage lines will run in close connection
The other line will number three regular boats; the Keokuk, G. H Wilson and Wenona, one of which will leave La Crosse daily on the arrival of the morning train from the East, connecting at all points north, and will also make close connections. The Favorite will run as a tri-weekly packet between St. Paul and Mankato, on the Minnesota river.
A daily line will also run between St Anthony and St. Cloud on the Upper Mississippi, for passenger and freight business. All of which are to connect with the boats above named, plying between La Crosse and St. Paul, and connecting with the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad.
This Company have just completed at St. Paul, a mammoth wharf boat, which will hold seven hundred tons of freight; and to or from which goods of all —The last battle in the war of the revolution was fought at Yorktown; the last in the war of 1812 at New Orleans.

NEWS ITEMS.

—One million of dollars in gold were given recently by banks and business men of Philadelphia for Treasury notes, the latter being preferable for paying interest.

—Intelligent fugitive blacks, who have come within McDowell's lines, say the rebels are discussing the propriety of arming the slaves, but concluded not to do so, not knowing who they would shoot

—An exchange says many military blowhards tell about smelling the battle from afar off. For battle substitute bottle, and nine cases in ten they would hit nearer the mark.

—The Union convention for Virginia (Kanawha) met at Clarksburg on the 30th ult., and nominated the following ticket: For Governor, Frank H. Pierpont; for Lieutenant Governor, Daniel Polsley: for Attorney General James S. Wheat.

—A gentleman who lately had a long interview with Gen. Scott at his home in Elizabeth, N. J, says that the veteran soldier declares that the war will surely be virtually over by the first of July. He expresses the utmost confidence that by that time we will have completely subdued and driven the rebels from the field.

—The Winona Republican of the 9th says: The Northern Light, on her last down trip, discharged at Prairie du Chien 58 car loads of wheat and flour, which were shipped principally from points in Minnesota. This is the largest freight taken into Prairie du Chien by any one boat this season

—A few days since some Indians walked quietly into a farmer's house, near Hokah, Houston county, and purloined therefrom a leather bed, bed clothing, knives, and other articles. The inmates, being absent did not discover their loss until the Indians had made good their escape.

—The Taylor Falls Reporter says that George Lammers, well known in that place, was wounded in the ankle at the battle of Shiloh, and that the wound is very severe. In the report of the wounded of the battery, the name George Summers, which undoubtedly should have been Lammers, occurred.

The same paper says:—"On Friday and Saturday last the first new logs of the season made their appearance, the drive, we believe of Mr. Canute Anderson. The river on both of those days, was literally swarming with logs, and Mr. Folsom's boom was full to overflowing."

—Hon. Robert J. Walker, a member of President Polk's Cabinet, from Mississippi, in a conversation at Willard's Hotel a few days ago, in regard to the conciliating policy towards the rebels, being advocated by many in the North, said: "Gentlemen, the North is certainly to blame for this terrible war. You have allowed these imolent tyrants to brow-beat you, to kick you, and cuff you, until they have become absolutely settled in the belief that this was the way to treat and control you, and now the only course for you is to whip them, and pound them until you thoroughly convince them of their mistake. You can then live with them in peace, but never before."

—A late number of the Louisville Journal says loyal citizens of some of the Southern counties of Kentucky assure us that the rebels around them, though restrained by the presence or the proximity of our troops, exhibit privately quite as much bitterness as they did during the reign of the Provisional Government, not hesitating to declare in their personal intercourse, that, just as soon as the troops shall be withdrawn, they will make every loyal man feel the weight of their power. There can be no doubt that this is the feeling and this the determination of thousands and tens of thousands of the rebels.

—Col. Forney, in a letter from Washington to the Philadelphia Press, says:

"I feel authorized to state that the President and every member of his Cabinet are anxious that the good example of New York should be followed up in every other State. The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Chase, is very decided in the expression of the opinion that it is the duty of the Republican party to join heartily with the Union Democrats, and to extend to them the most generous treatment. If this noble programme is consummated in good faith, we shall have a party dedicated to the Union and to the war, and opposed to the falsely called Democracy which acknowledges the leadership of the Breckinridge malignants. Between these two combinations, no honest patriot can hesitate which to choose."

—The bill lately introduced in the Senate to so modify the laws of the Federal District that a portion of the school taxes paid by the blacks there shall be set apart for the establishment of schools for colored children, has passed that body with only seven dissenting votes. The idea of extorting money from the blacks for the purpose of giving facilities for the education of white children, depriving the black ones of such advantages and then sneering at them as an ignorant and degraded race, is the quintessence of meanness. The Egyptians' forcing the Israelites to "make brick without straw" is gentlemanly courtesy compared to it.

A NEW LIGHT CULMINATED.

Disappointment and discomfiture seems to be the lot of mortals. We cherish fond theories, construct platforms which we fondly think are on too sound a basis to be moved, and place ourselves complacently upon them; assume political and moral positions which we deem impregnable, when some unlooked for literary Hercules, some "giant of the mind" steps into the arena, and with one fell swoop accomplishes our complete demolition—brushes us out of sight with as little compunction as a fly of phlebotomizing tendencies is swept from the theater of his operations by the bovine extremity. We give sage counsel, fond advice to our friends in regard to the course we think they should pursue and we are not appreciated, but are bluffly met in the spirit of the young man in the fable who was appropriating his neighbor's apples, and who, as represented by that rare and classical allegory, met the old man's gentle persuasions to come down by the very abrupt assertion that "he would not."

A discouraging event of this character has just fallen to our lot. But, not to keep our readers in suspense, we give the cause below, in all its literary effulgence. Our amiable correspondent is a "Democrat," and we will gratify him by giving his production just as the Cincinnati platform was adopted—"without dotting an i or crossing a t:"

LACROSSE May 1862.

MR EITOR, Sir, I See in the PRESS of May 4th an artical under the head of Rebel Sympathisers among us—with a long Rigamarolle about traitors &c &c. now Sir mark this, there are men all over the country, who have Sympathy for the South—for any man of sense must know that the North are now and always have been the invading party we have invaded their soil we have Stolen their Niggers for the last thurty years, we have thrust our abolition petitions into Congress, on the other hand the South never have interfered with our local Institutions in the North, we do not approve of the Course that the South have taken, neither do we approve of the course that our embecil President has persued, we belive the Administration to be a Black, Republican Abolitionist at heart, and that the War is carried on for the purpose of abolishing Slavery, and nothing else, and the howl for the Union, is for an effect, your party are the true disunion party, and always have been Since the Revolutionary War, in the time of that war there were two political classes, one was Whig the other tory, the Whigs changed their Names to Democrat while the tories assumed the Name of Federalist thy Remained in that way until eighteen hundred and forty, then the Fed's took the Name of Whig, and in eighteen fifty Six they assumed their present Naim, it will be time for the Republicans to change their Names again in Sixty four and call themselves the Union party, thus you can trace the origen of your party, down to the present day, as being the old Tory party degenerated. in Regard to your advise for us to leave, we will Just say to you that we shall not leave, and you have not wooley heads enough to make us leave, and what is more we Shall express our opinion when and where we please. make much of your Administration both State and National for it is the last of the kind that you and me will ever live to See,

Respectfully Yours, ——

We know enough of editorial life to expect hard knocks once in a while; but we feel that this friend—(we assure him that though he is of a different persuasion we have no enmity in our heart against him)—is unnecessarily severe on us, and what is worse, he will injure the President. He holds the reins of government: is intrusted by the Constitution with the great duty of running the machine, and calling him "embecil" will destroy the confidence and courage of the country: besides, it will make him feel bad. We hope the writer will modify that in some way. We feel assured that his "sober second thought" will lead him to "compromise" on some other term. We assure him that we have seen several men who are well acquainted with Old Abe and they say he is really a right smart fellow.

We are not so blind as not to see that, individually, he has completely demolished us. The strikingly original and very talented manner in which he disposes of us by one bold dash of his pen, by calling us an "abolitionist"—an italicised and Black Republican one at that—leaves us without a peg to hang upon.

It will be seen that the learned writer is a regular antiquarian in an historical way. We shall not pretend to controvert the results of his profound studies in that line. We will frankly confess that our earlier historical studies were deficient When we first commenced "talking politics" we didn't know anything about the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, the Homestead Bill and other measures which heretofore we have supposed called into life the Republican party. Our correspondent is undoubtedly familiar with Herodotus and the other ancient historians, and if he can show that the origin of our party runs back a little beyond Masonry, it will throw a vast amount of light upon the present issues of the day; though it must be confessed that the great leader of the secession party—which the writer's commendable modesty forbade him to acknowledge as his party—according to Bible chronology, flourished while the Black Republican party was a nonentity.

The closing sentence conveying a presentment of the writer that he will not live to see another Republican Administration, causes a feeling of sadness to come o'er us. We hope he is not of a consumptive family, and that if he is not spared to us long that he will not leave a dear wife and helpless family to the cold charities of the world. If our amiable friend is troubled with doubts as to what may be the latter end of secession sympathizers and abettors in our midst, when their Southern cronies are disposed of, we will promise to use our influence with the Administration in his favor if Stanton should get after him. If he is a man of a family—as most any young upstart among his political friends in the South is—it will be so much more in his favor.

In view of certain contingencies hinted at, we trust he will appreciate our kind intentions in withholding the publication of his name.

RIVER MAIL SERVICE TO MANKATO.

In answer to the petitions for a river mail to Mankato, which Mr. Aldrich placed before the Post Office Department, the following answer has been received:

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT,
CONTRACT OFFICE,
Washington, May 7, 1862.

SIR:—In answer to the petitions referred by you to this office, requesting that the mails be carried by steamboats during the season of navigation, on the route between Saint Paul and Mankato, I have the honor to inform you that as in the advertisement of November 30, 1861, for mail service during the next four years, from July 1st, no proposals were asked for an exclusive river service, and as no proposals were offered for it by those bidding for the service as advertised, the request could not be complied with, without a new advertisement, which in view of all the circumstances it was deemed inexpedient to order.

Bids for service on the route mentioned, known in the advertisement referred to, as route No. 13575, have been accepted, and it is hoped that that arrangement will prove satisfactory to the people along the route.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
GEO. W. McLELLAN.

Hon. Cyrus Aldrich, House of Representatives.

Army Correspondence.

FROM THE THIRD MINNESOTA REGIMENT.

MURFREESBORO, TENN., May-Day, 1862.

To the Editor of the St. Paul Press:

Did you ever imagine a perfect day, with just enough heat and not a degree too much; with a pleasant breeze singing among the dancing leaves, and a bright blue sky over all? Such is this, present anniversary of joyful memories. The waving flags, the glistening rifles, the uniformed men, and the tents do not much resemble a civilized pic nic; but they serve, to the soldiers, as a pleasant reminder of one.

Each of our camps seems more pleasant than the last. This one is out in the woods by itself. The railroad runs within about a quarter of a mile, and the roar of the cars is about the only sound, except those of a martial character, which breaks in upon our camp.

We are to have three brigade drills per week. Yesterday we had our first, and I never was so proud of anything as I was of the conduct of our regiment. While in other battalions the commanding officers seemed called upon by the awkwardness of the men to do some tall swearing once in a while, in ours there was not a word spoken except by way of command. Every movement was executed with the utmost promptness and regularity.

Not only is our regiment splendidly drilled, but one of the best behaved and most cleanly in the service. This is owing partly to the exertions of the officers, but more to the excellent habits of the men before they enlisted. As it is, we are pared all trouble from those vermin, which are the worst pests of the regular armies.

I wrote you that we had orders to march to Pittsburg, but they were so amended as to cause us to join our brigade at this place.

MAY 5.—Lieutenant Colonel Smith is in command of the regiment at present. He arrived in camp yesterday, most opportunely. Col. Duffield, our acting Brigadier General, had occasion to leave for a few days, which left Col. Lester in command of the brigade. A force of rebel cavalry being represented near by the scouts, our company, (I), together with D, and C, are sent to look for them, and I am finishing this letter way out in the woods.

M. P. H.

CAMP NEAR MURFREESBORO, TENN. May 5th, 1862.

To the Editor of the St. Paul Press:

All has been quiet with us, since we came to Tennessee, till the 27th of last month, when we bade adieu to Camp Minnesota, where we had spent very agreeable hours, enlivened by visits from the Union people in the vicinity of Nashville, a soulstirring speech from that patriot, Gov. Johnson, and the praises of all visitors.

We left our old Camp at four in the morning, with orders to join the rest of our brigade at and about this place, which then had marching orders for Pittsburg Landing.

We found it warm and tiresome traveling, and were glad to spend the Sabbath afternoon resting in a fine grove, and sleeping out in the open air, sixteen miles from Nashville. The next morning we were obliged to take another pike, which gave us six miles extra travel. We arrived here Tuesday, at 8 A. M., and learned that the order for our brigade to march, had been countermanded.

We spent our time in usual drills, and inspection till last Saturday, when we learned that a baggage train had been captured by the rebels, only 16 miles from here, and that they took 140 prisoners.

Col. Duffield, commander of the brigade, at once took the 8th Kentucky, and 9th Michigan, and started to look after affairs in that direction, leaving Col. Lester in command with orders to be on the lookout, and ready for anything that might turn up. Nothing new turned up till Sunday morning, when our pickets sent in word, that a negro had come to them from the rebel camp, and said that Morgan and all his band were encamped some four miles distant, and that twenty-five of his pickets were within two miles, but as the information came from a negro there, was no confidence placed upon it, till one of our Lieutenants came in, stating he had had a hard race for his life, but his horse proved to be the best, and he came out all right. Woodford's cavalry were in pursuit, and scouts were out all through the country. We were ordered to headquarters, where we remained till 1 P. M., and learning that the telegraph wire had been broken both ways, and that the train coming from Nashville barely escaped falling into their hands, and our Sutler also, companies A and B of our regiment, with two of the Kentucky 23d, took the cars and started on towards Nashville, and found all right until we got along ten miles, where we found the wire broken and saw the burning cotton where they had heated the rails, thinking to capture the other train, but were foiled by the timely warning of a negro, who told them that the rails were taken up and heated by burning cotton, but our men took the rails from the fire and retreated towards Nashville, but soon found their retreat cut off, so went ahead again, and found the rails sufficiently cooled to permit them to lay them down, and they passed on safely.

We mend'd the wires and went on five miles, when we surprised a squad of the rebels, who were glad to get clear, leaving us six horses, two mules, some blankets and a coat containing three southern papers and a hair brush. We scoured the country till dark, and then returned to camp, where we learned of the arrival of Col. Duffield with three prisoners, fifteen horses, a large quantity of bacon, some whisky and a rebel flag. We were anxiously awaiting news from our cavalry, who were only two miles behind Morgan's main body, when last heard from last night. We were all in good spirits and ready to fight.

We left our sick at Nashville, among whom was Dr. Butler, whose place is filled by a Doctor whose boyish skill we know but little of as yet.

Lieutenant Colonel Smith has returned much improved in health.

We get but few letters from home, owing to their not being directed properly. Our letters should be directed via Nashville, and then they will reach us wherever we may be.

Nearly all the people here do not deny being secesh, yet we are sometimes short of food, and if detected in drawing any, are punished for it, which should not be the case.

HURBERT.

Movements in Virginia.

REBELS PREPARING THEIR MINDS FOR A DEFEAT.

NEW YORK, May 13.

The advance of the iron clad gunboat Galena up James river created the utmost consternation in Petersburg. The fact that she had silenced the rebel batteries at Dog's Point and was approaching Petersburg, caused a complete panic there.

The Petersburg Express of the 9th says there is a rumor that the Yankees were landing forces yesterday at Burwell's Bay, or Smithfield, and their intention will doubtless be to march across the country, a distance of some eighteen or twenty miles, and take possession of Suffolk.

A dispatch from Lynchburg, Va., dated May 8th, says Jackson was still at Staunton at last accounts. A report was brought there by an officer of the 18th Mississippi regiment that a detachment constituting Ewell's army at Swift Run Gap had been driven by the enemy, and that a battle was pending.

We received intelligence yesterday to the effect that our troops were falling back from Green Brier to Bonsack's Depot, in Roanoke county.

From the Atlanta Confederacy of the 4th, we learn that indications point strongly to a battle coming off at Corinth at an early day, which for magnitude in the forces engaged will eclipse any that ever transpired in America. Our judgment is that the Yankees have nearly 150,000.

Beauregard is well nigh flanked on all sides. He has an immense army, but not so large as the enemy. It were idle to conceal the fact that we have some fears for the result. There is such a thing as being utterly overwhelmed with numbers, against which we can provide no remedy.

From Washington

WASHINGTON, May 13.

CAPT. BOGGS ASSIGNED TO COMMAND THE JUNIATTA.

The Times' special says Capt. Boggs, bearer of dispatches from New Orleans, who lost his ship in the gallant fight there, has been assigned to the command of the Juniatta, a comparatively new vessel of war, carrying 12 guns, now lying off at Philadelphia.

The loss of the Norfolk navy yard by rebels' burning, is much regretted. It will immediately be rebuilt by the Government.

The military board of Kentucky, who, under the authority of the loyal Legislature of that State, practically took all military power out of the hands of Gov. Magoffin last summer, and saved Kentucky for the Union, have sent a deputation to Washington, to ask for moderate and conservative action on the part of Congress. They say that the emancipation act of this District, coupled with the general emancipation and confiscation bill still pending, are creating wide spread uneasiness and disaffection in Kentucky, and weakening the hearts of Union men there.

General Butler in Comfortable Quarters.

INTERESTING NEWS FROM MEMPHIS.

Morgan has been released on parole, also Col. Coffee, late of Walford's cavalry.

CINCINNATI, May 13.

The Commercial has the following South ern news: The Memphis Avalanche of the 6th says telegraphic news from Richmond is painfully significant. McClellan seems to have been preparing the same fate for Richmond that Butler and Porter got up for New Orleans. The Avalanche, of same date, says of affairs in New Orleans: Mayor Monroe and all the Aldermen who have been arrested for refusing to take the oath, were sent to prison.

Great distress prevails in the city. Food of all kinds extremely scarce; flour not to be had at any price.

There is more of the federal force yet to be landed, and the river is full of federal gunboats, mortars and transports.

The Avalanche says the Congressional stampede from Richmond had a very depressing effect, and it is believed it foreshadowed the early evacuation of Virginia.

The policy of evacuating is nearly played out. We have but precious little more territory that we can spare.

The Memphis Argus says the confederate loss at Shiloh was 7,000 killed and wounded.

The Memphis Argus, in an article on "gunboats," says: Thus far it must be confessed that our attempts with gunboats on the river have been a disgusting fizzle. People know it—so does the Government.

The correspondent of the Memphis Avalanche says that thirty three per cent of Bishop Polk's army was killed and wounded at Shiloh.

The same paper of the 7th says: We have advices from New Orleans up to Saturday at one o'clock. Gen. Butler has taken the St. Charles Hotel for his headquarters. Evans's House on Poydras street has been converted into a hospital. The Jackson Railroad depot was taken possession of on Saturday morning. Fedaral pickets have been extended out as far as the crossing of the Jefferson and Jackson Railroads.

Four gunboats and one transport started for Baton Rouge.

On Saturday morning seven regiments had been landed at New Orleans.

All the newspapers are still published there. A federal censor is placed over every office to examine all matter and exclude whatever may be inimical to the federal cause. The proclamation of Gen. Butler was handed in at all the offices, and refused. When the Guard came to the True Delta office and were refused, they took possession of the office and sent for Northern printers, who set it up and worked it off in the edition.

Destructive Fire

NEW YORK, May 13.

One of the most destructive fires which ever visited Long Island has been raging for the last four days, destroying a large amount of property. The fire broke out near Stone Brook on Friday last, and was occasioned by the burning off of a lot on the farm of Mr. Joel L. G. Smith. It has swept over an area of at least 60,000 square acres, principally in the town of Brookhaven. It skirted the villages of Stony Brook, Setarket, Port Jefferson, Mt. Sinar and Miller's Place on the north; New Village, Seeden, Carom, Middle Island and Manorville in the middle, and Oatchaque Belport Fire Place, Mastic Marches and Onaque on the south. It passed some little distance from the villages of the north, while in the centre it came so near as to endanger dwellings and human lives. In the south side they suffer more severely in the village of Mastic. It swept down the Great South Bay. The village of Mastic is swept down to the shores of Great South Bay, where many barns and out buildings were destroyed. At Manorville several dwellings were destroyed, and it is said that several lives were lost in attempting to arrest its progress. A dispatch from Port Jefferson, May 12th, says the damage is variously estimated at from $300,000 to $500 000.

SOUTHERN NEWS.

MOVEMENTS OF THE GULF FLEET.

NEW YORK, May 13.

The Petersburg, (Va.,) Express of the 9th publishes the following:

MOBILE, May 8th.—The advance of Commodore Porter's fleet, consisting of seven vessels, is off Fort Morgan. Ten more are off Horn Island, moving eastward. They are firing occasionally, apparently feeling for masked batteries. Our forces are confident of holding the enemy in check.

RECONNOISSANCE NEAR SAVANNAH.

SAVANNAH, May 8.—The Republican says the Yankees were reconnoitering the river and coast batteries all the morning with gunboats and a balloon. They came up nearly to the mouth of Augusta Creek and then descended.

FURTHER FROM NEW ORLEANS.

AUGUSTA, May 7.—The Mobile Tribune of the 4th has dispatches from Jackson, Mississippi, dated 2nd.

The Delta of Thursday last says business in New Orleans is generally suspended; most of the banks are closed, and the city everywhere presents a sad appearance. The Post Office remains open, guarded by marines; the telegraph offices are closed, and railroad travel stopped.

The mutiny at the fort was caused by the false news that the city had surrendered.

The Delta says that 380 men mutinied and marched off to the enemy from the fort. One company stood firm.

In answer to the foreign consuls, Commodore Farragut said he would allow permission to reach the city on flat boats and skiffs, but no steamboat could be allowed.

NEWS ITEMS.

—The Chicago Tribune says:—"The venom with which the pro-slavery journals pursue Secretary Stanton, while they insist that nothing shall be said against their own favorites, has attracted public attention. Stanton's offense in their eyes, is first, that he urges a vigorous prosecution of the war; and second, he has but little reverence for the "sacred institution," and would knock out his brains to save the Union. He is too good and earnest a Union man to suit secesh customers."

—We learn from the Mankato Independent that the Washington House in that place, with all of its contents, including some $600 in money, all belonging to Louis Strchcker, was destroyed by fire on the 5th inst. The building itself was amply insured.

The same paper says that the Postmaster General has granted a daily mail from that place to Winona. The contract has been awarded to Messrs. Burbank & Blakely, who propose putting on four horse coaches, and running through in thirty-six hours. The express will be carried over this line.

—It is stated that Beauregard is in sore want of money. This is strange when we consider what a big check Buell and Grant lately gave him on the bank of the Tennessee.

—It is announced that the rebel capital has been temporarily removed to Danville, Virginia. This place is on the extreme southern border of Virginia, about midway from east to west.

—The Indianapolis Sentinel says, "Gossip revives the report that a 'little responsibility' may soon be added to the family circle at the White House. This is properly an Illinois item—not an Indiana or a National affair at all." As a matter of course it will be a sucker.

—Parson Brownlow in accepting an invitation to deliver a lecture before the New York Union Association, says: "Southern man, as I am, if the South, in her madness and folly, will force the issue upon the country, of slavery and no Union or Union and no slavery, I am for the Union, though every other institution in the country perish! I am for sustaining this Union, if it shall require 'coercion' or 'subjugation,' or what is worse, the annihilation of the rebel population of the land!" Thus speak all of the Union men of the South. How such language should make Northern doughfaces blush.

—In the occupation of Fredericksburg, on the 4th inst., Buchanan's postmaster was arrested and will be held until he makes good the amount stolen through him from the government.

—Advices from Burnside's division give an encouraging accout of the progress of the national cause in North Carolina. A regiment of North Carolina troops has been organized, and Union men in large numbers have voluntarily come forward, taken the oath of allegiance, and asked to be armed and equipped to defend their homes against the rebels. Our troops have captured horses enough to mount two companies of cavalry, and make frequent dashes among the rebels.

—The negroes from the near counties of Maryland steal their masters' stock and wagons to come into Baltimore, and parties in Maryland have frequently stopped them to search the wagons for "conarabands." A negro, driving a wagon to town a few days ago, was thus stopped, when he said: "No use looking in this wagon, massa; I hain't got any concubines dar."

—A New York gold pen dealer has sent out about ten thousand packages this year, none of which have been lost. This speaks well for the administration of our postal service.

—The following is one among many of the numerously signed memorials laid before the Senate and House almost daily:

"The undersigned, loyal citizens of Ohio, respectfully represent that, while they are perfectly willing to bear their fair share of the burden of the present war for the Union, they are of the opinion that a tax upon the property of patriots should go hand in hand with the confiscation of the property of traitors; and in order to prevent discord and opposition in the loyal States, they ask that those who commenced the war may be compelled to assist in paying for it."

—The Nashville Union advises the pious Almanac-maker, Reverend Summers, D. D., when he makes another Confederate Almanac, to have but two signs in his zodiac, the Crab which crawls backward and the Scorpion which stings itself to death.

—Deserters from fort Pillow, state that the rebel commander there, since the fall of New Orleans, is counteracting the tendency which this event has to make his forces think of their "latter end," by wheedling them into the idea that our gunboats have only been allowed to come up to the city to be entrapped, and that they now cannot get back again. That reminds us of the boy's wrestling, who threw himself flat on his back in order to pull his antagonist down to him.

—A great race is to come off between Cornet and Ida May, on the 14th inst., at Urbana, Ohio—Stakes $4.000.

—The Richmond Examiner says that Governor Letcher has ordered out for service all the old men between 35 and 55 years of age, who were spared by the Conscription bill.

—The office of the Memphis Appeal has been removed to Grenada, Miss., in "anticipation," it says, "of Federal Movements."

REORGANIZATION OF THE ARMY OF THE TENNESSEE.

The Chicago Tribune's reporter at Camp Shiloh, gives the late reorganization of the army there in detail, with other items:

General Halleck is chief in command and General Grant second.

General Grant also retains the command of the District of Tennessee, including its army corps.

General Thomas takes command of the right wing, and is transferred to the army of the Tennessee.

The army corps under General Thomas' command will consist of his own division, that of Brigadier General W. T. Sherman, the division of Brigadier General T. W. Sherman (Port Royal), General S. A. Hurlburt's division, and Brigadier Davis' division.

General McClernand will command the army corps consising of his own division, General Lew Wallace's division, and one division from General Buell's army corps, to be designated by him (General Buell) together with the heavy artillery.

Brigadier General Schuyler Hamilton's division is a reserve division of General Pope's army, and will remain under his direction until farther orders.

General Buell commands the centre—army of the Ohio.

I learn from headquarters that General Mitchell has taken Bridgeport, Alabama.

I also learn that General Curtis is coming down the White and Arkansas rivers on rafts. This would bring them out into the Mississippi about two hundred miles above Memphis. Could he there effect a junction with our gunboats coming up the Mississippi from New Orleans, it may be said that the river would be to all intents and purposes in our possession.

Should General Curtis, however, be attacked by a superior force of the enemy, his position would certainly be a precarious one. It is said, however, that there are no rebels there in any very great numbers. General Curtis' army is supposed to number some twenty thousand men.

COL. FORNEY ON THE EMPLOYMENT OF CONTRABANDS.

In a recent letter from Washington to the Philadelphia Press, Col. Forney gives his views upon this important subject as follows:

Whether the recent prediction of Mr. Buchanan, that when the warm weather comes our soldiers "will die off like rotten sheep" in the Southern climate, is to be fulfilled or not, is one of the questions that time alone can solve. In this connection it is well to consider the programme set forth in the late order of Major General Hunter, now in command of South Carolina and Georgia, in regard to the emancipated slaves of the South. The slaveholders are arming their negroes by thousands, and General Hunter proposes to do likewise. In view of the approaching sickly season this may not only be a wise but an unavoidable and imperative measure of self preservation. Shall our white troops be killed off "like rotten sheep," by the diseases of climate, or by the hands of negro recruits of the rebel chiefs? General Hunter, a citizen of New Jersey, and officer of the regular army, and wholly disconnected by politics, meets the trouble by proposing to drill, educate and arm the great body of contrabands in his district; and if they cannot fight, to put them to work on the fortifications and in the cotton fields. France employs the Algerines, England the natives of India and the blacks, and the rebels in this country their own slaves and the savages of the Indian region for military purposes. Thus, not only the customs of other nations, but the example of the traitors on our own soil, come to strengthen and justify the plan of General Hunter. As to the loyalty of the negro, let us admit that it is from the contrabands that we receive our most accurate information. It was a contraband that gave the first notice of the evacuation of Manassas to General McClellan—that brought news of the flight from Yorktown—and that yesterday exposed the fear and dissensions in the social and military family of Jefferson Davis. Rarely have they deceived any of our Generals. If there is any class South that has a vital interest in opposing the rebels, it is the negroes. They have felt their attrocities, and must endure new sufferings should their masters succeed. The bitter foes of the Republic in the South are white, not black men. The negroes are acclimated to the climate of the cotton States—they know the country—and they have no alternative but to work to keep themselves alive. The world wants cotton, and they can plant and gather it. Our Government wants to save the lives of the white soldiers of the free States, and the negroes may prove to be efficient substitutes. Besides, if the rebels will not yield, let them, as they concentrate their army in Mississippi and Alabama, as they marshal their savage allies in Arkansas and Texas, as they drive their negroes into the front ranks to slay our brothers and friends—let them, I say, meet the punishment of their treason at the hands of those they have so long oppressed and degraded.

OUR GUNBOATS ON THE TENNESSEE.

The following, from the report of Lieutenant Commanding Gwin, of the United States gunboat Tylor, addressed to Commander Foote, has been received at the Navy Department. The report is dated Hamburg, Tennessee, April 23.

SIR: I have to inform you that on the 21st ult., I proceeded as high up the Tennessee river as Florence, Alabama, capturing the steamer Alfred Robb, which has been used as a rebel transport on the upper part of this river, not having been sunk, as we supposed. I found the rebel boat Dunbar, which had been used previous to the fall of Fort Henry as a gunboat, some distance up Cypress creek, which is two miles below Florence, Alabama, sunk, the water being above her guards. As it was impossible for me to raise her, I burned her to the water's edge.

I am happy to inform you that the rebels have neither a boat nor a gun on this river. I captured their best gun at Florence. It is now on board the Lady Foote late Robb. I learned at Florence that their bridge was destroyed by order of Gen. Beauregard. The inhabitants were very indignant at such a wanton distruction.

PUNCH'S ALMANAC advises the farmers to sow their P's; keep their U's warm; hive the B's; shoot their J's; feed their 'N's; look after their potatoes' I's and then take your E's.

It might also have added that they should C to it that they do not O for their T and other luxuries, and should take their Q from the weather, G up and make 'A while the sun shines, and if they would be Y's take good care of their "V's" and not go an L beyond their income.

WHAT HAS BEEN PROVED.

The war is now so near a close that it is safe and may be profitable to point out some of the lessons it has taught the American people. Among them are the following:

It has proved that the United States have more military resources, and can put into the field greater armies, than any nation on earth.

It has proved that in a life and death struggle, a slaveholding is no match for a free labor community.

It has proved that the United States government has no friends among the governments of Europe, and furthermore that it needs none.

It has proved that in a crisis demanding self-command and prudence, such as the Trent affair, a nation of freemen can act as wisely as the wisest monarch.

It has proved that Yankee inventiveness and mechanical skill is as remarkable in war as in peace.

It has proved that an earnest devotion to the arts of peace does not disqualify a nation for great military achievements.

It has proved that we were wise in not having built a great wooden navy.

This will suffice for the present.—N. Y. World.

GEN. HAMILTON SUPERCEDED.

Gen. Hamilton departed for Washington yesterday, being superceded by Gen. Philip Kearney in command of his division. The cause of Gen. Hamilton's dismissal—it is nothing else—is stated as follows:

"In response to an order by the Commander-in-Chief, detailing the regiments under Gen. Hamilton for fatigue and picket duty, that gentleman first obeyed, and then dispatched a note to Gen. McClellan, representing that his men had been, from the time of their arrival before Yorktown, notoriously overworked, to the serious detriment of their health and efficiency; that other divisions had been comparatively absolved from such labor. For this note an apology was demanded. While disclaiming any intention of discourtesy, Gen. Hamilton persisted in his remonstrances. The result is his removal and the substitution of Gen. Kearney. I know no officer who was more deservedly popular with his men, as among those of his own rank, than Gen. Hamilton, and his dismissal has assuredly not diminish his popularity."

LAUNCH OF A GOVERNMENT SUBMARINE WAR VESSEL.

The launch of the little submarine vessel Kensington took place on Wednesday afternoon. When fairly in the water she lay half submerged, her iron guards being almost level with the surface. Two men went into the interior and tried the effect of the oars and paddles. Although but two or three were moved at once, the vessel obeyed them readily, and when the whole sixteen or eighteen are put in motion it is believed that she can be propelled with considerable velocity. She will be entirely submerged, when necessary, by means of lead or other ballasting; and it is believed that, when this is accomplished, a very slight variation in weight will suffice to lower her to the bottom or raise her to the surface. When entirely submerged, the glazed aperture in her roof will keep her lighted. With her Gothic arched back and conical bow she looks not unlike a big sturgeon.

POLITICS IN ST. LOUIS.

Local politics are assuming an interesting shape. The chief contest will be upon members of the Legislature and the members of Congress, and the issue will be emancipation with expatriation, and emancipation without expatriation. The secessionists remain quiet, and the old Sham Democracy will egg on the different factions of the emancipationists in hopes of slipping a semi-Secessionist into the seat now held by Frank Blair. The late demonstration by Blair in favor of colonization, as a condition precedent to emancipation, has lost him the entire German vote, while his course against Fremont has done him great injury with another class. The grand contest will be to commit the Republicans of St. Louis to the Blair doctrine or its opposite. The adverse party is gradually combining in favor of B. Gratz Brown, the old line free-soil Benton Democrat, who wrote Blair into political fame while editor of the Democrat a few years ago. Mr. Brown has written a strong emancipation letter, in which he scouts the idea of colonization with force and ability. This letter has made him the representative man against Blair and against the Blair doctrine. The Germans support Brown, and their influence in the Republican party may give him the nomination for Congress. It is currently rumored that a new paper will be started here next month to advocate Mr. Blair's cause, inasmuch as his old organ, the Democrat, is now arrayed against him.—Cor. N. Y. Tribune.

GALLANT NAVAL ACTION.—The action of the Federal steam sloop Verona and the rebel iron clad Webster, below New Orleans, in which both vessels were sunk, promises already, in the first brief account telegraphed, a degree of thrilling interest. It fairly rivals the desperate gallantry of the ill-fated Congress, before her great antagonist in Hampton Roads. The Webster run down the Verona, but before the latter sunk she poured a volley of eight guns into the other and both shared the fate of death. The Verona is one of our new steam sloops of war and mounted ten guns, commanded by Charles S. Boggs, of New Jersey, who had been in the navy since 1826. It is more difficult to locate the Webster, as we do not find such a name in a list of nearly one hundred vessels called the "Confederate Navy." It may be that the name has been confounded for the "W. H. Webb," a staunch tow boat of New York, seized at New Orleans and early converted to rebel uses. The Webb was a boat 191 feet long, 7 feet draught, and of 700 tons burthen, and was adapted therefore to iron plating.—Chicago Tribune.

—Mrs. Swisshelm, in a late number of her sprightly paper, is somewhat severe on the St. Cloud market for its destitution of eggs.

Can it be that the idea of "feminine disinthrallment" and "exemption from bearing the burdens falling to her weary lot" has become so contagious and ramified in that neighborhood that it reaches down even to the feathered "biddies;" and has our sister of the quill become so absorbed by the prevalent military spirit that she proposes to press the recusant, cackling dames into duty? That mode of dealing with the "female persuasion," nem. con, has always been rather popular, and "we've seen the time" when we could patiently try lengthy experiments with it.

Since writing the above a subsequent number of sister Swisshelm's paper conveys the intelligence that her plan has met with entire success. Eggs are coming in to her sanctum from all quarters. It is eggs-actly the plan.

MAY.—DYSPEPSIA.—This is a very distressing complaint, and gives the patient more suffering than almost any other disease. In fact, it is a combination of many complaints in one. The symptoms are numerous, and of the nature of almost all other complaints combined. From this fact arise the very many cases where this disease is mistaken for some other and so improperly treated. The first symptoms, indigestion, flatulency, loss of appetite, heartburn, headache etc., if neglected, almost always awaken some dormant disease, and send the poor sufferer to a premature grave. What you must first do is to cleanse the blood and regulate the bowels—do this with the "Mountain Herb Pills," and you can bid defiance to dyspepsia.

This Mill is just completed, and is in good running order. Our machinery embraces all the latest improvements, and was got up in the East, without regard to expense. It has two run of Burrs, which will be kept running night and day, so that farmers coming from a distance can be accommodated without much delay.

The need of a first class Mill o this kind has long been felt by the citizens of St. Paul and vicinity. We have secured the services of James Craigie, who has made milling the business of his life, and in whom we can place entire confidence.

All kinds of grain will be weighed when brought to the Mill, and also when taken away, if desired. We feel confident in saying to the public that we can make as good Flour and as great a yield to the bushel as any Mill in Minnesota, and respectfully solicit a fair trial.

Said mortgage was filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the county of Ramsey, and then Territory, now State of Minnesota, on the 1st day of October, A. D. 1857, and was duly recorded in Book M. of Mortgages, on pages 278, 274 and 275, of the records in said office.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

LOST CHILD.—A smart, well dressed boy, about five years old, came to the house of A. Harmon, Esq., Minneapolis, yesterday afternoon (Monday.) His name, as he gave it, is Shadwick. He says he came up the river on the Milwaukee, with his mother grandfather and grandmother.

POLICE.—Edward Kerney was arrested and brought before the Court yesterday, and fined for assault and battery. Also C. H. Brown, A. Raddles, Erastus Olson and William Taylor, each for disorderly conduct.

DEPARTURE OF THE FIFTH REGIMENT.—This Regiment, probably the last Minnesota installment of troops that will be needed in the present war, left for the theater of operations, on the Hawkeye State at five o'clock last evening. It comprised seven companies—the balance of the Regiment being retained to man the forts on our border. The men generally were in good spirits, though as is usually the case, the parting in several instances gave rise to strong ebullitions of feeling. It may not be improper to state that several in this Regiment are not from choice in their present positions, having, it is said, been wheedled under different pretexts, by recruiting officers into putting their names on the muster roll, with the understanding that they should have the privilege of withdrawing them at a future time if they wished to do so. It is not creditable to any officer to impose upon those who are so ignorant as this would indicate.

Before starting, the seven Companies left quite a substantial token to the relatives left behind, in the shape of the following allotments:

	Per month.
Company A	$509 00
" E	537 50
" F	558 00
" G	366 00
" H	250 00
" I	276 00
" K	376 50
Staff officers	192 00
Amount per month	$3,259 00
Making a sum total per year of	$39,108.

EXCURSION TICKETS TO THE SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION.—The State Sunday School Association holds its Annual Convention at Red Wing, opening on Tuesday, the 10th of June, at 2 o'clock P. M. The Minnesota Packet Company, Burbank's line of stages throughout the State, and Davidson's steamers on the upper and lower Mississippi and Minnesota rivers, will give persons desiring to attend, at the time of paying full fare to Red Wing, free tickets for the return trip. The friends at Red Wing entertain them during their stay.

The great Sunday School army of Minnesota is now estimated to number over 20,000 strong. Shall it not be well represented at this annual review? Let us make the Convention worthy of the cause. To up country delegates we add that a delegation will leave St. Paul by the boats at seven o'clock on Tuesday morning, June 10th.

N. B.—The Anniversary of the Minnesota Bible Society will be held in St. Paul, on Sabbath evening, June 8.

By order of State Central Committee, Minnesota S. S. Association.

Papers throughout the State will confer a favor upon a large number of their patrons, by giving the above at least one insertion.

GEN. HANCOCK, THE HERO OF WILLIAMSBURG.

Gen. Winfield S. Hancock's conduct at Williamsburg, in taking, with his command, two redoubts of the enemy's fortifications, and subsequently in turning the left wing of Gen. Johnston's rebel army, has been spoken of in a report of General McClellan to the War Department as "brilliant in the extreme." It was the bravery evinced in taking these works at the point of the bayonet, repulsing Early's rebel brigade and capturing nearly two hundred prisoners, besides killing a number of the enemy including two Colonels, that gave our forces the advantage which compelled the enemy to evacuate.

Gen. Hancock is a native of Pennsylvania, and was appointed from that State cadet in the West Point Academy in 1840. Graduating in 1844 in the same class with Gen. S. B. Buckner and Gen. D. M. Frost, he was promoted brevet second Lieutenant in the Sixth Infantry, and two years later was advanced to a full second Lieutenantcy. He was breveted first Lieutenant, August 20th, 1847, for gallant and meritorious conduct in the battles of Contreras and Cherubusco. He was Regimental Quarter master in 1848 and 1859, afterwards Regimental Adjutant, and in November, 1855, was commissioned as a Captain in the Quartermaster's Department, which rank he held (and still holds) in the regular army, until appointed by President Lincoln a Brigadier General of Volunteers, his commission dating September 23d of last year.

As indicative somewhat of the character of the man, it may be stated that, after his promotion to the place of Brigadier General, and when the organization of the brigade had been completed, he was tendered a service of plate, but he declined it; saying that it would be proper for him to accept such compliment when he had carried it in battle. That time has now come, and he will at least be saluted with the thanks of the country for his gallantry and skill in the field.

HOW THE SOUTHERN REBELS ARE DECEIVED.—The New Orleans Delta of the 10th, notices the arrival in that city of 2,700 prisoners. General Prentiss among the number. It says an extra train has just arrived from Corinth, bringing news "that the enemy had applied to General Beauregard for an armistice of three days to bury their dead," which was refused. The rebels had carried off the field eighty pieces of cannon and 30,000 complete military equipments. General Sherman was killed by Morgan's soldiers.

The Delta also learns that Island No. 10 had not been captured as reported, the National troops only having occupied the land batteries below the island. The troops on Island No. 10 would defend it to the last extremity.

The same paper has the following account of the second day's fight at Pittsburg Landing:

MEMPHIS, April 8th.—The Federals, reinforced by a division of 7,000 men, attacked the Confederates at daybreak. A desperate battle took place, in which the enemy was repulsed, but energetically returned to the charge with fresh troops—probably the column of General Buell. Notwithstanding this desperate reenforcement, the federals were driven to the other side of the river.

General Pillow visited Memphis on the 7th, taking good care to keep out of the second day's fight. He reported the capture of five thousand prisoners, 25,000 stand of arms, and one hundred pieces of artillery; setting down the national loss at 15,000 men, that of the rebels at 4,000.

UNION MEN HANGED AND CRUCIFIED.—The Fort Pillow correspondent of the Cincinnati Times says: Several of us went up the river, the other day, in a skiff, a short distance, to the half-submerged house of a Union family, named Armstrong, residing on the Tennessee shore, and the family assures me a number of loyal citizens were hanged for no other reason than their attachment to the Union. Mrs. Armstrong says she knew six men who were executed, and that, in one instance, a poor fellow that had been coerced into the Secession army and had twice deserted, was captured, carried off in the night, and actually crucified; spikes being driven through his hands and feet, thus lastening him to a tree, and leaving him to a lingering and horrible death. The unfortunate victim was gagged that his cries might not call any one to assist or relieve him; and nearly a week had elapsed before he was discovered. He was still alive, but died the second day after his release.

"Oh God! it is all over!" exclaimed Lord North, as he received the announcement of the capture of Yorktown, at his office in Downing street. He took the intelligence, said Lord George Germain, "as he would have taken a ball in the breast." The second capture of Yorktown will be as poignant to the leaders in the present wicked cause. It is just as fatal. The cases differ, indeed, in form. Cornwallis' army surrendered. Lee's army takes to flight. But the practical effect is the same. Both armies were alike put to hors du combat. Lee's forces are no more able to confront our advancing columns than if, like their predecessors, they had actually grounded and stacked their arms, and given their parole to serve no more.—N. Y. World.

—"I repeat," said Senator Wade, lately, "that, as no jurist has undertaken to define the limits to which man might go in the defence of his life when assailed, so no statesman would undertake to limit the powers which the Government might use to preserve its life when assailed by traitors."

Eye & Ear.

DR. UNDERWOOD,
Of Chicago, Ill., the eminent and skilful operator on the Eye and Ear, whose name and fame is so extensively known throughout the United States, for his science, skill and success in performing formidable operations, and in removing difficult and dangerous diseases from those delicate organs, has arrived in St. Paul and may be consulted at the AMERICAN HOUSE for a short time only.
Dr. U., who is a regular Physician and Surgeon of the old school, has had an extensive experience in both hospital and private practice of twenty-eight years, and will be found competent to perform any operation necessary to restore lost sight or hearing. By other mild and gentle means to remove any disease from those delicate organs within the reach of science and human skill.
CHRONIC DISEASES, of every grade and character, whether requiring medical or surgical treatment, POSITIVELY and PERMANENTLY CURED, when not clearly beyond the reach of science and humanity still.
Dr. Underwood treats all diseases on regular and scientific principles, as recognized by the medical profession both in Europe and America, and hence does not use or deal in those pretended new and empirical feeling remedies—pacifics, inhaling vapors, and thirty-days prescriptions—which are so ostentatiously paraded before the public by those impudent travelling quacks and money-fleecing empirics, nine-tenths of whom never were inside of a medical college. Patients afflicted or laboring under diseases of long standing, can consult Dr. U. with the most confident hope and expectation of being perfectly cured, or receiving with unerring certainty all the relief that the highest skill, the most judicious and scientific treatment can possibly bestow.
Among the diseases which the Doctor has lately treated with the most signal success, may be mentioned those of the Heart, Lungs, Liver, Stomach and Bowels—and Nervous Affections, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Neuralgia, Paralysis, Salt Rheum and Chronic Female Affections. my7–3m

TRIOMPHE DE GAND.
We unhesitatingly place this variety at the very head of the list of strawberries. Another year's trial has only confirmed our opinion of its superior worth. Were we confined to one variety, it should be the Triomphe de Gand. No other kind, of which we have any knowledge, possess so many excellencies. Indeed, with us, it approaches so nearly perfection as to leave but little more to be desired.
The plants are thrifty, hardy and vigorous growers, bearing their fruit well up, which renders it easily to be kept clean. They are also wonderfully productive with us, and the fruit is not only usually of large size but UNIFORMLY so, and throughout the season, which is longer with it than with most other varieties. The flavor is everything that could be desired. It is of a very beautiful crimson color, glossy and very attractive. It keeps well after being picked, retaining its beautiful color and firmness, and carries better than any other variety.

We claim that all articles sent out from our establishment are what they profess to be—true to name—and of good quality. Our prices, we think, are reasonable—not "below" or "at cost" of production, but such as to afford a fair profit, to which, we think, we are justly entitled. We are not ambitious to give to our establishment the reputation of a low priced nursery, but one where a genuine article of the best quality can be had, and that will give satisfaction to the purchaser.
